LEGION RETURNS GUARANTEE TO UNDERWRITERS

Activities of the American Legion convention commission are rapidly approaching a state of history and by the end of the week H. G. (Pod) Malson, executive secretary, expects to turn over all moneys and bills to R. H. Bassett, adjutant of Capital Post No. 9, for disposition. Convention headquarters which have been maintained at the armory, were abandoned Tuesday and Malson is attending to the closing details from his desk in the automobile division of the secretary of state's department.

Not only have the underwriters been relieved of all financial obligations through the return of their pledges but Malson anticipates that a few hundred dollars may be returned to the post as profit from the enterprise. Estimated expenditures in 1929 with receipts estimated to be between that amount and $10,000. The expenditures do not include $250 advanced the commission by the post which will be returned with "interest." Otto Kubin is making a complete financial audit and expects to have this completed within the next ten days. All bills outstanding that have been presented have been paid and funds are available for the remainder.

Major expenses of the convention were the barbecue, which cost approximately $1000 and the bringing to Salem of the army and naval fliers whose expenses, including property and liability bonds, aggregated $900. Neither of these attractions netted revenue to the commission. In addition the commission spent nearly $1000 for its fireworks display with an additional $300 for lighting Olinger field for the drum corps competition and over $100 to condition the field. Transportation of seats to and from Portland is expected to cost around $250. The convention program netted a slight profit with the main returns coming from the drum corps competition and baseball game. Concessions also added to the income.

BODY OF ACTOR FOUND IN SHAFT UNDER WINDOW

San Francisco (UP)—Robert Chapman, leading man in "Easy for Zee Zee," was found dead Wednesday in a light well of an uptown apartment house.

Tenants of the building told police they had heard sounds of a fight. A man's terrified yell and hurried footsteps on a stairway.

The body was discovered by a janitor. It lay below the kitchen window of the apartment of Allan Hoffman, playwright and friend of the actor.

Hoffman told police he believed Chapman was thrown from the kitchen window by two men. The playwright said he thought the men had planned to kill the actor for more than a week.

Hoffman said that after Tuesday night's performance of "Easy for Zee Zee" Chapman had joined a party at an actress apartment, had a few drinks, and then gone to Hoffman's apartment.

"Two men knocked at the door of my apartment," Hoffman said. "They were the same men who called twice within the last week and demanded I serve them liquor."

The playwright then said that when he refused to serve the intruders liquor, he was knocked unconscious.

"When I regained my senses," he continued, "I went downstairs and met Paul Bernardo, the janitor."

Bernardo said he had heard a "boom" and that when he told Hoffman about it the latter cried: "It must be my friend falling out of a window."

Chapman's body, clad only in under clothes and shoes, was found in the light well. Death had evidently been instantaneous.

Hoffman was taken to police headquarters for further questioning.

Death of the 28 year old actor, member of a family of prominent attorneys, climaxed a series of strange events that have marked the record breaking run of the risque French burlesque.

As leading man in the play, Chapman played opposite Nana Workova, the star, who was said to have been friendly with Jerry Ferri, racketeer found murdered in his apartment more than a year ago.

BURRIS LOSES DECISION IN PARKING CASE

Fred Williams, city attorney, was advised Wednesday that the city's demurrer to the complaint of Paul Burris, local attorney, asking that the city be enjoined from seizing his automobile for violations of the parking ordinance has been sustained by Judge L. H. McMahan in the Marion county circuit court.

Burris' car was seized by police officers after the owner had repeatedly ignored summons to appear in police court for violation of the parking ordinance. The car was towed to a garage but later released to Burris, who then asked that the city be enjoined from seizure of the vehicle, alleging that the parking ordinance was invalid and did not make provision for seizure of the automobile as part of its enforcement provisions.

The effect of the court's order is to quash the injunction proceedings. Burris has ten days in which to file a further complaint.

APPEAL FILED IN LEGISLATIVE EXPENSE CASE

Appeal to the supreme court in the case of W. A. Jones against Secretary of State Hos, in which there is at issue, question of the right of members of the legislature to draw $5 a day expense money in addition to the constitutional $3 a day, was filed Tuesday.

The suit seeks to restrain the secretary of state from allowing the additional money, and in the circuit court for Marion county the decree of Judge McMahan was in favor of Jones.

The additional pay, termed "expense money" is sought under a 1926 legislative resolution of the senate. While the constitution limits the compensation of the members to $3 a day the appellants contend they are not inhibited from legislating themselves expense money.

BANQUET FOR HARRY CULVER

Harry H. Culver of Chicago, Culver City and Los Angeles, president of the national association of real estate boards, will arrive at the new Salem airport in his private Stinson-Detroit six-passenger biplane Friday afternoon at four o'clock.

At six-thirty Friday evening the Salem Realty board will honor the national president with a banquet at the Marion hotel. The Albany realty board will be guests also.

The visit in Salem is one of the stops which Culver is making on his year-long speaking tour to increase the contact of local boards with the national realty association.

Mr. Culver's circuit of visits to member boards is being made by airplane under what is believed to be the most compact schedule of meetings ever to be arranged by a business group. On the circuit which has been grouped into five tours, criss-crossing the country from east to west coasts a number of times and dipping into Canada and Mexico, Culver expects through group meetings to confer with practically every one of the national associations' 223 member boards.

The undertaking is expected to make airplane history and business history. Lieut. James B. Dickson, who is Culver's pilot, was formerly an army aviator. Since January 1 they have covered more than 50,000 miles and they will do an equal distance before the close of the year. Friday noon Culver will address the Portland realty board and Saturday noon he will be in Eugene.

Wesley Heise has been placed in charge of the check room at the Y. M. C. A. during the absence of Dwight Adams, who will be in charge of the health and recreation service at the Lake Brook hop yard during the season there.

LACK OF FLIERS HANDICAP TO AIR INDUSTRY

Lack of personnel on the ground and in the air is aviation's greatest drawback today, W. A. (Scout) Haselwood, chief pilot and ground school instructor for the Eyerly Aircraft corporation, told the Rotary club Wednesday noon. There are only 3000 transport pilots today with an additional 2500 or 3000 commercial pilots whereas this year the production of new aircraft will be around 4000 ships.

"Pacific coast air transport lines are expanding and it will not be long until Salem is a regular port of call," Haselwood said. "Increasing the tonnage of airmail will do much towards obtaining direct airmail service out of Salem." Safety and stability of modern aircraft was emphasized by the speaker, who said underwriters now place the steamship, airplane, railroads and buses in the order of safety in transportation. Recently a pilot flew from Los Angeles to Portland with only 55 minutes spent at the controls, the remainder of the time was spent talking with a passenger in the cabin. Haselwood said he flew between 75,000 and 100,000 miles last year without a single accident, a record that few motorists of the same mileage can equal.

"Middle aged men can fly. If they can drive an automobile, with less physical and mental effort," Haselwood said in reply to a question.

"As a rule men around 45 years have sounder judgment and are more careful in the air than the younger men."

Full production at the Eyerly Aircraft corporation in the next 30 days was predicted. The type of plane to be manufactured fills a gap in existing types and the experimental ship has been highly spoken of in aviation journals. Haselwood declared. Since the dedication of the municipal airport August 8 more than 30 aircraft of various types have visited the field. Haselwood paid a tribute to the engineering on the new field. He was accompanied by Lee U. Eyerly, president of the corporation and superintendent of the airport.

CHEMEKETANS PLAN OUTING FOR LABOR DAY

The skill of Burton Cray as a culinary artist was so thoroughly demonstrated at the Marion lake camp this summer, members of the Chemeketan hiking club state, that arrangements are being made to have him officiate as camp cook for the Chemeketan contingent of the Mazama-Chemeketan Labor day outing, scheduled for DePoe bay.

It is planned to establish camp Saturday afternoon, August 31, and continue over Sunday and Monday. The estimated cost per person for the six meals which will be served by the commissary is $1.85, and the charge for transportation for those without cars will be $1.75 for the round trip. Each individual must take their own sleeping and eating equipment.

Some of the finest scenery on the Oregon coast is in the vicinity of DePoe bay and marine vegetation is at its best there. It is approximately 100 miles from Salem by way of Hebo and Neakowin and little further by way of Newport.

The Mazamas expect to be represented by a large group from Portland and there will be an opportunity to renew friendships begun on previous joint trips.

Salem people are urged to register at the Y. M. C. A. as early as possible. Registration positively will close Thursday evening, August 29. Persons not affiliated with the hiking club are invited to join the party.

Mazama leaders will be Helen Dimick and W. C. Yoran. Mrs. E. M. Hoffnail will be leader for the Chemeketans.

RAID ON GARAGE YIELDS $3000 LIQUOR

Portland, Ore. (UP)—An eagle eyed policeman's "hunch" that an early call to a private garage on the outskirts of Portland Wednesday would reveal violations of the liquor law proved fruitful and alleged booze valued at $3,000 was confiscated.

Harold Wertz, 22, was arrested and lodged in jail in connection with the find.

Patrolman Chauvin laid in wait at the garage early Wednesday and said he caught Wertz driving into the garage with an auto loaded down with 90 gallons of flitit liquor. In the garage, Chauvin said, he found the bulk of the liquor.

FRANK JOHNSON IN LINE FOR JOB AS ROADMASTER

While members of the county court decline to discuss the matter and say that no action will be taken until after the funeral of W. J. Culver, county roadmaster who just died after many years of service in that capacity, it is the general belief in court house circles that Frank O. Johnson, also for a number of years deputy county roadmaster, will be selected as a successor to Mr. Culver.

For quite a period of his service as roadmaster Mr. Culver acted alone in that capacity, but a number of years ago with the big market road programs under way and also much more extensive work done on the county roads other than market roads, an assistant for Mr. Culver was provided by the court and Mr. Johnson has acted in that capacity.

It is generally agreed that his services have been of a high-class nature and no one is more familiar with all of the details of the present road program and plans which have been outlined for future county road development than he.

While a good share of the market road program has been completed, there still is a heavy mileage to be done under the present plan of macadamizing all of the important roads and within a few years the question will come up of paving large mileages of the county roads on which macadam bases are now being laid or have been laid. While every town in the county is now connected with every other town by a paved road, this does not cover the important market roads by long odds.

In addition another matter of extreme importance to the county is the matter of the proposed road across the mountains, via Detroit. Mr. Culver has made this trip a number of times and had all the details of the proposed road at his finger ends. Mr. Johnson also is familiar with the proposed work through his association with Mr. Culver.

While much of the heavy end of the work in developing a complete road system for the county has been accomplished, there still is a very important part of it to be done, and many years will be required to put it over.

"A simple case of right of way" was the explanation made on the report of Chester Foreman in accounting for an accident with Kenneth Egan Tuesday evening, Care of the two drivers collided at State and Pilgrim streets.

The "Pilgrim Players," who made an appearance here early this summer, will furnish the entertainment for the last of the season's union church services which will be held in Wilson park next Sunday afternoon. "Peter the Rock" is the name of the biblical play which will be presented by the company which consists of two southern California ministers and their wives.
