

SMITH-HUGHES DEPARTMENT IN DAYTON SCHOOL

Dayton—Prof. Burris L. Young of Spokane, Wash., a graduate last June of the University of Idaho, located at Moscow, received the position of instructor of the Smith-Hughes complete department of agriculture, which has been added to the Dayton high school course for the coming term to open September 30, at the meeting of the Dayton school board consisting of Paul Londerhausen, chairman; Dr. Orr C. Goodrich, D. E. Albright, and Rev. Walter G. Smith, secretary, held in the office of Dr. Goodrich Thursday evening.

Prof. Young in company with Prof. O. I. Paulson of Salem, who has charge of the work in Oregon, will spend the intervening time lining up the Dayton high school boys who will take that line of work.

Miss Marie Johnson is instructor of the domestic science course of the school for next year.

THROWS BABES TO SAFETY FROM FLAMES

Nez Perce, Idaho (AP)—With escape cut off by flames on their burning home, Harry Kennedy, a rancher living seven miles southeast of here, wrapped two babies in bedding and threw them out of a second story window into the arms of the children's mother.

The fire started while Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were out of the house. Kennedy rushed upstairs to save the children and when his escape was cut off he tossed them to safety and then leaped to the ground. The house was destroyed.

LABOR LAW BARS CHILD MUSICIAN

Portland (AP)—The "brightest star in musical heaven" will not shine in Portland next year because the board of inspectors of child labor have decreed that Yehudi Menuhin, 22 year old musical wonder, was a juvenile entertainer.

The attorney-general, according to Millie R. Turnbull, secretary of the board of inspectors, held that Yehudi came under that classification and that the child labor law held no exceptions.

The youthful violinist has been booked to appear at the auditorium as one of the series of entertainments being sponsored by a booking concern here.

NEWLYWEDS VISIT AT REV. GROVES HOME

West Salem—Rev. and Mrs. A. Groves were very happily surprised Sunday evening by a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Paul Swinehart, who had been on a wedding trip to Long Beach and other California places of interest and were then on their way to Spokane, Wash., to make their home.

They made known their presence in the neighborhood by attending church where Groves was preaching.

Mrs. Swinehart was a close girlhood friend of Mrs. Groves when they were both living in Harrison, Idaho, a few years ago. She is a graduate nurse from the Deaconess hospital in Spokane.

Mr. and Mrs. Swinehart were overnight guests at the parsonage and on Monday motored on to Spokane.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR GROUP HAS MEETING

Scotts Mills—The Christian Endeavor of the Friends church had a business and social meeting combined at the home of Mrs. Anna White Thursday evening. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Margaret Coulson. For the social period music and games were enjoyed and refreshments were served. About 18 were present.

Oberammergau Plans for 1930 Passion Play

(A.P.)—Will Rie Lang, daughter of Anton Lang, the famous portrayer of the role of Christ, or Hans Reisinger, daughter of the Oberammergau postmaster, be honored with the role of the Virgin Mary for the Passion Play of 1930?

Another question which interests the Oberammergau devotees is whether Anton Lang will again enact the title role. Lang himself is anxious to yield it to a younger man.

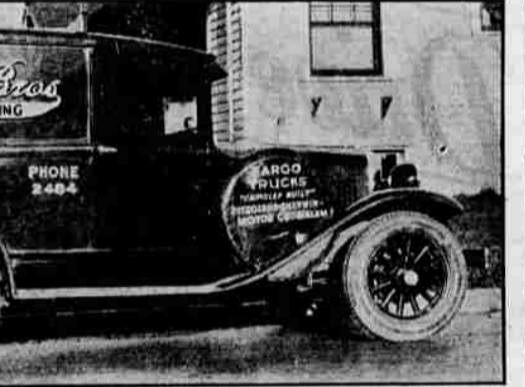

Should he decline, tradition will assign to him the part of the speaker of the prologue.

Decision on the cast comes in September. Rehearsals begin in December.

START BUILDING SIUSLAW ROAD

Eugene, Ore. (AP)—Actual construction of the Rajirock-Gushman section of the Siuslaw highway will be started in October, this year, H. D. Lynch, engineer for the federal bureau of public roads, said Friday.

The announcement followed the unofficial sanction of the agreement drawn by the Southern Pacific attorneys by the state highway commission and the county court which was forwarded to the court Friday. Bids will be opened in October and the successful bidder will be instructed to proceed immediately.

County Judge C. P. Barnard said Friday the agreement probably would be approved, and that the county is ready with deeds to the right of way.

The controversy arose over an indemnity clause. It was said the state and county would be forced to furnish bond to indemnify the railroad company from all losses and claims which might occur during construction.

By terms of the agreement the bond will be posted by the contractor. The bond will be $100,000.

TO STOP LOANS TO BOXING COMMISSION

Portland, Ore. (AP)—By an unanimous vote of the city council, the special ordinance under which $400 of the civic emergency fund is said to have been loaned to the boxing commission was killed Friday.

The council also directed the department of finance to examine the books of the boxing board and report findings to the councilmen at a later meeting.

Mayor George Baker Thursday demanded the boxing commission to show cause why they should borrow $400 from the emergency civic fund, used almost exclusively for dealing with the indigent. The loan is said to have nearly bankrupted the fund.

HAYESVILLE DISTRICT EXHIBIT NEARLY DONE

Auburn—Delegates from the Hayesville Sunday school district met to complete and decorate their display booth Friday. A group of men from the district who volunteered to do the carpenter work, were busy all day Tuesday making tables, lockers and other equipment. H. M. Meade furnished the workers with dinner at his restaurant on the grounds.

300 DEADHEADS AT RING-BOUTS

Portland, Ore. (AP)—City officials investigating the borrowing of $400 from the Civic Emergency fund by the boxing commission which nearly depleted the fund, said Friday they had discovered that about 300 passes to ringside seats at all fights were being given away.

A mailing list containing 108 names has been served each week, according to investigators. The remainder of the 300 tickets, they said, have been passed out to a varying list.

Investigators estimated that the pass system taxed each week's receipts about $25, one reason, they said, which caused the boxing commission to lose money on practically every fight staged in the city.

The finance department was directed by the city council to examine the boxing commission records.

So serious has become the user-car problem in Danzig that dealers are refusing to accept trade-ins.
