

VETERANS OF MANY FAIRS IN CAMP AT GROUNDS

900 PEOPLE IN COLONY SUNDAY 2000 EXPECTED

Nine hundred people were residents of the camp at the state fairgrounds Sunday afternoon, said Albert Tozier, veteran caretaker and campground manager, and before Wednesday that population will be swelled to 2000. Practically all available camping space had been taken or reserved when Tozier took the count Sunday afternoon.

Scores of old campers, families who make the week's camping trip to the fair an annual occurrence, were seen around the grounds. The oldest camper on the grounds in the years of attendance is David H. Loooney of Jefferson, who has never missed a fair in 68 years that they have been held in Salem. Loooney was formerly president of the state fair board and is an ex-member of the state legislature.

TWINS, 75, ON HAND

Linn county's oldest twins, A. A. and S. Hurlburt, 75 years old, natives of Linn county and residents of Tangent, were among the first to make camp this year. Among the early campers also was W. W. Elder, of Stayton, formerly commandant of the old soldiers' home at Roseburg.

The largest man in camp is R. A. Blevins of Salem, who tips the scales well over 300 pounds.

Back again this year are Gus Yaeger of Sherwood, and his wife. Twenty years ago the Yaegers took the prize for having the largest family in camp. At that time they had 15 of their children in camp with them. Now all of the children are married and gone and Mr. and Mrs. Yaeger came to the fair alone.

The campground would not be the same camp ground without "Jep" Hunt, former Marion county judge, who has a cabin a short distance west of the drive gate. Judge Hunt has had his cabin open and in use for several days.

Among the familiar old faces is that of W. V. Fuller, of Dallas, former member of the legislature from Polk county, now connected with the state forestry department. F. S. Littlefield of Salem, is also camping at his usual place.

GALBREATH RETURNS

Although he lists his home as Salem and Marion county, Les Galbreath is actually in Salem only about one week each year—state fair week and he is camping at the usual place. Galbreath has a good sized string of running horses and he is on the road with them the greater part of the year.

Lafe Smith of Tangent, who has celebrated his birthday each year during state fair at the campground, says he will stay home this year to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the day he was born. Smith's birthday is September 25.

The state fair campers' association will hold its annual business meeting Friday to elect officers for the coming year. George Hoey of Oregon City has been president during the past year. Judge J. P. Hunt of Salem is vice president, and Mrs. Phil Fischer, of Silverton, secretary.

Directors of the campers' organization are Mrs. Mabel Kohlsaat of Portland, Ed Shearer of Estacada, W. C. Kinyon of Butteville, O. L. Scott of Salem, F. P. Wolfe of Woodburn, James Kinyon of Butteville, D. H. Looney of Jefferson, J. S. Burton of Twin Rocks, and Fred Yergen of Aurora.

The Mother Queen of all the campers is Mrs. J. S. Van Cleave of Salem.

DEATH'S TREASURE

something like this: "I shall be glad if you will tell my Cousin John that he can now return to England, with a safe-conduct from Professor Laxton, and that his presence and certain information he can supply are greatly desired. He will be all the more anxious to do so since the man Richard, of whom he knows, is now officially reported dead and will not be officially re-interred." You can put in anything else you like.

"Laxton!" I cried. "Do you mean it? You're giving up the charge?"

"Of course?—yes. There's something more important."

"But the other thing—"

"You mean Pell? My dear Mr. Grenofen, I've always been quite certain that your Cousin John had no more to do with killing Pell than you had."

LEAVES FOR COLLEGE

Silverton—Edgar Irish, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Irish, left for Seattle Monday morning where he will enter the University of Washington in the chemical engineering department. Edgar finished high school here in February and took post-graduate work the rest of the year. He has also been employed in the Watrus shoe store.

HATTERBERG IS ILL

Silverton—O. L. Hatterberg, who, with his family, resides on a farm one and a half miles out of town, was taken quite ill several days ago. He was taken to the local hospital Friday evening and is under close observation and medical treatment. It is not known as yet whether or not he will undergo an operation.

CALLED BY ILLNESS

Woodburn—Mrs. G. M. Charlton was called to Portland Friday by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. Amanda Wilson. Charlton drove to Portland Sunday evening after his wife.

First Auto Brought Into Fair Camp 31 Years Ago; Last Horse Seen In 1924

Thirty-one years ago this state fair, S. W. Reed of Salem brought the first automobile into the state fair camp grounds, says Albert Tozier, veteran camp caretaker and manager. Six years later, in 1904, there were exactly eight cars in the camp ground during the fair. All the other campers came by horse and buggy.

This year there is not a single team in the entire camp. In fact, Tozier says the last team came into camp in 1924. This team brought in Mrs. Christoffer and Mrs. Young, prominent poultry raisers in Yamhill county. At one time the camp grounds equipment included 700 sheds for horses.

CLUB WOMEN IN CHARGE OF ART SHOW THIS YEAR

Three of the most prominent club women in Oregon have charge of the art exhibit at the state fair this year. Mrs. G. J. Frankel of Portland, president of the state federation of women's clubs, and Mrs. William Bell of Roseburg, state federation treasurer, are in charge assisted by Mrs. J. A. Kerr, prominent Portland club woman. Because of the prominence of these three women in state federation affairs, the news has been broadcast state wide that the women's club federation is sponsoring the art exhibit this year. This impression is entirely wrong, said Mrs. Frankel, Sunday afternoon, and these three women are in charge not as club women and federation officers but as individuals selected for the position by the state fair board.

The exhibit this year contains a number of oils and pastels by such well known artists as Andrew Vincent, Clyde Keller, Ralph Gilbert, Prof. Albert Schreff, Mrs. Dorrance Smith, Cherie Maxiam Mathis and Mrs. C. Patterson of Portland.

Oils and pastels are only a small part of the art department, however. There are wall hangings, extensive block printings on velvet by Dr. Mary Rowland of Salem and her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Rowland Greene. A wonderful exhibit of hand painted china by Mrs. F. A. Erickson of Salem is new this year. Hammered silver and hammered brass, water colors by Prof. Schreff, Andrew Vincent, St. Mary's academy, Mrs. Patterson, Mrs. Callista Dowling, Mrs. Anna M. Anderson, Hazel Hendrick; arts and crafts jewelry, ship models, lamp shades, jessie work, mosaic work, posters and an extensive photographic art exhibit, are among the interesting things to be seen in the art department on the second floor of the main exhibit building.

Judging of the exhibits entered in competition has already started and the award winners will be announced in a day or two.

The school exhibits this year include outstanding poster work from the University of Oregon school of architecture and art, exhibits of various types of art work by the Salem high school, Leslie junior high school and by the Turner schools.

PROPERTY CHANGES OWNERS, SILVERTON

Silverton—The Homeowners agency have sold the beautiful Qualbeth home on North Water street to Mr. and Mrs. Math Lentz, who recently arrived from North Dakota. The Qualbeth place is better known as the G. E. Anderson house. The Lentzes have a son and a daughter. Lentz is an expert blacksmith and mechanic and comes highly recommended. He intends in the very near future to build an up to date shop in Silverton.

The agency has also sold the 40-acre Nison farm near Yoder, to Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Richards, who recently came from Nevada. They left for their old home after making their affairs there and expect to return to Silverton within the month. Both of these were cash deals.

GIRLS LEAVING AFTER WEST COAST VISIT

Gervais—After an extensive visit at San Diego, Miss Mary McGraw and Miss Clara Lundeman arrived Thursday to visit at the home of Mrs. John Grassman. They planned to leave for their home in Letcher, S. D. Monday and will be accompanied by Miss Nellie McGraw, who has spent the summer with Mrs. Grassman.

YOUTH BREAKS ARM

Woodburn—Tommy Gibbons, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rae T. Gibbons, broke his right arm between the wrist and elbow on Saturday as he was helping to put wood in the shed and in some way stumbled over the pile. He was taken to Dr. Donnelly for treatment and is resting easily but is grieved at having to miss school which he had just begun to attend.

KUCHERS VISIT PARENTS

Silverton—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kucher and two young sons drove up from Pine Ridge Saturday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kucher of the North Side addition and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith, of West Main street. Lloyd is now grader for the Forest Lumber company at Pine Ridge and is next to the highest paid man here. He has been with this company for less than three years.

MRS. WAGEMAN BACK

Woodburn—Mrs. J. C. Wageman returned Saturday from Eugene, where she spent a week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Martha Boisseau, and where her son, Harold Guthrie, entered University of Oregon.

WOODFORDS PAY CALL

Woodburn—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodford of Coquille, were visiting friends in Woodburn Sunday. Woodford, who formerly operated the Maricle barber shop in this city, is now in the barber business in Coquille and reports it a very prosperous community.

FINAL TOUCHES PLACED ON FAIR DURING SUNDAY

The state fair grounds, the exhibit buildings, the livestock barns, the boys' and girls' club quarters, the space allotted the concessionaires, and the administration offices of the state fair board were places of bustling activity Sunday. Not that there was anything going on in the way of entertainment—for there were not many people to entertain—only a few hundred entered the grounds Sunday at the charge of half fare—but everything was in a state of bustling preparation for the big week ahead.

VENUS AUXILIARY PLANNING BAZAAR

Donald—A special meeting of Venus Auxiliary, a social club of Eastern Star members, was held at the home of Mrs. Aline Quinn. The time was spent in sewing and plans were made for the bazaar to be held in the hall, October 26. The next regular meeting of the club will be held in the hall on next Tuesday afternoon with a pot luck luncheon.

BACK FROM ROUNDUP

Woodburn—Clarence and Elmer Aline attended the Pendleton Round Up the last of the week.

MOTORISTS FINED IN DALLAS COURT

Dallas—Earl Hartz, Salem, was arrested on the Hawthorne highway by Deputy Neufeldt, and arraigned before Judge Gregory at Dallas on a charge of driving an auto without an operator's license. He was fined $6. O. W. Elliott of McMinnville was arrested at Greenwood for driving with four in the front seat. He was brought before Judge Gregory and fined $7.50.

PORTLAND COPS POLICE GROUND TYLER IS CHIEF

Fifteen big policemen, all over six feet tall, all officers trusted and true of the Portland police force, have the job of keeping order on the state fairgrounds this year. Lieut. W. A. (Smiling Bill) Tyler is chief of police for the first time this year. For the past five years he has been one of the state fair officers.

All of the Portland police officers wear uniforms. A uniformed officer is stationed at each gate and one directs the staff of deputies in the car parking grounds.

With thousands and thousands of dollars worth of exhibits in the various buildings at the fairgrounds, the work of protecting the exhibit buildings during the night is considered as important as policing the crowds during the day time. A crew of 30 watchmen has been

DEATH THINNING RANKS RAPIDLY

Names of 17 men and women camped at the state fairgrounds last year who have passed away the past year are posted on a blackboard at the entrance of Albert Tozier's headquarters in the center of the campgrounds. Included in the list are a number of names of men prominent in the state as well as state fair history. Many of them were among the oldest and best known state fair patrons.

The "In Memoriam" list includes R. T. George of Jefferson; Mrs. E. E. Morgan of Portland; A. J. Marc of Molalla, who dropped dead recently while carrying a deer; Warren Hulbert, of Albany, 78 years old, born in Linn county, who was killed when run over by a truck; Mrs. E. B. Keen of Salem; Thompson Remington, 90, Salem, well known G. A. R. man; Dan Kirby of McMinnville; Mrs. J. H. Miesler, Stayton, daughter of W. W. Elder; A. J. Busey of Salem; Joe Hoey, Portland, Mrs. K. Hoffman, Salem; Henry Keen, Silverton; J. P. Allison, Amity; W. P. Lafferty, Corvallis; H. S. Goodspeed, former county judge of Tillamook county; Mrs. Sarah Reeves, 94, of Jefferson, who interested fellow campers for many years with her stories of the overland trail to Oregon in 1847; and Mrs. W. H. King, of Salem.
