

POLICE ERROR NEARLY CAUSES WORLD OF STRIFE

Berlin (AP)—During the Orloff-Pavlovsky document forgery trial here, in the course of which the Russian Embassy in Berlin received some prominent, if not altogether favorable mention, a detail of ten policemen, all armed to the teeth, appeared at the embassy and demanded admission. The leader of the patrol explained that he had been ordered to take possession of the building.

Immediately the whole staff of the embassy gathered in the vestibule. They tried to explain that the building was extra-territorial and that therefore the police had no right to be there, but the officers had their instructions and would not leave. Then some members of the staff tried to telephone the foreign office to explain that the embassy's right of extraterritorial protection was being violated; others sat down to write out an urgent telegram of protest to be sent to Moscow. For a moment or two it looked as though another war was threatening.

Then one of the secretaries had a brilliant thought. He went back to the vestibule to ask the police who had issued the order for them to take charge of the building and why the order was issued.

"Why," answered the patrolman in command, "I can't understand why you gentlemen are all so excited. There is a crowd of students holding a demonstration outside and we have come only to protect the ministry of education."

"Oh, is that it?" the secretary said, patiently with considerable relief. "You will excuse us, but this is not the ministry of education."

Town's Canning Done by Pupils

Braintree, Mass. (AP)—This town's housewives are not bothered by thoughts of tedious fall canning.

Continuing a 10-year-old custom, the domestic science classes of the local high school will perform this work free of charge.

The only stipulations are that housewives provide cans and material, and that the best looking sample from each batch of goods remain with the students for exhibition purposes.

HITCH-HIKING IN AIR IS NEWEST

St. Louis, Mo. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Zacharoff of New York hitch-hiked by air for their vacation trip.

Instead of thumbing along the highways they "caught rides" at airports, flying from New York to Buffalo, they were forced to wait two days before continuing to Cleveland.

Aviators in the Ohio city were without sympathy so they had to use the road to Chicago but from there the Universal Aviation Corporation brought them to St. Louis. They hitched on here for a flight to Kansas City.

They were accompanied by their pet turtle "Lightning."

RHODES AWARD TO GERMANY IS MARK OF PEACE

Berlin (AP)—Some days ago the first German college student to receive a Rhodes scholarship since 1914 was publicly welcomed in England, thus healing another of the many sores engendered by the World war. On the same day still further evidence of the cultural rapprochement-between former enemies was to be found in a Berlin railway station, where a group of 48 children were waiting for the train to Paris. They were going to France under the arrangement whereby forty or fifty German children spend their summer holidays in that country, while a similar number of French children come here.

Sponsored on the one side by the German League for the Rights of Man and on the other by the French committee for the exchange of French and German students, this vacation-time exchange has been in effect now for three years. At the close of the recent school semester 48 of Berlin's brightest pupils were selected to make the trip to Paris for the fourth season. Upon their arrival in the French capital each was taken to a private home in that city or in the provinces. The children were to live in these homes as members of the various French families for the period of a month. One of the principal hopes of the sponsors of the plan is that in this manner the children will gain an insight into the habits and innermost thoughts of the people of the neighboring nation that in the future would go a long way toward preventing misunderstandings between the two nations.

GEISER ERUPTS, BAIL REQUIRED IS $5,000

Buffalo (AP)—Canadian beverages at times cause peculiar conduct on the part of imbibing Americans but Leo Geiser's activities when approached by a customs officer on the international Peace Bridge were a bit too violent.

"Are you an American?" inquired the officer.

"Ho! Ho!" declared Geiser. "Do I look like a Zeppelin?" And with a flourish of injured patriotism he punched the officer on the nose.

This display resulted in Geiser being held in $5,000 bail for interfering with an officer in performance of his duty.
