BAUGHTER OVERCOME
Apparently much dejected, but never uttering a complaint, Pantages received the verdict with hardly a quiver of emotion. An adopted daughter, Mrs. Dixie Martin, iled from the court room to the refuge of the adjoining prisoner's room with her hands to her face.
While the theater man blanched as the verdict was read in solemn tones by the court clerk, a few moments later he walked unaided to the prisoner's room, his two sons.

court room to hear the verdict, acaccompanying him. There his daughter Carmen, who had remained in the prisoner's room, and Mrs.
Martin broke into moaning and unrestrained weeping.

the taking of the first ballot Priday night. Mrs. Christine Ulrich said that the disagreement of nine to three had been only on the degree of punishment, which they were obliged to fix at either the state's prison term or a one year county jail sentence. The first appearance of the jury in the court room came Sunday morning, when they returned for the re-reading of the trial testimony of Eunice Pringle and three physicians who had examined her four days after the attack. Nearly all of Sunday was
