SIMERAL DESERTS LIVESLEY GROUP

In the nature of compensation for his service in this deserting the bloc of five who have supported the mayor in opposition to the insurgent program of upsetting the Livesley administration Simeral is to be given the superintendent's job by the insurgents.

Insofar as he is not resigning Mr. Simeral is keeping faith with his pledge to support the Livesley program, and his implied promise to Mayor Livesley and others that he would not resign.

Just how it happens that Mr. Simeral is relinquishing his seat on the council by moving out of the ward just when the insurgents need one more vote to assure success of their plans to strip the mayor of his powers, and is simultaneously tendering a city job by the insurgent group is not exactly clear.

Go to Mr. Simeral's explanations, varying with the persons to whom he is explaining, do much to clear the matter up.

Thursday Mr. Simeral called upon Mayor Livesley and said that "certain" members of the council had urged that he accept the job as superintendent of the incinerator. He admitted that these who wanted to break the bloc of five men supporting the mayor.

He explained that he was planning to move out of the ward and that he had paid a $5 deposit on a house in another part of town. After discussing the proposal as the scheme of the "insurgents" to gain complete control of the council, Mr. Simeral left the mayor's office stating that, if necessary, he would forfeit the $5 deposit he had made on the house, look for a house in the first ward and if he could not find one he would stay in the apartment in which he had been living.

Friday the Capital Journal interviewed Mr. Simeral and published his statement that he had "not resigned yet."

In announcing to the morning paper that he had moved out of the ward and had decided to accept the job as superintendent, Mr. Simeral said that when approached by a representative of the Capital Journal he had refused to be interviewed.

Here is how he refused to be interviewed: He told the Capital Journal representative that the matter of accepting superintendency of the incinerator had been urged upon him by eight of nine members of the council.

He admitted that these eight of nine members of the council were all from the "insurgent" group with the exception of Alderman Townsend whom, Simeral admitted spoke of the matter only to ascertain if it was true that Simeral was considering such a proposition.

He admitted that the offer of the job as superintendent was a maneuver to get him off the council and enable the "insurgents" to name his successor.

He said that if he could get back the job he formerly held at the power plant of the Portland Electric Power company, with the understanding that he could have Monday as his day off so that he might attend council meetings, he would not resign or move out of the ward.

He said that if he could not find a house in which to live in the first ward he would remain in the apartment in which he was living.

He said he would before accepting the proffered job, in any event, go to the "insurgents" who are offering him the job and serve notice upon them that the only condition upon which he would accept the job would be that they would elect as his successor someone acceptable to Mayor Livesley, thus continuing the existing division of power on the council.

He admitted that "insurgents" were asking him to "sell out" to them and desert the mayor.

"That is how Mr. Simeral 'refused to be interviewed.'"

Washington (AP)—Predictions were made by Senators Borah of Idaho, and Harrison of Mississippi, in the republican-independent-democratic coalition contest against the tariff bill that a measure confined principally to agricultural rates would be passed at the special session.

COUNTY COURT LIKELY TO CUT HEALTH BUDGET

With the tentative budget of the child health demonstration in the hands of the city, school district and county court for expenditures in the neighborhood of $23,000 by these three taxing units and the city taking on about $8000 as its share in its budget, members of the court are wondering what has become of the two budget arrangements which it was understood all along had been agreed upon. The understanding was, according to those in touch with the situation, that two budgets would be submitted, one for around $23,000 and one for around $18,000. So far the $18,000 budget has not put in its appearance, at least no one around the courthouse has seen it.

It is a safe guess to say right now that the county court is not going to exceed the 6 per cent limitation amendment or reach up to the total allowed under it unless some drastic steps are taken. Last year it had around $42,000 left below the total amount allowed under the 6 per cent limitation, and it used only around $5000 above its regular level for the year before, or encroached into the 6 per cent that far.

This year it will be confronted with a new problem in the shape of around $35,000 for transportation of school pupils forced upon it by legislative action.

Indications are now that the court may be favorable to allowing in its budget the approximate $6000 allowed last year for child health work, but it will not in its present mood exceed that amount to any great extent. Had the $18,000 budget talked of been submitted this would have about met with the ideas of the court on the $20000 dividing the costs equally between the city, county and school district. As it is the city has already stepped in and granted $8000 allowance or $3000 above what the court is apt to feel is the limit of its ante for this year.

The fact that these budgets are made at different times under the law makes it difficult for all of the taxing units to get together on a three-way split such as it required in connection with the health work.

The situation now confronting the court is that it doesn't know yet what budget requirements will be, and is not with all information at hand, yet as to just what new legislative acts will do to it, as for instance in the case of the $36,000 for transportation which has been thrust upon it and which it cannot avoid.

The county court for many years has adhered to a policy of not only staying within the 6 per cent limitation but well under it, and the policy is not going to be changed very materially this year if hints dropped by members of the court are adhered to. As a result there will undoubtedly be some close cutting of cloth in the forthcoming county budget now just in the course of its early stages of preparation.

WEDDING RUM FATAL TO BRIDE

St. Louis (AP)—What was described to police as a five day drinking orgy in celebration of a wedding ended at 3 a. m. Saturday with the death of the bride, Eleanor Louise Newman, 36, in an apartment presumably from alcoholic poisoning and the arrest of the bridegroom, William O. Newman, a hardware salesman who is held for investigation.

Two men accused of supplying the Newman with liquor were arrested later and also are held. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of the woman's death.

The men accused of supplying the liquor are Luther Young, neepon junior at the apartment and Tim Trova, restaurant proprietor. Newman is fully titled a police story of whirlwind courtship and a whiskey honeymoon. He said they had been drunk almost incessantly since their marriage five days ago in Granite City, Ill., where they had driven from St. Louis. He said they retired Friday night and that when he awoke to find his wife at 3 a. m. he found her dead.

LITTLE FOSHAY STOCK HELD HERE STATE BANKERS

While as near as can be ascertained by little of the stock of the W. B. Foshay company, big Minneapolis holding concern which went into a receivership Friday was held in Salem, the failure has a touch of local interest as it is understood that A. Welch, northwest promoter, had charge of the promotion of the Foshay stock in the northwest and old timers here remember A. Welch well. About the time of the Oregon Electric construction, particularly when the line was being boosted to Eugene, Welch was very active in Salem and secured some important franchises through city streets here. One of these included a franchise on Center street and another on Ferry street and tracks were laid for some proposed interurban developments. The tracks were covered not long ago by pavement along with the old tracks of the street railway lines here.

The W. B. Foshay company also maintained an office in Salem but inquiries failed to reveal that any great amount of stock was purchased here.

The Foshay stocks had a rather active sale in Albany, however, L. E. McMahon, Albany banker, who on business today, stated that an office was open there for several months up to the time of the failure and that some good salesmanship was used. He didn't venture to say how much of the Foshay stock was sold there, but probably considerable. He stated he knows of one man who was on the verge of buying $2000 worth of the stock a day or two before the failure but backed out.

Smith in lead over Smith at half of final

SMITH IN LEAD OVER SMITH AT HALF OF FINAL

Columbia County Club, Portland, Ore. (AP)—Going over par for the first time since the tournament began, Horton Smith, youthful Joplin, Mo., pro, found his lead in the Oregon open golf championship divide by two strokes when the divot-diggers concluded the first 18 of their 36 hole final round, here Saturday.

Smith had a total count of 208, four strokes out in front of Harry Cooper, Buffalo, and Walter Hagen, Detroit, who had 212. Smith toured around in 74, two over par, while Cooper raced around in 71 and Hagen toured in a par 72.

Behind Cooper and "The Hags" came Mortie Dutra, Tacoma, who had an initial 149 for a total of 218. Ed Dudley, Delaware, was in fourth place with 143-72, 215. Behind him was Tommy Armour, Detroit, with 216. All of the leaders were stroking the course in near par figures. Cooper and Craig Cole, New Jersey, being the only ones to break par.

Smith, who seasonally raced to the front Thursday and Friday with par-chattering 67s, attracted the lion's share of the gallery today as he began his morning round. He led the field by six strokes after the first 36 holes of play and was a red hot favorite to continue his march today. Cooper and Hagen, though, flashed such brilliant golf that the gap closed considerably and assured fans of a close finish.

MRS. ADELIN POOLER DIES AT AGE OF 89

After an illness of two years, Mrs. Adeline Pooler, 89, died Saturday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Effie Back at 1179 Chermek street. Four children, Earl of Corvallis, Ivan of Salem, Mrs. Back of Salem, and Mrs. J. P. McMannus of Honolulu, a sister, Mrs. P. S. Anderson of Salem, 12 grandchildren and several great grandchildren survive her.

Mrs. Pooler covered the plains from her birthplace, Des Moines, Iowa, in 1863 when she was 12 years old. Her mother died during the overland journey and the family continued west. Mrs. Pooler lived in the Willard community east of Pratum until 1914 when she moved to Salem to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Back. Her husband, Lewis Clinton Pooler, a Willard farmer, died November 8, 1901.

Funeral services will be held Monday, November 4, at 2 p. m. at the Mason chapel with interment in the Warren cemetery.

A son of Mrs. Pooler, Jefferson A. Pooler, well known in Salem died here in 1925.

HARVARD DEFEATS FLORIDA BY 14-0

Cambridge, Mass. (AP)—The invading Florida football team apparently suffering from stadium fright, bowed to Harvard, 14 to 0 here Saturday before 35,000 spectators. The "Colors" fumbled at every vital moment, Harper and Mays ripped the southern line to shreds for Harvard's first touchdown in the second period and Wood completed a 25 yard pass to Harding in the last minute of play for the other tally.

PITT'S PANTHERS DEFEAT OHIO STATE

Pitt Stadium, Pittsburgh, Pa. (AP)—Pitt's Panthers ploughed through the rain and mud Saturday to a decisive victory over Ohio state, 18 to 2, before a crowd of 45,000. Toby Uanua, fleet Pitt halfback, scored two touchdowns, the first on a 70-yard run and the second on a 37-yard pass.

P. E. Sylvester has started suit in circuit court against L. H. Murray asking for $100 judgment, $194.00 judgment and costs. An automobile transfer was the cause of suit.

At the close of the fiscal year, June 30, the accumulated capital of domestic savings and loan and building and loan associations doing business in Oregon showed an increase of $2,890,000.31 over the previous year, says the annual report of State Corporation Commissioner Mark D. McCallister. The total was $35,785,704.11, with 36 associations actively operating. Five foreign associations were active with an accumulated capital of $58,887,304.11.

Net receipts of the corporation department for the year totaled $460,302.50, an increase of $23,737.41 over the previous year. The net cost of operating the department was $36,542.31, or $3,436.70 more than the year before. The report says this is a normal increase due to the increased volume of business.

Under the blue sky act 32 permits authorizing sale of stocks, bonds and other securities were issued to dealers during the year, 455 permits were canceled and 11 applications for permits denied, and 491 were outstanding at the end of the year. Thirty-six brokers' permits were issued and 17 were canceled, and at the end of the year 116 were outstanding of which 17 were brokers' dealing in interim certificates. The law requires that the latter must be examined annually. Several illegitimate operators were convicted.

Medica, Pa. (AP)—Dressed in denim uniforms of convicts, twenty men marching in lockstep and singing "The Prisoner's Song," won first prize in the comic division of a Halloween parade here Friday night.

They looked like prisoners and they acted like prisoners, but none of the crowd knew they were "non-tes" from the Delaware county jail here, given temporary freedom by Warden John J. Cain in order to take part in the parade.

The men carried a banner reading: "We Raised Cain in Delaware County and Can Put Us In." Guards walked a short distance from the prisoners, but were unnoticed by the throng. The men were allowed to celebrate temporarily for performing well their tasks at the jail.

CONVICTS WINNERS HALLOWE'EN PARADE

Washington (AP)—Senator Cutting, Republican, New Mexico, produced documents in the senate Saturday describing as inaccurate a newspaper article published in 1919 which reported Albert B. Fall "pulled the covers from President Wilson's bed" at a senatorial delegation called at the White House.

Referring to a quotation of the article recently by Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, Cutting read a letter from Admiral Grayson, Wilson's physician, and a telegram from Gilbert M. Hitchcock, former democratic senator from Nebraska who accompanied Fall. Both said the article was erroneous.

Cutting also read the Associated Press account of the visit, in which no mention of the alleged incident was made.

Cutting said he had been a "political antagonist" of Fall for twenty years, and had produced the documents at the request of "numerous constituents" in justice to Fall as a citizen of New Mexico.

Judge L. H. McMahon signed the order which changes the plea of guilty entered by R. E. Brown in Woodburn justice court to that of not-guilty. The order was petitioned for by Brown who claimed that he misunderstood the charge to which he pleaded guilty, thinking that he was being held on a less serious charge.

NURSERY ETHICS ARE DISCUSSED

Ethics of the nursing profession the necessity of the proper adjustment of the nurse to the medical profession and the importance of nurses conducting themselves in a manner which will not bring discredit on the profession, formed the topic of an hour's talk given by Miss Theresa Kraker, of New York City, nationally known public health nurse, before a regional meeting Saturday morning of the public health nurses and the bureau of public health nurses of the Oregon state board of health. Public health nurses from all parts of Oregon have been in session here for the last two days.

A round table discussion Saturday afternoon on health honor rolls, records and reports, led by Miss Agnes Campbell, director of nurses in Marion county, and a tea at four o'clock at the home of Miss Elizabeth Freeman, a Salem public health nurse, closed the two day session. Meetings were held in the Woman's clubhouse on North Center street.

Behavior and health problems in the nursery school were discussed in the opening session Saturday morning by Mrs. Sara Prentiss, member of the O. A. C. faculty. The health program in the rural schools was discussed by Mrs. Mary L. Fuikerson, Marion county school superintendent, and Miss Carlotta Crowley, elementary supervisor in the Salem schools, gave a talk on the health education work done in Salem.
