TRUMPED UP CHARGES TO INTIMIDATE COURT

Its conference Tuesday, give each a certain time to reply, and then refer the cases to referees. The referees, who doubtless will be circuit judges, will take testimony. On the basis of this testimony they will make recommendations to the supreme court as to whether the accused attorneys should be disbarred.

One of Joseph's charges against Mannix was the same as used against Justice Rand in the campaign of 1928 when Rand was a candidate for re-election.

Mannix brands as a "threat" a declaration by Joseph that he can produce important evidence relating to the alleged option on Rand's property and intimate relationship existing between Mannix and Rand, and he challenges Joseph to produce this evidence.

The Condit suit against Mannix and Neppach is declared by Mannix to be blackmail by Joseph. This is the suit in which Condit alleges that while his divorce case against his wife was pending in the supreme court, he, by connivance with Mannix and Neppach, furnished liquor to Justice McBride.

Mannix alleges that on three occasions before the Mannix suit was started he was approached by Condit who demanded that he receive a check to a house from Neppach which Condit formerly owned in Portland, free and clear of all encumbrances, of the approximate value of $10,000, and that unless such demand was forthwith complied with, he and George W. Joseph as his attorney would file a suit against Mannix and Neppach in which they and Justice McBride would be publicly charged with drinking intoxicating liquor.

Instead of Condit's business and property being taken from him fraudulently by Mannix and Neppach, Mannix avers that Condit was forced into bankruptcy by his creditors. He declared that Condit "it being alleged that he was divorced four times and led a dissipated life, and devoted himself largely to his divorce cases and other pertinent entanglements to such an extent and degree that his creditors forced his company into bankruptcy in 1928," and that the only relation Neppach had with him "was to loan him as a total loss."

Mannix alleges that Joseph knew these facts, but to "blacken the name of Justice McBride, and insult him and bring disgrace upon him, he was willing to make of said Condit a bed fellow with him and use him as a tool in trumping up this case."

Relative to a statement, said to have been made by Joseph in his charges against Mannix before the grand jury committee of the Multnomah Bar association, to the effect that warrants were procured for the arrest of Mannix, Walker and August Wemme, Mannix says no such order was issued against Wicke, and that the order for August Wemme's arrest was without legal cause. He declares that August Wemme brought upon him self the hatred of Joseph because he tried to keep Joseph from dissipating the E. Henry Wemme endowment fund and using it to his own ends. He mentions that there is now pending in the supreme court a suit brought by August Wemme in which Joseph is directly accused of attempting to dissipate the fund "and selling real estate

How a Family Doctor made Millions of Friends

FIFTEEN years after his graduation, Dr. Caldwell became one of the best-known members of his profession. A single prescription made him famous. And for forty years it has continued to make friends.

As fast as people could tell others about the marvelous way this prescription corrects constipation and relieves other troubles caused by sluggish bowels, demand for it spread until Dr. Caldwell was forced to have it filled in quantities; bottled and distributed through drug stores.

Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. Millions of people would never think of using anything else when they're headachy, bilious,

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Colic, gas, fever, belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

MEXICO CALLS FOR CONCLAVE ON GEOGRAPHY

Mexico City (AP)—Mexico has just issued invitations to send delegates to attend the first meeting of the Pan-American Institute of Geography and History which is proposed to open in this city on Independence day, the 16th of September of the inter-year.

This new inter-American scientific association is an offspring of the Sixth Pan-American conference held at Havana in February, 1928, and was organized at the instigation and suggestion of the Pan-American Union. Suggestions made by the Mexican delegates to the Havana conference were accepted in organizing the association such as the quota that should be sent by each country participating in the parley, and other routine and detail matters.

Mexico City was selected at Havana as the permanent seat of the new organization and according to the details discussed and approved at the Cuban gathering, Mexico as the headquarters of the conference is committed to supply a suitable building as the permanent home of the association.

A spacious old building located in the nearby suburb of Tacubaya has been designated as the home office of the association. It has been used in the past as the seat of the Direction of Geographical and Climatological Affairs of Agriculture and because of its special adaptability was deemed suitable for the new purpose it is to be used for. At one time the building was a Carmelite convent and then the seat of an Archbishop. It was used as a fortress when after the war of Independence there was considerable unrest in Mexico. During the early regime of the President-dictator Porfirio Diaz it was used as the National military college. Before it can be used for its new purpose it will require considerable remodeling and work in this direction is already under way under the supervision of Pedro S. Sanchez, chief of the Bureau of Geographical and Climatological Studies of the Secretariat of Education. The building is adjacent to that now used as the national astronomical observatory.

Co-ordination, popularization of geographical knowledge and distribution of such among the nations of the western hemisphere is the primary object of the new association.
