Miss Covington Talks to League

Miss Maude Covington, Salem public librarian, gave an interesting review of modern books, including several noteworthy biographies, at the November meeting of the Salem Arts League Tuesday night in the auditorium of the public library. Mrs. John Clifford opened the program with the reading of her poem, "Umpqua the Beautiful."

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Richard Cartwright, who is in California, Otto K. Paulus presided at the business session which preceded the program hour. A motion to elect a publicity chairman for the league was laid on the table for future discussion.

Silverton—George Able left here a few days ago for San Francisco to attend the wedding of his sister, Frances, to John Trunk, there this week. Both young folk are well known here. The Ables live in North Silverton and the Trunks lived in the Geiser addition some years ago. Miss Frances Able is a graduate nurse.

Bride And Her Attendants

Mrs. Walter M. Pennington entertained Wednesday afternoon in her home with her second large bride tea of the week. Six tables of cards were in play. At the head of the table, Mrs. E. B. Millard, Mrs. Fred Zimmerman and Mrs. W. M. Hamilton assisted Mrs. Pennington.

Mrs. Roy Mills and Mrs. Elmer Dace received the prizes for high honors at bridge at Mrs. Pennington's party Tuesday.

Blind School Playlet Wednesday

Students at the state school for the blind will present a musical playlet in the school auditorium Wednesday night, November 13, at 8 o'clock, under the direction of Miss Ruth How. The public is invited to attend.

The chief characters of the playlet, which is entitled "When Betsy Ross Made Old Glory" are Cecil Morgan as General George Washington; Berna Sauter as Betsy Ross; Glen Casteel as Colonel Ross; Donald Bird as Robert Morris; and Mark Shoresmith as Captain Anderson.

Pre-Nuptial Shower For Marie Dunlavy

Brooks—The Dunlavy home was the scene of a delightful social gathering Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Dunlavy entertained the Brooks Ladies' Aid society and a group of additional guests. The living rooms of the Dunlavy home were attractively decorated with chrysanthemums in yellow and white. The long dining table was centered with white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Monroe Ward, the president, presided at the business meeting. The afternoon was spent telling a comforter and in placing quilt blocks and embroidering. During the afternoon Miss Marie Dunlavy was honored with a pre-nuptial shower, by members of the Brooks Ladies' Aid society. Miss Dunlavy will become the bride of Rev. D. George Cole of Salem, on December 4, in the chapel of Kimball school at Salem.

Mrs. Karl Steiwer To Entertain

Mrs. Karl Steiwer will entertain in her home on the Jefferson road Thursday from 3 to 5:30 o'clock with a large tea in compliment to her sister, Mrs. Howard D. Strickler, who has recently returned to the United States from the Philippine Islands.

Mrs. Harry Strowbridge, Mrs. Elma Connell, both of Portland, Mrs. Russell Catlin and Mrs. John McNary will preside at the tables during the first hour. Mrs. Clifford Brown, Miss Elizabeth Lord, Miss Mabel Robertson and Mrs. Merrill Moore of Portland, will pour during the second hour.

Assisting about the rooms will be Mrs. Brainer Small, Mrs. E. G. Gilber, Mrs. T. H. Loney and Mrs. Ed Patterson. Mrs. Steiwer will introduce the guests to her sister. Mr. and Mrs. Strickler arrived in Seattle from the Philippine Islands about 10 days ago to place their children, Betty and Pat, in school there. They are on their way to California for a vacation trip, stopping with the Steiwers for several days on their way south. They will return to Seattle to spend the Christmas holidays with their daughters.

Invitations for the tea have been issued to 85 Salem, Jefferson and Portland friends of Mrs. Strickler, who will be remembered here as Ruth Gray.

Alumnae of Sacred Heart Make Plans

Members of the alumnae association of the Sacred Heart Academy met in the academy building Tuesday night to formulate plans for a bridge tea Friday, November 29. An afternoon of bridge will be held in the academy rooms, and in the evening tables for bridge and also will be in play. A program will also be given, featuring students studying music at the academy.

This will be the first time in the history of the academy that its rooms have ever been used for a benefit project of this type. Proceeds will be used in health educational work.

A large committee is being appointed to take charge of the parties.
