

DEVELOPMENT CRESCENT CITY HARBOR URGED

Crescent City, Cal. (AP)—Transcript of testimony presented at a hearing here looking toward development of this harbor by the government...

Representatives of six oil companies, lumber exporters and mines testified before Mayor E. H. Ropes, district engineer of the army board...

L. A. Levensaler, head of the Northwest Mining department of the American Smelting and Refining company, pointed out that mines in this territory are paying a higher freight rate per ton mile haul than any other customer of his firm.

Levensaler said his company is interested in finding an economic outlet for the ores of this district as it is considered one of the best undeveloped mineral areas in northern California and southern Oregon.

The chamber of commerce of Medford in a report submitted at the hearing listed 11,000 carloads of products shipped from that section during the year 1928. The report stated: "Should development of the Crescent City harbor reach a point where ocean going craft could be accommodated, a large portion of this representative tonnage would be made tributary to that point.

Hobbs, Hall & company of this city reported they are forced to export lumber in small boats, from which the product is transferred to ocean going vessels at San Francisco. Development of this harbor, their report stated, would eliminate this transfer.

'NEW FANGLED' GAS OVERCOMES

Burlington, Ia. (AP)—Living on a farm for over half a century where gas and electric lights were known only in advertisements, Henry Hill, 74, sold his old homestead the other day and moved to town.

One of the new fangled contraptions which he found upon securing a room at a rooming house was a gas light. This first night he was anxious to see what it was like.

He turned on the gas jet, worked with it several times and then left it when it wouldn't light. The old kerosene lamp, salvaged from his farm effects, was brought out of the trunk and worked much better than this new gas contraption, he thought.

He went to bed. During the night he awoke, ill and dizzy. He opened the door of his room and then went back to bed.

Late in the morning he was found semi-conscious by the landlord. And from his bed in the St. Francis hospital where he is recovering from the effects of the gas he had left turned on all night the aged man admits, "I guess I'm just a little bit behind the times."

Hints On Success With Angora Goats

Would you invest your money in a herd of Angora goats, turn them loose on a large tract of logged off land and go to the city to live? It is being done.

It is time we begin to give the goat on logged off land subject some thought. There are very few people fitted to handle goats under the most favorable conditions. You must "know your goats" in order to make a success. First, you must clean the range of coyotes and the large cats. Then fence into lots suitable for size of herd, build sheds, make predatory animal proof night corrals. Make roads from night corrals to the heavy brush thickets. Get a tractor and snow plow, they will save you lots of work and feed.

Now get your goats and your troubles begin, put a sack of rock salt on your back, take a brush hook, and go looking for evergreen blackberries, (the worst foe for hang ups) cut the vines away, burn them, put a hand full of salt on the crown of the stool and look for an other one.

In the meantime bring your goats into the night corral every night, turn them out very early in the morning. Have one or two good dogs, they are more keen to detect trouble than you are. Keep close watch of the mouth and feet. I have known heavy losses from ulcerated teeth.

Watch close your late breeders, as a kid has a better chance in life after April than in February in the high altitudes. Pay particular attention to penning at kidding time. You can make 300 pens, 4x4 feet in a shed 34x200 feet. These pens should be constructed of 1x3 inch material, sides three feet high, fronts two feet, put together with hooks and eyes to be taken down when not in use. The penning at kidding time system, will eliminate your losses at kidding time. The female goat has the same udder (lla as the cow).

The goat apparently doesn't suffer as much by walking away, letting the kid starve to death, as she does to let him draw the milk. Pin worms, I think, is the worst enemy we have to the Angora goat industry. It causes about 40 per cent of our losses. The pin worm has an intermediate point in its cycle of propagation, the egg comes out in the droppings, hatches, goes onto the young foliage, and a new goat comes along and takes it into the stomach. It takes about eight days to hatch and get upon the leaves.

Unless it gets into a stomach or the intestinal channel within a few days it dies. Hence, 10 day lot rotation. Some people "may" be able to handle goats successfully and fight pin worms but I don't think so. And this all leads up to reforestation, but that is another subject.

CHEMISTRY AS FACTOR IN WAR IS STILL VITAL

Washington—(AP)—Chemical warfare service is a thriving unit of the Army despite the Senate's ratification of a treaty to abolish chemical warfare and in an annual report published today it was revealed Army chemists are attempting to extend their chemical devices to protection of uniforms, tanks and even battleships at sea.

In contrast with largely routine work reported by chiefs of older arms of the service, the report of Maj. Gen. H. L. Gilchrist, chief of chemical warfare, is a story of experimentation in strange fields. The Senate's ratification of the Washington Arms Conference treaty which the State Department says was designed to abolish chemical warfare does not hinder Gilchrist. That is because other signatories, notably France, refused to ratify the instrument and it cannot become operative until ratification is complete.

So long as other armies are free to experiment with chemicals for battle purposes, the War Department maintains its Chemical Warfare Service at the highest possible level of efficiency.

Laymen may not realize what is perfectly plain to military men who know an emergency may sometime cause them to battle gas cloud with gas cloud. For instance, no one knows how far chemicals in the future may be developed for use against tanks, armored cars or battleships; nor is there any certainty some agile-brained foreign chemist may not devise a gas cloud which would disintegrate an attacking soldier's clothing leaving him in the midst of a charge as nude as a goldfish.

Such matters are occupying America's chemical warfare research men now. If motors or warships can be rendered useless by gas, the Army wants to know about it, perfect the method and devise preventive measures. Navy funds are used for experimentation on naval subjects. Similarly work is in hand on design of clothing which would be impregnated with a substance to protect the body and limbs of the wearer against gas. The field army of the future, under a recent authorization, will be equipped with a laboratory which, if necessary, could analyze and devise protection against surprise gasses loosed by an enemy.

If you are NOT yourself

Are you being denied the happiness that is due you in life? IT is easy to abuse our golden life-giving body, but Nature has a way of signaling danger. If heeded, graver troubles may be avoided. That tired, exhausted feeling, lack of appetite, aches and pains, flabby flesh, skin troubles—all speak of a body weakness—a lack of the normal count of red-blood-cells. Every normal person's blood should contain about 5,000,000 red corpuscles to the cubic millimeter—those vitalizing, tiny red cells which give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red blood count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions of people. It helps Nature increase the red-blood cells. It promotes healthy body building. It is time-tested and has a successful record of over 100 years back of it. You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take. It is on sale at all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Tells The World His New Discovery Opens Up Catarrh Stuffed Nostrils In 3 Minutes. Is That Good News?

30 Days Free Trial Says CAPITAL DRUG STORE

Catarrh, one of the most loathsome diseases, is caused by germs—wicked, vicious, persistent pests that multiply rapidly and by digging into and devouring the tender membrane cause soreness, swelling, inflammation and mucous discharges.

A few years ago, Catarrh was considered incurable, because no one was clever enough to get together a formula that would spread over the membranes of the nasal tract a purifying substance in which catarrh germs could not exist.

But OpeX changed all that and now all you have to do to get rid of catarrh is to spray on OpeX and send the germs to eternity.

Just note the picture showing how OpeX puts catarrh out of business. See the steam-like smoke going in one nostril and out the other.

When you use OpeX you see the healing, purifying vapor as fine as smoke coming thru the nostrils—and it will come thru no matter how stuffed up they are.

That's the way to end catarrh and to lessen those annoying, ringing, buzzing noises in the ears. Many people say it is the only way.
