While several other countries have built cruisers of this class, the maximum size permitted under the Washington naval arms limitation treaty, this is the first of Uncle Sam's protected fleet of 23 ships of this type.

The Salt Lake City is one of the eight cruisers authorized in 1924. Several of this group have been launched but this is the first to be actually commissioned. Fifteen other cruisers of the class were authorized by congress last winter.

CHERRY FLIES WISE TO EMERGENCY CAGES

"Entomologists last year kept out their emergency cages to catch the cherry fly as is suggested in the new plan of the college for a cherry maggot control campaign," stated County Inspector Van Trump Tuesday. "However, no reports came in as to the cherry fly. In fact there were a number of reports early in the season that there were no flies last year. However, we had one of the most disastrous years in history with the black cherry maggot."

In some manner the fly seemed to have been missed altogether. It is likely that the flies may often be caught in the cages but last year seemed to be an exception to the rule. Nobody seemed to be aware of just when the fly put in his appearance and the maggots developed suddenly after it was believed we would escape them."

Other sections have been too hard to plow.

UNIDENTIFIED SHIP ABLAZE IN OCEAN

Portsmouth, N. H. (AP)—An unidentified vessel, believed to be a steamer, was fired Tuesday about 10 miles east southeast of the Isle of Shoals. Aid was being rushed to the burning craft.

The burning ship was sighted by the lookout at the Isle of Shoals coast guard headquarters and the navy yard here. The fire appeared to the lookout to be located in the bow of the vessel.

While running at full speed Monday night, the train crashed into a truck with a gasoline tank trailer containing 2500 gallons at a crossing north of here. The tank exploded and the burning fluid drenched the train from end to end.

In spite of terrible burns, Tolland remained in his cab and brought the train to a stop. None of the passengers was injured, aside from minor bruises. The baggage and mail car was consumed by the flames and the body of J. H. Christensen, a mail clerk, was found in the ruins.

The big gasoline truck, bound from Taft to Fresno, stalled on the track. Before the driver could start his engine again the speeding fire struck the trailer and the explosion followed. None of the cars left the rails.

FIELD DAY IN U. S. SENATE FOR SHARPSHOOTERS

Washington (AP)—The senate sharpshooters had a field day Tuesday, shooting shafts, some sarcastic, some bitter, at President Hoover, Calvin Coolidge, Joseph P. Grundy, Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania, Senator Gillett of Massachusetts and 134 county editors of Minnesota.

Chairman Caraway of the senate lobby investigating committee filed a devastating report criticizing Grundy, the Pennsylvania tariff man, who now is reported likely to be named to the senate to take the place barred to William S. Vare.

He quoted Grundy's own words admitting he had influence on high tariff legislation and pointed at Grundy's large part in obtaining funds for the Hoover presidential campaign last fall.

Then he said that not Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania who may appoint Grundy, but "the people who bought and paid for the office the governor now occupies" are offering Grundy the seat.

The committee report pointed out partly through Grundy's activities, the tariff bill as reported by the finance committee recommended raising in the case of 42 industries which would add profits of $1,186,000 to state manufacturers if the rates became effective.

Reports that Calvin Coolidge might run for the senate to replace the retiring Senator Gillett, Massachusetts, drew from Senator Harrison, democrat, the caustic advice by such action for President Hoover to be re-nominated in 1932.

"He won't shine here with the same brilliancy that he did within the White House where his aptitude was demonstrated by his attitude in all public matters that arose," Harrison said of Coolidge.

"I have too much respect for Coolidge to believe that he will agree to this subtle plan inaugurated by the very adroit politicians in the republican party close to Hoover," Harrison said. He also termed the reported plan a "conspiracy" to remove Coolidge as a presidential candidate.

SALMON SAVED BY DOWNPOUR

Portland, Ore. (AP)—The lives of a large number of silverside salmon in Oregon coastal streams have been saved by the heavy rains in the last few days. Hugh C. Mitchell, director of the department of fish culture for the state fish commission said Tuesday.

"We had almost given up all hope of saving large numbers of fish which have been lying in tide water in coastal streams because the streams were so low that fish could not get to the spawning grounds," Mitchell said.

Reports from coastal points indicated that rivers and other streams were rising and would save the fish from spawning on mud beds or drying.

"A shortage of silverside eggs this year would mean a shortage of mature fish for commercial industry three years hence," Mitchell declared.

Approximately 125,000 silverside eggs are on hand at the Trask and Neustula hatcheries, Mitchell reported.

PILLSBURY MILLS OPEN AT ASTORIA

Astoria, Ore. (AP)—The start of domestic flour manufacture by the Pillsbury-Astoria flour mills was celebrated Tuesday afternoon when a delegation from the Astoria chamber of commerce called on the Pillsbury mill and congratulated officials of the company on the new floor.

Since the Pillsbury company took over the local flour mills recently it has been busy installing a new heating plant and new machinery and in changing over the old machinery so that the plant will be able to make domestic flour, instead of export flour as has been manufactured exclusively in the past.

BRAVE PILOT SAVES LIVES ABOARD TRAIN

Bakersfield, Calif. (AP)—Engineer E. Tolland, through whose bravery the lives of 100 passengers on the San Joaquin Limited of the Southern Pacific Railroad were saved, when the cars were sprayed with flaming gasoline, was suffering from serious burns here Tuesday and his fireman, Martin Stinson, who leaped from the locomotive with his clothing aflame, may die of his injuries.

While running at full speed Monday night, the train crashed into a truck with a gasoline tank trailer containing 2500 gallons at a crossing north of here. The tank exploded and the burning fluid drenched the train from end to end.

In spite of terrible burns, Tolland remained in his cab and brought the train to a stop. None of the passengers was injured, aside from minor bruises. The baggage and mail car was consumed by the flames and the body of J. H. Christensen, a mail clerk, was found in the ruins.

SLAIN WOMAN HAD 2 SUITORS

Rockford, Ill. (AP)—In search of a motive for the slaying of Miss Cordelia Gummerheimer, attractive school teacher found beaten to death in her apartment Sunday, authorities Tuesday were confronted with conflicting details picturing the woman at once as a matter-of-fact "school marm" and a woman of secret love.

As her friends in Rockford knew her, Miss Gummerheimer was a teacher devoted to her work, head of the foreign language department at Rockford high school, a woman who taught both day and night and whose diversion consisted mainly of an occasional evening at bridge with women friends.

To the authorities the teacher presented another picture—a woman admired by two men neither of whom knew of the other and each of whom protested his love for her in frequent letters, found carefully kept in her kitchenette apartment.

While an eccentric dentist, Dr. Floyd Leach, was still in custody because he had been seen in the neighborhood of the teacher's home the night she was killed, authorities said they had no evidence to link him with the crime.

One of the teacher's correspondents, G. W. Williams, in Tarpon Springs, Fla., and the other, Roy Scribner, in New York.

Cheyenne, Wyo. (AP)—The will of the late Senator Francis E. Warren of Wyoming was filed in district court for probate Tuesday. The value of the estate is not mentioned in the will, but friends here estimated his holdings to be worth at least $5,000,000.

Warren owned more than $600,000 in Cheyenne real estate and more than $1,000,000 in ranch and land property and equipment.

His Cheyenne holdings are in the center of a miniature empire he controlled and which extends east of here into Albany county, and as far north as Goeben county, east into Nebraska, and south into Colorado.

Hoover As Jupiter In Mythology Play By Parrish Students

A play which shows Jupiter returning to earth as Herbert Hoover, Juno as Mrs. Hoover, and the other Olympian gods and goddesses as prominent figures in modern life would undoubtedly create the sensation of the season if presented in the national capitol. It is affording almost as much excitement in the state capitol, at least in school circles, with students in the 9A class at the Parrish junior high school promising such an unusual phantasmagoria in their class room Thursday afternoon.

The play was written by members of the 9A class in English at the Parrish school under the direction of Miss L. May Rauch, English director for junior high schools, as part of a regular class project to complete after the study of mythology. All pupils were formed into committees to arrange the play, while the conversations in the script were written by two members of the class, Eleanor Wagstaff and Elizabeth Holcomb. Anoka Coates will be the general director.

The plot is a fantastic comedy, with the Olympian gods, sadly neglected at the Olympic games, deserting the games with the promise to meet at them again 2,000 years hence. The first scene shows the gods in their Grecian costumes vehemently discussing the plan. The second scene shows a host load of folks on their way to the Olympic games at the Hagia. The gods, in modern guise, baffle each other by their new ways, and how they finally recognize each other in the denouement of the play.

In addition to Jupiter being Herbert Hoover, and Juno, Mrs. Hoover, Venus is shown as Delores Costello, Cupid is the peddler of subscriptions to a matrimonial magazine, Vulcan is the owner of a chain of garages, Minerva is the old-maid school teacher who is chaperoning Delores Costello, Bacchus is a federal prohibition agent, Diana is Helen Wills, Iris and Mercury are embryo aviators, Neptune is working his way across as a life guard on the boat and the captain of the boat is none other than Sharon, the ferryman of the Styx.

HEALTH WORKERS DISCUSS BUDGET

The meeting of the Marion county public health association Wednesday at the home of the president Mrs. Brainer Small, will be devoted to the recent action of the county council in refusing to increase their health budget to equality with the budgets already made by the city, and the school system, according to health workers. The meeting will be a luncheon affair, with all attending bringing their own lunch.

Dr. Estella Ford Warner, director of the Marion county child health demonstration, will tell the group of the changes in the health unit budget which must be made through the refusal of the county council to enlarge theirs to meet the requirements of expenditures when the Commonwealth Fund relinquishes the demonstration January 1. What action will be contemplated by the group of lay workers who form the health association has not been made known.

WEATHERFORD PAYS TRIBUTE TO CHIEF JOSEPH

For military leadership and strategy, the military history of the world falls to reveal a superior to Chief Joseph, Albany attorney and commissioned officer during the world war, told the Kiwanis club Tuesday noon.

"Chief Joseph was the first to use the referendum in Oregon when the government ordered him to return with his tribe to a reservation," the speaker said. "The warriors rebelled and though Joseph by nature was a lover of peace, he found himself, with no previous military experience, at the head of the revolting Indians. Chief Joseph employed masterful resourcefulness in retreat maneuvers against superior and seasoned forces, covering a total distance of 1400 miles with his handful of warriors, their women and children and 1500 ponies."

Grief came to the noted Indian leader when he thought he had safely led his followers across the line into Canada, only to find that he had made a mistake. Though outnumbered five to one, Chief Joseph could not be dislodged from his position and he was forced to surrender after five days when his tribesmen were on the verge of starvation.

Additional tribute to the Indian leader was given by Dean George H. Alden, of Willamette university, who recalled when a boy of ten in South Dakota, Chief Joseph, in charge of his captors came through their town and with his parents had the privilege of personally meeting him.

COACH M'EWAN STILL ON JOB

Eugene, Ore. (AP)—A report that Captain John J. McEwan, resigned head coach of the University of Oregon football team, was slated for the post of coach at Columbia university, New York, was nullified Tuesday by the appointment of Lou Little, Georgetown coach, to the New York berth.

At the same time a report from Miami, Fla., that McEwan had been released from his contract, which runs another year with the Oregon university, was denied by Dr. Arnold Bennett Hall, president of the university.

The report from Miami stated McEwan's release was effective immediately. President Hall said the action was impossible because members of the athletic committee are scattered in various sections of the country.
