

DALLAS FATHER SONS' BANQUET IS BIG AFFAIR

Dallas—More than 125 fathers and sons assembled in the Methodist church to celebrate a father and son banquet, sponsored by the church Brotherhood and served by the women of the church.

After all the guests of the annual affair had assembled in the class rooms a few songs were sung and then they were marched into the dining room, where the evening's program was begun with several numbers sung by the Salem Y. M. C. A. quartet. R. R. Turner, superintendent of the city schools, was toastmaster and gave a short talk upon the origin of the occasion and then introduced the following speakers:

Raymond Miller, who gave a talk on "A Boy's Ideal," and expressed how a father should live up to it. County Agent J. R. Beck, whose subject was "Father and Sons, Inc.," in which talk he clearly depicted the mutual benefits derived when father and son work together.

Rev. Ranton of Independence and two sons gave a violin duet and solo. County School Superintendent Josiah Willis spoke upon "A Dad's Duty to His Son," in which he said a boy should learn to honor his father by teaching him honestly, industry and respect.

Alvin Lynch was asked to express a boy's opinion on "If I Were a Dad, What Would I Do?"

William Miller played several old-time pieces on the mouth harp to the hearty applause of the audience. Vernon Bell, president of the Methodist Men's Brotherhood, addressed the guests upon "What Dad Means to Me," stating that a father's sacrifices are best appreciated when the son has a home of his own to care for.

Dr. A. B. Starbuck depicted the value of teamwork and what it can accomplish.

Charles Campbell, Willamette university student and debater, expressed the value of home life in a son's upbringing.

William Harcombe, district attorney, gave an interesting and very impressive speech from the subject, "A Boy Through the Specs of His Dad," stating "No subject offers the possibilities of what the son means to the father: the hope of the future and the reward of the present."

Prof. Matthews of Willamette university was the last speaker.

To the Editor: If you don't object, I wish to express my views through the press on prohibition and capital punishment. I am an Abraham Lincoln democrat. Democracy as I see it is a civil government which is furthest removed from a king. America now has a host of kings. Lincoln believed that every legal voter in America is a part of the entire nation as a whole, creeds, politics, and state lines, eliminated.

Lincoln believed that all matters of national concern were not to be submitted to the states to be settled separately, if so, there would have been no Civil war. Wilson, Cox, Davis and Smith believed in state rights on national questions and thereby wrecked the party, and lowered the standard of Lincoln democracy.

It would be a crime against myself and society if I should drink liquor as a beverage. Just to comply with a deluded mind or to arrogantly assert my personal liberty, or inalienable rights, no matter where I may be on American soil, and this regardless of the 18th amendment. The man who drinks so that the bootlegger may leech from society is most to be pitied and then condemned.

Capital crime merits capital punishment. It is human economy to take one worthless man's life rather than burden and endanger the lives of better citizens. Murder is a national offense and execution should be carried out only at federal prisons. It appears that the key to the failure in law enforcement is the legal pervert. By the efforts of such, the intent of the laws are made to miscarry. A moral pervert is cried down by all, while

DEEP WELL TO PROVIDE WATER SLIM, AT ALBANY

Albany—Shallow bedrock and impermeable soils, that is soils that hinder the movement of water, make the prospects for Albany obtaining a deep well water supply slim, according to the report of the United States geological survey, handed to Albany council members by the mayor.

There is but one area within practical distance of the city, where there is a possibility of an ample deep water supply, and that is in the Periwinkle, of Periwinkle creek basin.

At this place it is believed possible to obtain 100 gallons of water a minute from one well and with a series of wells it is believed also that the 700 gallons of water necessary per minute during the summer months could be obtained.

BAKERY IS MOVED

Silverton—Joe Feilen, owner and proprietor of the Silverton bakery, has moved his bakery from its former place in the Beck building on Oak street into the space in the new Worden building next to the Water street meat market. The large plate glasses had to be taken out of both of the store buildings in order to move the large electric ovens.

TINY SON ARRIVES

Silverton—A four and one-half pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Chris Beugli of Silverton at the local hospital Monday morning. The Beuglis lost their only son a few years ago when he and his sled crashed into a barn on South Water street.

A legal pervert is lauded for his shrewdness.

MARRIED STUDENTS ATTEND UNIVERSITY

Eugene—College husbands outnumber college wives almost two to one at the University of Oregon, according to Richard Collins, statistician at the university. Married students number 122 or about five per cent of the student body. Out of 125 graduate students, 37 are married.

STORY AND GAME HOUR FOR DONALD

Donald—Rev. Warner, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here, held a story and game hour for the children of the Sunday school in the church basement Saturday afternoon. This was followed by the quarterly conference of the church boards. Rev. Warner plans to have one of these game hours for the children each month.

Miss Sofia Eppers has organized a sewing club among the younger girls of the Sunday school. They meet at the church each Wednesday afternoon and have a quilt in the making. The members include Bernadine St. Helen, Bernice and Aline Fowler, Betty Ackerson, Jessie and Elisabeth Long, Margie and Jean Smith, and Jean Carver.

KNIGHTS MOVE GOODS

Jefferson—Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Knight moved their household goods to their ranch near Roseburg Thursday, where they will reside. Their son, Harold Knight, accompanied them and will assist them in getting settled in their new home. The community regrets to lose Mr. and Mrs. Knight, who are held in high esteem.

ASTORIA BRIDGE BILL

Washington, D. C. (AP)—A bill to authorize J. C. Tenbrook to construct and operate a bridge over the Columbia river at or near Astoria, to connect the Roosevelt highway with the Washington Ocean Beach highway, was introduced Monday by Senator McNary.

THE VIRGINIAN IN TALKIES AT FOX ELSINORE

"All talking" the new medium of the silver screen, is proving its tremendous power as an added quality for entertainment at the Fox Elsinore theater this week with the current showing there of "The Virginian."

"The Virginian" is just the type of picture for which "all talking" is most admirably suited. An American classic of the pioneering days in Wyoming, this epic theme of red blooded drama and beautiful romance is so stupendous, so vast in its great old doors scope, that "all talking" alone can do it full justice.

Photographed and "miked" in the open spaces of the western cattle country, the film presents to the eye and ear of the beholder every living detail of this thrilling story. You hear the bellowing of a thousand head of cattle, you hear the shouts of the cowboys as they drive the stampeding herd through the swift flowing current of a river, you hear the cowboys round the crackling campfire chanting their typical ditties, you hear the dance hall in full blast, you hear Gary Cooper, the hero barking these immortal words, "If you wanna call me that—smile!"

Cooper, in his first full dialogue role, is giving a wonderful performance. His handsome features and his raring, supple physique fit him into the character as though it were written for him. His charming southern drawl as the Virginian is making many a feminine heart flutter at the Fox Elsinore theater. Walter Huston, as Trampas, is the most convincing bad man seen and heard since "all talking" revolutionized the movie world. He plays the role with intense dramatic feeling. Richard Arlen as Steve, the wayward buddy of the Virginian, and Mary Brian as Molly Wood, the charming school teacher with whom the hero falls in love, are equally artistic in their portrayals.

"The Virginian" has four more days to run.
