

COACHES SHIFT AS FOOTBALL SEASON REACHES END

M'EWAN SEEKING JOB; FORDHAM MAY NEED MAN

New York (AP)—Shifting of college football coaches Saturday elevated line coach Lud Wray to the position of head football coach at University of Pennsylvania and Captain John J. McEwan, former University of Oregon mentor, without a job.

Wray succeeds Lou Young, who relinquished his post after seven years because of business interests, but has elected to remain as chairman of the football committee.

Captain McEwan, who was Biff Jones' predecessor as Army football coach, indicated Saturday that he would seek a coaching job with some eastern institution or conduct a coaching school in this region.

After serving four years at Oregon, Captain McEwan, who is now in New York City, received notice Friday from Oregon authorities that his services were no longer desired, although his contract has one more year to run. Captain McEwan said he expected Oregon to fulfill the financial end of his contract through the 1930 season.

In commenting on his stay at Oregon, Captain McEwan said the only unpleasantness came from the president of the university, who made him answer for his choice of substitutes.

Although Fordham has not yet signed Major Frank Cavanaugh to a contract for next season, it is believed that he will be retained in view of his undefeated record the past season. In some quarters, however, there were reports circulated that Captain McEwan was mentioned as a probable candidate for Cavanaugh's post if the latter did not return to the New York institution.

WOODBURN LOST PRACTICE TILT

Woodburn—The basketball squad of Woodburn high school got a good workout Friday afternoon when it played a practice game with the first team of Gervais high. The game was won by Gervais by a score of 20 to 18. Woodburn's coach started the second string which showed up fairly well. The first team was put in in the second quarter, in which neither team scored. The second half of the game saw one team get the lead for a short time, only to lose it later.

The turnout at Woodburn was fairly good this year. Only two lettersmen can play this season but some of the men who did not get their 'W's last year are veterans, nevertheless. A. Scholer and Nehl, the two lettermen, will probably work at guard and forward respectively. Chapelle, Baldwin and L. Scholer are pretty sure of regular berths on the team.

Woodburn has an especially tough schedule this year, but expects to make a creditable showing.

Members present were Mesdames Charles Hadaway, Veda Willard, Nicholas Jaeger, Lamick Lorenson and Miss Alice Woodward. Mrs. Cinnamon served refreshments.

LAST PERIOD DRIVE DEFEATS SALEM, 35-31

After fiddling about during the first half trying to find a scoring combination, the alumni of the Salem high school finally worked out a system during the final periods of play and eked out a 35 to 31 victory over the red and black regulars Friday night. It was the first game of the season for the high school team and their showing was remarkable considering the experience of most of the players. They would probably have won if they had handcuffed and put an Oregon boot on Dwight Adams, who played forward for the alumni. This lanky ball tosser had the knack of easing in behind the Salem defense and shooting with remarkable accuracy after teammates had fed him the ball. Adams accounted for 24 of the old grade's score and during the first half collected every one of the victors' 12 points.

Taking advantage of the inability of the alumni to figure out a system the high school team led 9 to 4 at the quarter mark and 20 to 12 at the half. During this time Bob Kelly, guard, paced the ball though the loop four times. Kelly's ability as a scorer, which gained ground as the season advanced last year, bid fair to reach perfection this year if he continues the pace he set Friday night.

Graber at center, succeeded in outmaneuvering his more experienced center. Although apparently none so strong he does not lack fight and was in on every play. Kitchin and Pettit worked together well and should develop into a sweet pair. Sanford seems to be a good running mate for Kelly, although he is light. Satchler and Foreman performed the best for the substitutes Huntington sent into the game.

The lineup:
Alumni Salem
Adams (24) F (9) Kitchin
E. Slegmund F (2) Pettit
J. Drager (5) G (5) Graber
R. Ashby (4) G (11) Kelly
H. Ashby G Sanford
Lyons (2) S (2) W. Slegmund
Schwabbauer S Satchler
D. Slegmund S (2) Foreman
Beechler
Referee, Ellis.

It was December 21, 1891, that Naismith, then a young instructor in the Springfield, Mass., school of training directors, announced he had perfected the new game to meet demands for a fast indoor team sport. Dr. Naismith has been professor of physical education at the University of Kansas for the last 39 years.

MORGAN BEATEN PROBE ORDERED

New York (AP)—Tod Morgan has relinquished his junior lightweight championship but whether to his conqueror, Henry Bass, or not, awaits the decision of an official inquiry by the New York state athletic commission.

Bass, the pile-driving puncher from Philadelphia, knocked out Morgan in the second round of their 15 round titular bout in Madison Square Garden Friday night and apparently had succeeded to the 130 pound crown beyond a doubt. A few minutes after the knockout, however, Chairman James A. Farley of the state commission, ordered the purses of both fighters withheld pending an investigation to be begun by the commission on Tuesday. Bass and Morgan, with their managers, were ordered to appear before the solons at that time. Farley indicated that he did not believe the bout had been fought on its merits.

Hopewell—The Ladies' Aid of the United Brethren church did not meet Wednesday and will hold its next meeting after Christmas.
