MINUTE MEN DENY DRAFTING OF GREGORY

Rumors, said to be in circulation about town, that the Minute Men of Marion county were parties to the drafting of P. M. Gregory as a candidate for mayor were flatly denied Wednesday by Harry Raymond, organizer of the Minute Men in the county and delegate to the state council of the organization in Portland.

"The Minute Men had absolutely nothing to do with the plan to draft Gregory as a candidate for mayor and will have nothing to do with his candidacy," Raymond told the Capital Journal. He explained that he was making the statement because persons identified with the movement to draft Gregory also are members of the Minute Men and because Gregory is a member of the organization's county council of 15.

"As a candidate for office Gregory will be required to resign his position on the council," said Raymond.

Raymond asked that it be made clear that there is a definite line of distinction between the Progressive Businessmen's club of Hollywood and the Minute Men, although the latter organization maintains its headquarters in the Hollywood district. He stated that the Minute Men is a county wide organization and not interested in sectional politics other than as they are pertinent to the organization's policy of lending its support to candidates and measures contributing to a realization of clean, efficient government.

Action toward endorsing candidates for office will be taken on the basis of an unprejudiced canvass of the qualifications of all candidates at a county meeting of the Minute Men sometime in the near future, Mr. Raymond said.

SHOOTS MAN TOO FRIENDLY WITH HIS WIFE

Hollywood, Cal. (AP)—Daniel Bateman, 30, a contractor, Wednesday in the city jail charged with the murder Tuesday night of Guy Witzzen, 20, water department employe, on the lonely creek canyon road in north Hollywood.

Bateman, incensed over Witzzen's alleged attentions to Mrs. Bateman, discharged a shotgun into the young man's body as their automobiles passed on the narrow road. The contractor was arrested at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Herberger, after Witzzen, who was riding with Witzzen, reported the shooting to police. Stuckey said he recognized the assailant as Bateman, and that he knew something of the trouble between the two men.

Bateman, who has been employed on labor contracts in Los Banos, Cal., said Witzzen kept company with Mrs. Bateman while in Los Banos and that he had warned the young man to cease his attentions and leave town. Later, Bateman said, his wife came to Hollywood to live with his sister.

There was there when the shooting occurred.

"When I saw Witzzen in the automobile," Bateman said, "I pulled over close to his car and forced him to stop. I wanted to talk to you, young man, I told him, and he answered profanely. I grabbed the shotgun which was lying in the seat beside me and shot him."

EXPANSION OF DAIRYING TO BE OPPOSED

Coquille, Ore. (AP)—A firm stand against undue expansion of the dairy industry in Oregon was taken here Wednesday when the annual convention of the Oregon state dairy association convened here for the final session, and adopted a report of the committee on expansion.

"There is no reason for the good dairy farmer to be unduly alarmed by the report said. Economic production and quality products were suggested together with sound advertising policy.

The report called special attention to the need of a more economic production of feeds, better farm management, elimination of old cows not producing 300 pounds of fat and the use of better sires.

The committee report on disease control urged completion of tuberculosis work to make an accredited state and suggested the passage of a law providing for state deputizing of inspectors responsible for enforcement of the electrical and plumbing codes as well.

SAN FRANCISCO ATTORNEY SHOT DOWN IN STREET

Santa Rosa, Cal. (AP)—M. Z. Farwell, San Francisco attorney, was shot and killed by an unknown assailant here late Tuesday night. The assailant apparently fired a heavy caliber pistol from close range, the bullet penetrating Farwell's back and emerging at the front of his body.

Police could advance no theory as to the identity of the slayer. Farwell died as he attempted to speak and his wife became hysterical when informed of the tragedy.

The assault occurred on Seventh street, directly across from the general hospital. The shot was heard only by Felix Bertoli, who occupied a room at the hospital. Bertoli, who believed it an automobile backfire, did not report the matter.

Farwell, who was president of the Consolidated Adjusters, Inc., a collection firm of San Francisco, with many clients in Sonoma county, left his home here early in the evening to make several business calls. He carried a large amount of money. Mrs. Farwell told authorities she said she did not know where her husband was to have gone, and that he had no known enemies.

High School STUDENTS GIVE PLAY THURSDAY

Probably the biggest dramatic offering of the year at the senior high school will be the three-act romantic comedy, "Pomander Walk," to be presented by the Salem high Technic club at the high school auditorium Thursday night and at the Grand theater Friday night. The production will be outstanding through the fact that members of the Technic club not only compose the cast and the business staff of the production, but also have made every bit of the scenery, and stage setting to be used in the play.

Problems that generally face just the stage manager and scene painters have been solved by the Technic club group, composed of members of the high school art department. The one scene which will be used during the play is that of a street scene in a British town in 1805. "Pomander Walk" is the title of a play which takes its name, has presented unusual problems to test the ingenuity and skill of the youthful scene designers and stage carpenters.

The facades of the five houses, bright with wisteria vines and flower boxes, face on a small green plot, with a pretty arbor, a tall tree. A pond of water from which real fish are caught is in the background. Quaint street lights were designed and made by the art club students after study to insure historical accuracy.

The play, a comedy written by the author of "Disraeli," abounds in subtle humor and action. People are always passing in and out of the houses and along the little street, and some of the action is observed through the upper windows of the five brick cottages.

Costumes for the feminine characters of the play were made by the high school domestic science department under the direction of Mrs. Eula Creech, assisted by the Technic club group. Mrs. Creech appointed one customer for each feminine character, and they sketched and studied their particular actor and the historical background of the play before designing and creating the wardrobe. Even the hats, shawls, shoes, bags and other accessories have been checked for accuracy in period design.

Margaret Harvey acted as the customer for Savilla Phelps; Eula Bailey for Velma May, the lead of the play; Margaret Baumgartner for Kathleen Phelps; Lorraine Kinzer for Blanche Reese; Eva Beckley for Eleanor Henderson; Jessie Fukuda for Eleanor Wright, and Gertrude Thornton for Kathleen Fitzpatrick.
