

CHURCH WOMEN TURN DOWN AN OFFER OF PLAY

West Salem—The Ladies Aid of Ford Memorial church met for a business session Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. I. Miller at her home on Second street. Meeting with them as guests for a short time were Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Cannell of Bay City.

Mrs. Applegate presided and Mrs. Ralph Sebern read a scripture lesson. A short report of the Red Bird tea was given. The president announced that a group of young people from Salem would like to present a play in West Salem on a 50-50 basis. It was concluded not to sponsor it at the present time, as there were already a number of activities claiming attention. The society decided to pay $19 more than their pledge on the church budget, which was already paid up for the conference year. The next silver tea was announced for March 19 to be held at the home of Mrs. E. Breckenridge.

Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. M. A. Groves, and Mrs. J. R. Brown will be hostesses. Mrs. Bedford, Mrs. Albert Beckman and Mrs. J. Austin were appointed as the entertainment committee.

The president announced that the next business meeting would be held the first Wednesday in April with Mrs. Ed Brock at her home on Second street.

JAPANESE PRINCE IS PLANNING TOUR

Toyko, (AP)—Prince Takamatsu, second brother of Emperor Hirohito, will visit Spain during his coming European tour and will bestow the order of the Chrysanthemum upon King Alfonso Household Ministry announces.

The Prince, who was married early last month to Miss Kikuko Tokugawa, will depart with his wife and suite April 21 and will go first to England, as the primary purpose of his tour is to repay the visit of the Duke of Gloucester to Japan last spring. He will tour Europe before arriving in Madrid in November.

In will be the third time the Imperial family has sent a special envoy to the Spanish court. The first envoy was Prince Arisugawa who presented the Grand Cordon of the Chrysanthemum to the Spanish ruler in the 30th year of the reign of the late Emperor Meiji. The second was the late Prince Kuni in the 41st year of Meiji. He presented the queen of Spain with the First Order of the Crown.

SOCIETY STAGES COPS AND CONVICTS BALL GAME

A bit of action when New York and Philadelphia society leaders played ball at Palm Beach dressed as cops and convicts. Grover Whalen, who had shed his police coat, is shown taking a healthy swing at the ball. Edward F. Hutton, Philadelphia social leader, is the catcher and Connie Lewis the umpire. Whalen's team won 8 to 3.

Ben Franklin, Emissary Of America in France is Subject for New Book

Paris (AP)—The fact that wise old Ben Franklin might have been one of the leaders of pious and practical thinking in colonial Philadelphia did not prevent that same Ben from being one of the gayest bloods of pre-revolutionary Paris, according to material now being gathered for a historical work on Poor Richard by the American novelist Polak Banks.

In an age when much of the old red school house veneer and political and patriotic varnish is being stripped off our American heroes it does not seem unlikely that someone should delve into the rich past of America's first ambassador to France and give him credit for being a regular fellow, such as he undoubtedly was, even at the ripe old age of 80.

Banks is here, after a success in America with his best seller, Black Ivory, collecting material for a rollicking book about the great sage of Philadelphia. Any reading of Franklin's autobiography would clearly intimate that Ben was a good liver, a fast thinker and not entirely given over to rising early, and being so painfully healthy, wealthy and wise as the school-boys were told his was. Ben did some outstanding bits of American diplomacy which far outshine his small town accomplishments in the one time American capital.

Franklin lived in the suburb of Passy. He was known, according to various French records as a wit, as a drinker par excellence, and as a bon viveur, that only the clergy of the landed gentry could hope to equal. In fact, Ben was such good company to those convivial affairs preceding the fall of the monarchy, that one respected old Abbe wrote a laudatory poem about the way our Monsieur Franklin could go into his cups.

Poor Richard, according to Banks, really considered Paris as his home town, and although the future book on Franklin will not attempt to stress the gay side of Franklin's character, it is intimated that it may not discredit by point out that it was not considered "un-American" or at all irregular for the father of the American flag department, postoffice, kitchen stove, electric bell, and household philosophy, to have one or two or

TYPEWRITER SYMBOL OF FRENCH PROGRESS

Paris (AP)—The typewriter and the vertical file, indispensable devices in any modern office, have just won places in the French Palace of Justice.

Hitherto judges and clerks have been content to wield steel pens and the files, as in nearly all other administrative offices, have been cardboard boxes or big pigeon holes built of unpaned boards.

The change started when some one in the department of justice borrowed a typewriter which had been seized by the police. Now Parliament has authorized purchase of four machines, the hiring of four young women to run them and the installation of one vertical file.

AUTOCRACY OF SOCIALIZATION AGAIN TO FORE

Moscow (United Press)—With every day the struggle in the Soviet Union for the speedy suppression of all private trade and work—including the private farms of over 100,000,000 peasants—is becoming more desperate and embittered.

The Bolshevik leaders in the Kremlin are in a fighting mood. Faced by almost superhuman tasks and enormous resistance, they have swung back to the tightlipped unflinching mood of 1917-1920, when they successfully fought off civil uprisings, White armies and foreign invaders. Now, as then, the end justified all means and the resultant spectacle is not for squeamish natures.

In the urban centers the struggle is comparatively easy. The Nipmen (private tradesmen) offer almost no resistance. By the hundreds and thousands their shops are closing down. They are taxed out of existence, simply told to move, or made so uncomfortable that they are happy to clear out as quickly and as unobtrusively as possible. Even the tiny improvised private stalls in the markets are being taken over by government and co-operative organizations.

The process of socialization has already engulfed the lawyers, who are practically forbidden to engage in private practice. Physicians, too, are being effectively barred from private practice. Other so-called free professions will have their freedom strictly regulated by the government. At the same time a registration of engineers and other technical specialists is under way as the first step toward what will amount to a quasi-military draft for work wherever their specialized ability may be needed.

Thus the entire urban population, in one way or another, is being placed under the direct control and at the disposal of the State.

But an even more startling program is being put into effect in relation to the great Russian peasantry. The original plan for the five-year term beginning in October, 1928, called for 25 percent of "socialized" farming by the end of 1932. The revised plans now being pushed to a finish call for almost 100 percent.

In simpler terms, the Soviet government in the next three years proposes to abolish private farming just as it has abolished private trading. Huge grain-growing districts like Northern Caucasus and Lower Volga must be entirely socialized by next autumn; the whole grain producing acreage of the Soviet Union by autumn 1931. The peasant and all his possessions in land or livestock or machinery is being merged with his neighbors in co-operative or government farms.

In effect the Soviet regime is turning the whole peasantry, heretofore a class of small private owners, into proletarians. Just as the urban workers are employed in State or co-operative factories, or mines and offices, so the agriculture workers will be employed by State or co-operative farms.

"And O'er His Heart A SHADOW FELL," (Edgar Allan Poe, 1809-1849)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW* By refraining from over-indulgence

Men who would keep that trim, proper form, women who prize the modern figure with its subtle, seductive curves—eat healthfully but not immoderately. Banish excessiveness—eliminate abuses. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. When tempted to excess, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a LUCKY instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking LUCKY STRIKE Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a LUCKY" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.
