The annual inspection of auto and tourist camps in Marion county will commence as soon as H. E. Sinks, county sanitary inspector, completes his investigations of reported nuisances. Last year 37 camps were inspected and showed a high average rating. Some confusion was caused last year by the inspection of the auto camps by the state sanitary inspector following their rating by the county health unit, the two health offices using different markings. It is probable that the local health officers will consider the system of marking used by the state officers when the camps are inspected this spring.

BOB HENDRICKS MENTIONED FOR MAYOR OF CITY

There was a possibility Friday that R. J. Hendricks, former editor and publisher of the Statesman, and who is now census enumerator for the district, would enter the contest for the mayoralty of Salem. When questioned about it Mr. Hendricks said that quite a number of people had broached the matter to him. He said he was not inclined to be a candidate, and would not want to be unless there was a general sentiment in the community favoring his entering the race. He declared that under no circumstance would he go in as a factional candidate, and that if he were mayor he would try to be a mayor for all the people.

"It is time," he said, "for city officials to get away from small stuff and factionalism and begin working together for the general good. As for the water system I think the city ought to buy it and quit talking about it."

He said he favored a change in the system of city government, and was inclined to favor some managerial form.

He emphasized that he had given little thought to the matter of running for mayor, and that the possibility had originated in the minds of others. He would have little time to give to a campaign, he said. It was rumored Friday that neither S. E. Purvine nor B. B. Herrick would be candidates for re-election as alderman. Purvine said he had not yet decided and that it would depend largely on who else enters the race in his ward. Mr. Herrick could not be located.

EYERLY TO TEST NEW PLANE HERE SUNDAY HE SAYS

Flying tests of the new Lee Moupin No. 4, recently completed by Lee U. Eyerly, president of the Eyerly Aircraft Corporation, will be made Sunday at the Salem municipal airport, Eyerly announced Friday.

The new ship, the fourth of a design worked out by Eyerly embodying the soundest known principles in aircraft construction, has followed the same general lines of his previous models, but includes some new features intended to add greater safety, air navigation as well as ground contacts.

Some increase in scale, particularly wingspread and fuselage dimensions was made, and structural strength was greatly increased by using welded chromium steel tubing tested to 150,000 pounds per square inch resistance.

A newly perfected Eyerly landing gear has also been added for greater comfort and safety in landings and take-offs.

The new craft is powered with a Siemens-Halsky seven-cylinder radial motor, of 100 horsepower capacity. While speed of the ship will not be definitely known until tried out under actual flying conditions, Eyerly expects a maximum speed of at least 115 miles per hour, and a cruising speed of 90 to 100 miles per hour.

Test flights have been held up pending arrival of magnet parts for the motor, which is of German make. However, adjustments have been made which Eyerly says will permit him to go ahead with the test Sunday.

The afternoon hours should prove best for the trials, he said.

Jess Bracke, for nearly 10 years gardener at the home of Miss Sally Bush on Mission street, has returned from a six months trip through the middle west including Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Oklahoma, the Texas Panhandle, New Mexico, Arizona and California. Williams Sounds Off On Manhole Keynote In Mayoralty Fight

When bigger and better manholes are made, he will see that Salem has them, Newell Williams, self-styled "candidate for mayor" pledged the Lions club Friday noon during a "political rally" that had all the earmarks of any old time celebration. In outlining his 13-point platform Williams added that he wanted covers to fit the manholes. Rifles on the political sea were fanned into waves when W. W. Rosebraugh, introduced as an actual candidate for mayor, on a platform of "changing the lid on Salem" took exception to Williams' remark, holding that it was a frame-up and that Williams had the house packed.

Other of the political speakers were M. Clifford Moylan, introduced as the man with the Irish name who changed his pronunciation to garner in the Jewish vote; Mark McCallister, state corporation commissioner, who spoke "in behalf of the appointive officers of the state"; and Senator Lloyd T. Reynolds, introduced on a platform of "political value of a conscience fund". Before closing the meeting Williams asserted that if elected he would see that the "street pumpkins" were removed, even if he had to equip all sparrows with "steel beaks". Hopes of an early election were expressed by Williams in a tenor solo, "Ten Thousand Years from Now Until Our Dreams Come True."

Posthume Angerson, the Swedish ambassador, was the principal speaker and stood revealed as Mike Rank at the close of his address. Special music was provided by Billy Brasau and his orchestra also specialty numbers offered by Dick Stearns, piano accordion; Bill DeSouza, saxophone; Dick Rorem, tap dancing and Bobby and Eleanor Brasau in songs.

The juvenile entertainers were led by William Carde moving picture cameraman, with Archie Holt, manager of the Bligh Capitol theater, took moving pictures of the club members.

REISSBACK HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Oliver Reissback was bound over to await the action of the Marion county grand jury by Judge Brazer Small after a preliminary hearing in justice court Friday. Reissback was arrested last Tuesday on complaint of Dan Sheets who claims the former struck him over the head with a bottle after Reissback had entered his place of business on Mill street and used vulgar language in the presence of his wife.

Testimony brought out at the hearing tended to show that Sheets tried to argue Reissback into leaving the store in a peaceable manner, but finally had to lead him toward the door. It was just after the pair passed through the door that Reissback is said to have used the bottle on Sheets. Reissback was under the influence of liquor at the time of the row.

BANKERS CLOSE PORTLAND MEET

Portland (AP)—More than 600 bankers from six western states, here to attend the Pacific northwest bank management conference, had disbanded Friday and were returning to their respective homes. The meeting, which ended Thursday, was characterized by Frank W. Simmonds of New York, deputy manager of the American Bankers Association, as the "high water mark for American bank conferences." States which participated in the conference were Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Wyoming. California, although not officially represented, had several bankers in attendance, among them Arthur H. Oliver, vice president of the Wells Fargo Bank & Union Trust company of San Francisco, who was enthusiastic in complimenting northwest bankers for their enterprise and attendance.

PARRISH ASKS TIME TO PLEAD

When R. L. Parrish was brought before Judge Brazer Small in justice court Friday for arraignment on a charge of larceny of public funds, he asked time in which to enter a plea. Bail was fixed at $2000 which Parrish failed to furnish. He was returned to the county jail.

Parrish was returned to Salem Thursday from Bellingham, Wash., where he was placed under arrest. He is accused of taking money belonging to the state tuberculosis hospital fund.

HUG TO PASS UPON FREE TEXT MEASURE

An opinion of the bill for public owned text-books, which will be placed on the November ballot by the Oregon congress of parents and teachers, has been requested of Superintendent George W. Hug. Hug's reaction to the question, and if favorable, what type of a bill he would consider most effective, is sought by the headquarters of the state organization, which is asking the same opinion of educational leaders throughout the state.

The Oregon congress of parents and teachers will use the survey results to decide whether they will sponsor a bill in which a general state millage tax will be used to raise funds for the free text books, or a permissive district tax or a mandatory district tax as alternative suggestions.

Demurrers have been filed by the attorney general in three of the cases attacking validity of the new intangibles tax law, the three complaints hit by the present demurrers being brought by Conrad Hindlaub, E. A. Miller and Frank Kierman. All of the demurrers state the complaints are not present sufficient facts to constitute cause of suit.

The supreme court has sent to the lower court for Multnomah county a mandate in the case of the state on relation of Mary LaFollett against Charles E. LaFollett. LaFollett, member of the lower house of the state legislature during the past two sessions, from Washington county, was held guilty in the lower court for contempt of court when he failed to comply with an order that he pay $75 a month alimony, $75 costs and $50 attorney's fees. This decree was affirmed by the supreme court, and the mandating down of the mandate. LaFollett must either comply with the order or go to jail.

Recent rumors that the Western Petroleum company was to invade the Salem field, with their casing and partially drilled wells, was confirmed Thursday when a representative of the company was here looking into the city ordinances governing wholesale gasoline companies. It was indicated that the concern would not establish a distributing plant here but would bring their product from Portland in trucks.

MILLER SILENT ON LETTER SENT BY GOVERNOR

Frank J. Miller, chairman of the state public service commission, said Friday that he had not received the commission's letter instructing the commission to give every assistance possible to the city of Portland and its rate experts in their investigations of street car fares in Portland.

Mr. Miller declined to comment on the governor's letter until he had received and had an opportunity to study it.

Portland (AP)—Governor Norblad late Thursday, in a letter to Frank J. Miller, chairman of the public service commission, requested that the commission give every assistance to the city of Portland and its rate experts in the fight to reduce 10 cent street car fares.

Without mentioning James W. Carey and Kenneth Harlan, the rate experts by name, the governor referred strongly to Miller's statement that the commission would not co-operate with Carey and Harlan while they are making a valuation of the street railway property.

Governor Norblad declared in the letter that "personal feelings, likes and dislikes have no place in the performance of a public duty," and asked that Miller offer to the rate experts access to all public service records which are engaged in making the valuation.

COURT ORDERS ROAD SURVEYED

The county court Friday ordered a survey on a county road desired by W. B. Bown and others south of Gervais near Parkersburg, and also ordered a survey on a road desired by Ingeborg Brothen and others near West Woodburn. The application for a gateway across private land of Mrs. R. P. Nye in Ankeny bottom was continued as was the applications of the Southwestern Pacific and others for vacation of a part of First street in Brooks. A remonstrance has been filed against this application and the court will make a personal investigation of the situation before passing on the petition.

County Commissioner Porter and Roadmaster Johnson spent Friday morning at the request of E. Z. Knuffmann, road patrolman, going east of Gervais in his district and also went upon the market road from Silverton toward Silver Falls. Decision was reached to take rock for further improvement on this road the coming summer from the Oeder quarry instead of from the Albiqua quarry which was used last year.

NORBLAD TIRED OF GAME SCRAPS

Portland (AP)—That the turmoil which periodically attaches to the state fish and game administration, which has recently become active in spring each gubernatorial campaign is most annoying to him, was indicated Friday by Governor Norblad.

The executive declared himself tired of seeing fish and game, the "football" of politics disgusted with the discord that prevails between the fish and game devotees and between the commercial and sportsman's interests.

CORVALLIS DEBATE TEAMS IN FINALS WILL SHAPE PLANS FOR CONFERENCE

Final plans for the 18th annual Oregon Older Girl's conference to be held in Salem April 4 to 6 will be made at a mass meeting of delegates from all local churches working under the direction of Mrs. Jean M. Johnson of Portland. The mass meeting will be held Sunday at 3 o'clock in the Presbyterian church, where the state conference in April will also be held.

Committees have been appointed by Muriel White, chairman of the Salem girls, to work in the various churches. Mrs. W. A. Schultz, chairman of the housing committee, will have general supervision of caring for more than 600 girls expected for the state conference. Miss Daphne Hughes of Roseburg is president of the conference and Miss Clyrol Hallock of Portland is secretary.

MURDERS WIFE AND NEGRO PHYSICIAN

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Leo Darnbinski, 24, shot and killed his wife and Dr. J. L. Curtis, 47, a negro physician, early Friday when he returned home from an errand for medicine on which the physician had sent him.

Mrs. Darnbinski, 26, was the mother of three children and expecting a fourth. Dr. Curtis was 47 years old and married. After the killing Darnbinski called police and surrendered.

Jealousy apparently was the motive.

PLOW CLEARING ROAD OF SLIDE IN FINE SHAPE

"The bulldozer snow plow clearing the debris from the slide on the Breitenbach road was a revelation to us," said County Engineer Stuart in commenting on the visit of himself and other county and federal forest officials to that section of the country this week where the new district plow was put on the task of clearing the road into the springs from a heavy slide.

"Engineer Flynn of the forest service and myself figured that the plow cleared the road of over 100 cubic yards of dirt in less than 3 hours or at a rate of around nine cents a yard. And the dirt included a heavy percentage of boulders, some of them three or four feet across and of great weight. By hand power the work of clearing the boulders alone would have been a heavy task as some of them would have been extremely difficult to handle, while the plow pushed them off the road as though they were marbles.

"We figure a man can get away with about a cubic yard of dirt a day and it would have taken one man 10 days to have cleared off the road steady work if it had been all dirt. Yet one man couldn't have handled the boulders. It would have taken a good sized crew. A steam shovel also would have been up against a hard job on this piece of work. The district up there surely needed this equipment as there are frequent slides and heavy snows in the winter, but this little piece of machinery will handle them. I am sure of that after watching it in action. It will pay for itself in a hurry."

CHURCH WOMEN PICK MRS. ROSS

Mrs. G. Ed Ross, of the Calvary Baptist church, was elected president of the Salem council of church women at their business session Friday morning in the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Ross succeeds Mrs. E. E. Nissen as head of the organization.

Miss McDowell of the First Christian church was chosen as vice-president. Mrs. Clarence Byrd, of the American Lutheran women's organization, was re-elected secretary, and Mrs. T. S. McKenzie of the First Presbyterian church was re-elected treasurer. Mrs. Melvin Johnson will continue as chairman of the Japanese work sponsored by the council.

The forenoon session was devoted to the election of officers, adopting a revised constitution, and to reports. The financial report showed a most successful condition with a balance of more than $200 on hand and with each church group contributing almost twice what they did in 1928.

The report of Rev. Niwa of the Japanese church at Lake Labish was given during the afternoon session. The church is supported by the local council, which includes representatives of every woman's organization in all Protestant churches in Salem.

The afternoon program was given by women of the First Christian church in observance of the world day of prayer.

GAS WAR TIGHTENS Portland (AP)—A gradual leveling down in the retail price of gasoline from 17 1/2 cents to 16 1/2 cents a gallon at Portland's warrent service stations was evident here Friday.

TRIPLE SLAYER TO PAY BEFORE FIRING SQUAD

Farmington, Utah (AP)—Delbert Green, 21, confessed triple slayer, must face the firing squad to repay society for the deaths of his wife, Mrs. Gladys Green, 18, her mother, Mrs. James Green, and her stepfather and his own uncle, James Green.

A jury Thursday night found him guilty of first degree murder, and the verdict, not recommending leniency, automatically carries the death sentence, which will be pronounced by Judge Eugene Pratt, March 15.

In Utah, persons convicted of murder and sentenced to die, are given the choice of facing the firing squad or hanging. Only one has chosen to hang.

Green executed his triple killing the night of January 4, after he had had a quarrel with his wife. He entered the home of James Green, to which his wife had fled, and, without warning, shot his uncle, then went to a bedroom and killed his wife, and her mother. He was specifically charged with the killing of James Green.

The defense bases its case on an insanity plea. Two physicians, testifying for the defense, expressed the belief that the youth was sane, and that the killings had been premeditated.

TAXI OPERATOR SAYS KLETZING FRAMED ON HIM

Tacoma, Wash. (AP)—Charged that he was "framed" by L. M. Kletzing, former Chehalis deputy sheriff, marked the testimony of Tom La Belle, Centralia taxi man testifying in his own defense during his trial in federal court on liquor sale and possession charges.

La Belle charged that Kletzing, without stating his authority, attempted to search him in a Centralia poolhall lavatory and knocked him down when he resisted. The defendant asserted that Kletzing after the encounter produced a bottle from his own pocket which he told by name, and had come from La Belle. Richard Johnson, Centralia lawyer and defense witness, testified to having heard the pool room struggle and to have heard Kletzing say, "I'll shoot you Tom, if you don't get up." The case is expected to reach the jury late Friday.

Kletzing is a brother of Ralph Kletzing, of Salem
