

MAIDEN TRIP OF NEW PLANE IS SUCCESS

"A trim craft" was the verdict of the 2600 or more Salem residents who visited the Salem Municipal airport Sunday to inspect the new Lee Monoplane designed and built by Lee U. Eyerly, and to watch its maiden voyage into the air.

Clad in flying togs and parachute, Eyerly, who is president of the Eyerly Aircraft corporation and superintendent of the city's new $50,000 airport, spent half an hour in the air alone putting the monoplane through its paces before taking aboard an observer.

With the observer in the two-place passenger cabin the ship took off down the field and at the western boundary of the airport, approximately 1500 feet from where the landing gear last touched the ground, had climbed nearly 600 feet, a remarkable performance for any type of aircraft. It carried 40 gallons of gasoline in the tanks, enough for approximately eight hours in the air.

Eyerly demonstrated the monoplane's air worthiness by flying in a straight course with the controls entirely free, and again in sharply banked circles in the same manner after the ship had been set on a desired course.

Two additional feet of wingspread and other improvements in the design line of the new plane its remarkable performing powers, Eyerly said, and the elements of safety have been greatly increased with the addition of heavier special hollow steel welded tube frame and new Lee landing gear.

The fuselage, wings and struts are finished in silver grey, with the same idea prevailing in the cowling and hood of the airplane, a special aluminum product for use in airplane manufacture. The passenger cabin is finished in a rich gray figured upholstery, with aluminum seat and rest, well cushioned. The plane is powered with a 100 h. p. motor and has a cruising speed of 60 to 100 miles per hour and a maximum of 115 miles per hour.

William Carde, of the Centograph film company, took moving pictures of the ship, the airport and the hundreds of persons who visited it, which will be included in the 2000 foot travelogue of Salem to be shown at Bligh's Capitol theater Friday and Saturday of this week.

NEW LAUNDRY PLANT COMING

Contracts have been signed by the Austin company, nation-wide building concern, for the construction of a 100x100-foot $35,000 laundry building at Gaines street and Broadway for the Capital City Laundry company, according to announcement of F. H. Pilsater, Portland manager for the Austin company.

Work will start the first of next month, he said. The building will be so located that it can expand later in two directions. The present plant will be set back. R. H. and T. A. Windshar are the owners of the laundry company, which also operates in other western Oregon cities.

YWCA CONFERENCE WEEK END FEATURE

Independence—A Y. W. C. A. conference was held over the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Parker, this city, for the newly elected officers and cabinet members of the Y. W. C. A. association. The conference began at noon and continued throughout Sunday. Miss Ann Silver of Tacoma, Wash., president of the Y. W. C. A. National Student council, was the principal speaker. Others assisting were Mrs. Danni, Mrs. Atwood, Miss Gertrude Sues, Mrs. Whitelaw, all members of the Y. W. C. A. advisory board of Corvallis.

Mrs. Homer Dixon, teacher of English in the local high school, and who was president of the association at the U. of O. during her senior year, assisted Mrs. Parker with the conference arrangements.

WILD LIFE BREAD LINE
Glacier Park, Mont., (UP)—The government's "bread line" in Glacier Park has been one of the most popular animal rendezvous in the Rocky Mountain region. Here it was that hunger reduced animals of all kinds to a common level; here it was that internecine strife was foregone in the desire to obtain food. Among the patrons of the government dole were weasels, mink, crows, blue jays, mountain sheep, deer, bear, magpies and other birds and animals.

HARTLEY URGES PROSECUTION OF STATE AUDITOR

Olympia, Wash. (UP)—Criminal prosecution of C. A. Clausen, state auditor and his nephew, Clarence L. Clausen, for alleged misuse of the state payroll was demanded Monday by Governor Rolland H. Hartley.

The governor called upon W. J. Milroy, prosecuting attorney of Thurston county, to "prosecute with vigor and dispatch" those responsible for the alleged issuance of payroll warrants to C. L. Clausen for salary as assistant accountant in the auditor's office when such services were not rendered.

Gross misdemeanor charges were suggested by Hartley, in quoting section 2334, of Remington's compiled statutes, which reads, "every public officer who shall employ or use any person or property under his official control or direction, or in his official custody, for the private benefit or gain of himself or another, shall be guilty of a gross misdemeanor."

John H. Dunbar, attorney general, was directed in a second letter to confer at once with Milroy and assist in every way possible with prosecution of the case.

"Your repeated failures to do your sacred duty by the people of this state give me little hope that you will make any effort to protect their rights in this flagrant violation of law," Governor Hartley said in his letter to Dunbar.

"However, I am complying with your evasive suggestion and forwarding to prosecuting attorney Milroy a copy of this letter together with the facts of the case. I direct you to at once confer with Milroy and to assist him in every way possible with the vigorous prosecution of these law violations."

Auditor Clausen, who will soon be 70 years of age, returned from a three months' trip to southern California late Friday, and Monday began his own investigation into the circumstances surrounding the alleged illegal payment of the payroll warrants to his nephew. He said the amount involved was less than $275 rather than $525, because his nephew was entitled to an annual vacation in December and had not been paid for February, leaving but part of December and part of January in doubt.

The tourists are members of the alumni of St. Mary's College and are making the journey in response to an invitation from Anton Lang, who three times portrayed the role of Jesus in the play.

POULTRYMEN PROTEST PLANES
Ontario, Calif. (UP)—When planes fly low over Ontario poultry yards, hens filing themselves against chicken-yard fences, often causing death, and resulting in serious inroads on egg production. The hens have even stopped laying in some instances, according to the poultrymen, who have protested against March field cadets flying in the vicinity.

Brussels (P)—Horse meat is becoming increasingly popular in Belgian industrial centers, largely because of a rise in the cost of living. In Charleroi 3,330 horses and only 300 oxen were killed for food last year.

HOP CONTRACTS CALL FOR 14 AND 16 CENT PRICES

While it is estimated around about 1000 prospective bales of hops are covered in contracts made the past few days by the Wolf Hop company of Portland and A. J. Ray company on a three year basis at 14 cents for 1930, 16 cents for 1931 and 18 cents for 1932, as near as can be learned there is no immediate contemplation of any such contracting on a general scale.

And with these contracts popping up there has been some spot sales of poorer as well as better quality of hops. Livesley company has taken in 27 bales from Romeo Goulet at 5 cents; 82 bales from Crosby of Woodburn at 5 cents; 69 bales from George Gatchet at Silverton at 7 cents and 100 bales of fine hops from Homer Goulet at 8 1/2 cents. Homer Goulet still has around 127 bales left. Other options are said to be out at around 5 and 6 cents on some pretty good sized lots in the aggregate with some an low as 4 1/2 cents but these are all on poor quality stuff.

Independence—Two lots of hops were contracted here last week by the Wolf Hop company in which A. W. Crocker sold 30,000 pounds for three years and E. H. Hoover 30,000 for one year and 30,000 for two years at 14 cents for the first year and 16 cents for the next two years.

Hoover had a previous contract for 40,000 pounds for 1930 at a much higher figure with the same company. A. J. Ray & Son have been contracting with other growers in this vicinity at the same figures.

400 ARE SICK AND TOT IS DEAD

Oklahoma City, Okla. (UP)—Doubt arose in the minds of city and county health officers here Monday regarding the strange paralysis which has made sick more than 400 men and boys.

The paralysis had been diagnosed as liquor poisoning shortly after victims were overcome but when a little four year old girl died Sunday from the same symptoms officials said they doubted whether their diagnosis was correct.

The girl suffered from paralysis of the lower limbs and died from convulsions. She was the daughter of Andrew Roberts. Her parents said she had no liquor. Officials said the men were taken ill from drinking "jake," a drink of Jamaica ginger sold here in blind pigs and in bootleg places.

Physicians attending the men said their condition was little changed and otherwise refused to comment regarding the disease.

ACCIDENT SURVEY MADE
Lincoln, Neb. (UP)—While representing but a small percentage of the total accident toll in Nebraska, it is estimated grade crossing crashes cost the state a total of nearly $500,000 annually, the state rehabilitation department states.

During the past 35 weeks, over which period a survey has been made, there have been an average of two motor vehicle accidents per week at railway crossings in the state.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchitis. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money is refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

OREGON FACTS WORTH KNOWING

by W. G. Ide, Manager Oregon State Chamber of Commerce

Fruit canning is one of Oregon's major industries. In all sections of the state canneries are found which give employment to thousands of people and furnish a market for the products of the orchards. In 1929, Oregon canned 2,634,837 cases of fruits worth about $20,000,000. Thousands of cases of Oregon canned goods are exported to practically every foreign country. One of the new developments in this line is the cold-pack process, whereby fruits are mixed in a sugar-solution

GANDHI ARMY IS ON MARCH

Bombay (UP)—The advance guard of Mahatma Gandhi's rebel-pilgrims, who will begin their campaign of civil disobedience to Great Britain's rule of India on Wednesday, already is on the march, Gandhi's headquarters here announced Monday.

Passing through villages between Ahmadabad and Borad, the route of Gandhi's pilgrimage, a party of Indian nationalists is completing arrangements for care of the little "army." Gandhi will start with between 60 and 75 fellow workers, and "one horse to carry the sick."

At Borad it is Gandhi's intention to refine salt in defiance of the British tax. Salt has been an English government monopoly ever since the vice-royalty of Warren Hastings, and has now become one of the major issues in Gandhi's campaign.

Gandhi predicts he and his followers will be arrested, but urged thousands of his followers to carry on the program if he is forced from his active leadership.

Hopkins in 1885 reveals that an antique oak, burl panel dresser could be bought for $1.98; a three piece bedroom suit, solid oak, for $11.98; a square top, solid oak center table for 99 cents and a collection of ten pieces of furniture, from carpets to window shades for $12.97. The circular advised young unmarried men to take advantage of the opportunity.

ARTICLE STIRS MEMORIES IN WIGGIN'S MIND

A historical article about Dodge City, Kans., appearing in the current Saturday Evening Post, arouses memories in the mind of Don Wiggins of Salem.

One of the pictures accompanying the article shows the first church at Dodge City. Wiggins says this was a Baptist church. His grandfather was its second pastor and his parents were married in the church.

Wiggins was born on Boot Hill, so named because of the many gun-fighters and outlaws who died with their boots on and were buried on that hill in frontier days. The Wiggins house was just half a block from the burial place of these notorious characters. The father of Don Wiggins, also living in Salem, remembers that when the basement was being excavated for a high school building 40 or 50 of the bodies were removed. This incident is mentioned in the Saturday Evening Post article.

"Most of the old timers have passed on," Wiggins says. "The grass waves over the Santa Fe trail, and the buffalo wallows have been plowed over until no trace remains. Just memories."

Wiggins draws a sharp distinction between the words "gunfighter" and "gunman." He himself has a reputation as a gunman, though not in the sense the word was then used or is now used in Chicago. Don has a famous collection of guns, and is an expert for Adventure Magazine. All inquiries or discussions relative to firearms that reach that periodical are referred to the Salem man for authoritative comment.
