

SALVAGING OF ANCIENT GALLEY SOON FINISHED

Rome, (AP)—The upper part of the second Neul galley is now a couple of feet above the water, and should be high and dry by the end of the summer. Speculation is rife as to what treasures of antique times may be brought to light, but professor Antonicelli, who is director in chief of the salvage work, is inclined to be cautious in his estimate of possible discoveries. His divers have already explored the galley which lies in about 15 or 17 feet of water. The bottom of the lake at this point is very muddy and the movements of the divers are up the mud, making it difficult to see clearly the condition of the ancient vessel.

The divers' reports, however, confirm what was already feared that extensive plundering of the galley took place from remote time right up to the last century. The Romans, it is now known for a practical certainty, sank the galleys themselves in the lake when they had ceased to be used as religious rites and the amusement of the emperors. This is proved by the finding of holes in the bottoms of the galleys and the presence of great masses of stones in the holds.

THIRD DIMENSION MOVIES NEXT HERE

Third dimension pictures, long anticipated dream of the movie industry, will be a step nearer for Salem theater audiences when installation of third dimension type lamps in the picture projectors at Elgin's Capitol theater are completed Friday. The installation, expected to be finished in time for the premier showings of the 4,000 foot travelogue of Salem industries, schools, service clubs, state offices and officers, and the municipal airport, will represent an investment of $3,000. Additional improvements included a new silver screen curtain operated automatically from the operator's booth, and redecoration of the theater lobby and mezzanine representing an additional cost of $1,500.

The new lamps will enable the observer to see more deeply into the background, giving the picture more depth, although the ultimate goal in this direction will not have been reached until a new lens now being developed has been completed, according to Archie B. Holt, manager of the theater.

The lamps will be a considerable improvement over the old type carbon arcs. Of 100 ampere capacity, use of them necessitated complete re-wiring of the iron-clad projection booth. The intense heat developed also required installation of ventilating and cooling motor driven fans to prevent burning the film when it passes through the projector.

Sylvania is trying to develop its industries.

FORMER NEIGHBORS MEET AFTER YEARS

Brush Creek—Mrs. O. S. Haug has as her house guest Mrs. Jenny Rumann of Bryant, South Dakota. Mrs. Haug and Mrs. Rumann are old time friends and neighbors of South Dakota but have not seen each other for the past 26 years.

Recently Mrs. Rumann has been visiting in California. She arrived in Salem Wednesday morning. Hauges met her there and brought her on to Brush Creek. She will spend some time visiting here before going to Seattle and then on to her home.

MOTOR CRUISER RACE APRIL 24

San Francisco (UP)—More than 12 fast motor cruisers will race from Long Beach to San Francisco as one of the featured events in the Pacific Coast Boat show, to be held next week. The second annual in the Exposition auditorium April 23 to 30, inclusive.

Plans for the race are well under way with the Long Beach Yacht club in charge. Already eight tentative entries have been received from southern California and four San Francisco bay yachtsmen have signified their intention of entering their craft.

Details of the race were perfected during the past week when Charles Tripler, president of the Associated Boat Industries of Northern California, sponsors of the show, Frederick Weddleton, show manager, and John C. Piver, Jr., San Francisco yachtsman, went to Long Beach to confer with the executive board of the Long Beach club, headed by D. M. Callis.

The race is scheduled to start from Long Beach at 10 a. m. Thursday, April 24, finishing off the St. Francis Yacht club Saturday, April 26. It will be run over a course of 446 nautical miles in three laps, the first from Long Beach to Santa Barbara, the second from Santa Barbara to Monterey and the third from Monterey to San Francisco.

There will be three handsome trophies awarded in each of the two classes, in addition to the $1000 Lipton trophy, to be presented by the Associated Boat Industries.

LANDING FIELD OF FUTURE TO BE UP IN AIR

Oakland, Cal. (UP)—Aviators of the future will land on giant air mattresses, several hundred feet in circumference and 25 feet thick, which will float 2000 feet above the ground, if the invention of Harry Clayton Bellville of Oakland is adopted.

They will then be lowered to the ground, or to the top of a building by means of a huge electric winding machine at the rate of 3000 feet a minute.

Bellville has just obtained patents for his "upstairs landing field," which would be made of heavy canvas of several layers and inflated so as to be hard as a pneumatic tire. It would be supported by a dozen or more balloon-like gas containers of tubular shape. Running from the edges of the "field" would be a web of heavy wire cables tapering downward, funnel-like, to a single heavy cable anchored to the winding machine.

A patent stabilizer has been devised by Bellville to hold the "field" at a predetermined angle and the winding machine would be equipped with an automatic tension adjuster to take up and pay out cable slack and keep the field at a constant altitude.

The new device would cost about $35,000 to construct, according to Bellville, who plans to attempt to interest Col. Charles Lindbergh and the Guggenheim Foundation in his flying mattress.

MARRIED WOMEN NOT BUSY ENOUGH, CLAIM

Santa Barbara, Calif. (UP)—Modern married women are so idle that they have little to do but think of marital discontent, Dr.

V. G. Hamilton, psychologist, declared from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian church here.

There are two things fundamentally wrong with marriage today, he said. One is the abrupt easement of the housewife's duties accompanied by an increase in the breadwinner's burden.

The other is the demand that marriage stand or fall on its own merits as a relationship which is intellectually, emotionally and physically satisfying.

"Fifty years ago the wife was a necessity as a helpmate to her husband," Dr. Hamilton said. Today she is something of a luxury, whose idleness leads to marital discontent and accounts for a large percentage of the increase in the divorce rate.

Who Pays Your Bills?

Practically every business and professional man in Salem depends upon Salem earned dollars for his very business or professional existence, and yet — Some of the wives of these leaders of our community prosperity thoughtlessly send thousands of these Salem earned dollars away from Salem every month by patronizing the chain stores! Send them to St. Louis, Chicago, New York and Wall street chain store owners, for food, for clothing. Can Salem afford this? Can you afford to be disloyal to your source of income? Dr. Kerr, in a recent speech said: "Buy Oregon made goods!" He could have added, and patronize Merchants who spend their profits at home! Think it over folks!
