The Salem ball club of the Willamette Valley league got off to an auspicious start Sunday afternoon when the Senators defeated the Albany Alcos at Olinger field, 9 to 4. The game, which proved a fair exhibition, considering it was the first of the 1930 season, was witnessed by approximately 500 persons.

Falling on the slants of Fortier, Albany pitcher, in the first three innings, the locals pounded out eight hits for a like number of runs. Beams took the mound for the visitors at the start of the fourth and succeeded in holding the Senators to one lone tally in the fourth. After that the lanky twirler from the Hub city held the Senators to two lone hits and no runs.

The Senators scored four runs in the first inning. Ted Girod went to first via the free route and was advanced to second on Paul Girod's sacrifice and scored a moment later on L. Girod's single into center. Angst, left fielder for Salem, playing his first game for the Senators, tripled into left field and scored shortly afterwards on a wild pitch. Steiger struck out and Luke Gill hit a two bagger into center. Gill stole third and scored when J. Strittmater dropped Favors' pop fly. Edwards fanned for the third out.

Salem scored in the second when Jones went to first on a single, advanced to second on Ted Girod's single, went to third on Paul Girod's sacrifice and reached home on L. Girod's sacrifice fly.

Three more runs came in during the third inning. Steiger singled to left and Gill popped out to J. Strittmater. Favors singled into center with Steiger going to third. Favors went to third when Edwards smacked out a two bagger. Favors then scored and Jones was safe at first when Patterson dropped the Salem pitcher's fly. Edwards taking third. Frisco scored on Ted Girod's sacrifice fly.

The last score of the day for Salem was made by L. Girod. He singled, stole second and scored on Angst's drive into center. Albany went down in order during the first three innings, not a man reaching first. In the fourth inning, J. Strittmater singled, went to second on Wilkinson's single and scored while Salem was chalking up a double play against Wilkinson and D. Strittmater.

Russell, who relieved Jones on the mound was touched up for two hits in the seventh. This brace of two baggers, together with two walks, gave Albany three runs. Nance, the first man up walked. He went out at second on a fielder's choice play, with Beams safely on first. Hayne was given a pass to first. Fortier put one into the center field for two bases, scoring Beams and Hayne. J. Strittmater flew out to Steiger while Fortier scored on Wilkinson's two ply walk into center.

A light rain fell through part of the game but did not interfere with playing. The box score:

Night Baseball Proves Success

Boxing Heads Recommend Change in Rules; Ambling Alp to Get Fight Money

San Francisco (UP)—Whether Primo Carnera, Italian heavyweight, can ever again enter a prize fight ring in California, will probably be decided Monday when the state athletic commission holds a special session.

A report calling for revocation of Carnera's license in this state will be submitted to Commissioners James Wood and William Hanson, by Commissioner Charles Traune, who had charge of the investigation which followed the Carnera "Bombo" Chevalier fight, which ended abruptly in the sixth round when a Chevalier second tossed in a towel.

Further recommendations of Traune's report are for the suspension of Bob Perry, the second who tossed in his towel, suspension of Robert Laga, another Chevalier second, and suspension of Frank Churchill, Carnera's western representative.

A change in the rulings, to prevent further fiascos, such as the Carnera fight was generally conceded to be, will be recommended by Traune, who will suggest that step stop a fight, a second must step into the ring, and signal the referee, instead of tossing in the sponge.

It is not believed that the fighter's purses—$13,000 for Carnera, and $1500 for Chevalier, will be held up. Current belief is that the two other commissioners will concur with Traune's recommendations and that California has seen the first and last fight of the "ambling Alp."

Close games and big crowds featured the start of the second season for the Cascade ball league which swung into action Sunday.

Mill City defeated Jefferson 1 to 0 on the latter's diamond. This game was a contest between a seasoned groundsman, J. Myers, a former Salem Senator hurler and Cleve Hampton, pitching his first league game for Jefferson. No long hits were made off either pitcher, while Jefferson turned in three fast double plays. We expected to see Frisco Edwards in the seventh to catch the first three innings, and it was not until the fourth did Albany get a man on first. J. Strittmater and Wilkinson each secured a single in that stanza.

Wilkinson's throw to first in the seventh to catch the first three innings, and it was not until the fourth did Albany get a man on first. J. Strittmater and Wilkinson each secured a single in that stanza.

George Wilhelm, the genial banker from Harrisburg and president of the circuit, donned a cap and swished over the first pitched ball. The prey's effort was a real hooker, which almost got by the plate.

Luke Gill took his high school boys out to the penitentiary Saturday. All of them were allowed to come back into town despite the fact they clouted the prison pitcher's offerings all over the back yard.

A wise crack from the gallery at Sunday's game: "The census report shows 10 men missing from Albany; all of them must have been ball players." This statement occurred along in the second inning. During the closing part of the contest, the Alcos resembled a ball club. Beams had a great deal to do with that, however.

Beams looked as if he was going to hit his left foot every time he made a delivery, but fortunately the extremity was pulled down each time before a casualty occurred.

Frisco's statement that he had a ball club this year, apparently was no wild rumor. All players looked well in their positions, even though Edwards went to sleep three or four feet off first base.

Arthur and Lena Shake Hands and Bury the Hatchet

Chicago (AP)—Baseball's boxing act has broken up— for Arthur (The Great) Shires and Russell (Lena) Blackburne are just a pair of buddies now.

When the St. Louis Browns, with whom the former White Sox pilot now serves as coach, came to Chicago for a series with the Sox the erstwhile sparring mates exchanged the grip and declared their high regard for each other.

"I sincerely believe," Shires said, "that Blackburne is as good a friend as I have in baseball."
"Shires is okay and a hustling ball player," Blackburne said.

BEAVERS TAKE TWO BEATINGS FROM SENATORS

By the UNITED PRESS
Sacramento turned the traditional Easter Dress Parade into a parade of runs and belted the Portland Beavers in morning and afternoon games 12 to 3 and 6 to 3. The Sacramento took the series 2 to 2 and sent the Beavers home to open against the Missions with but three wins out of 13 games.

The morning game was not without comedy and heroics. Sacramento rapped Fullerton, Cascarella and Ortmann for 12 runs in the fourth inning which should be some sort of a league record. Nine tallies came after two were out. Deacon Jones breezed through to victory after the carnage.

Bloomer and "String" Flynn, the boy southpaw, opposed each other in the afternoon before 5500 fans and the Sacs outlasted the Beavers. Flynn held Portland to five hits, Ken Williams hitting three.

Oakland moved into second place, a game behind the Angels, with a double-barreled win over Seattle, 9 to 6 and 9 to 5. House and Kunz were shelled for 13 hits in the morning game while Seattle touched Edwards and Pearson for 12.

The Oaks collected five tallies in the third inning of the second game and coasted in to victory on seven hits. Howard Craghead was laced for 11 but he closed the gate in the clinches. Oakland took the series, 6 to 1.
