JAPANESE COFFEE GROWERS WARNED

Tokyo, (AP)—Reports received here of a current over production of coffee in Brazil may have an important effect on Japanese immigration to that country, officials of the Ministry of Overseas Affairs admit.

According to the reliable information the Ministry has cabled instructions to Consul General Nakashima at Sao Paulo, to warn Japanese planters in Brazil not to depend entirely upon their coffee crops in this and future years but to cultivate cotton, sugar cane and other crops as a method of self-protection.

WHAT HAVE VEGETABLES GOT TO DO WITH IT?

A SENSIBLE QUESTION. You will wonder why we keep talking about vegetable oils in connection with White King. The answer is this: a pure soap made from vegetable oil, instead of mineral or animal oil, is the gentlest, kindest, yet most effective soap that can be produced.

And White King is the leading vegetable-oil soap. That's why you can trust your sheerser lingerie to it. That's why beauty parlors use it for shampooing. And that's why it cleans blankets and heavy clothing so thoroughly.

White King Granulated Soap is economical, too, because it is condensed. A teaspoonful for the basin, a cupful for the washing machine—plenty. Try it today. Sold by your grocer.

protection in event of a serious drop in the coffee market.

Officials of the Ministry are quoted as stating that they believe the world coffee production has reached, if not passed, the world demand, resulting in a serious situation. They base this belief, it is reported, on figures received from Brazil which state that a sharp price drop has resulted from Brazil's last year's bumper crop of 14,000 bags.

A large number of Japanese also are engaged in coffee growing on the Kona coast of Hawaii, the largest island of the Hawaiian group.

FEAR, ANGER MAY AFFECT DIGESTION

Ithaca, N. Y. (AP)—On the emotions—mild and heavy—are based part of such troubles as choking, thirst and indigestion.

Such is the conclusion of Dr. A. L. Winsor, psychologist at Cornell university here.

It is strong emotion that causes wounded men to choke on the battlefield, he finds. Their mouths become dry as paper because the salivary secretion has stopped in order to help pour into the system more adrenalin, the extra energy producer, and extra glycogen, the sugar product that muscles require.

Strong fear and anger regularly cause a spurt from the adrenin and glycogen taps at the expense of mouth and throat.

Mild emotions also upset the human chemical supply, Winsor has shown. Emotions are not entirely chemical, but are accompanied by definite chemical reactions, he believes.
