FARMER KILLS THREE OTHERS AND HIMSELF

Centralia, Wash. GP—Alleging improper relations between his wife and Cliff Turvey in letters which he left, Lloyd Duffy, 40, of the Oak Grove neighborhood near here, Priday shot and killed Mr. and Mrs. Claff Turvey of Tenimo, returned to his some, killed his wife, Eunice, then inflicted wounds on himself that proved fatal, Letters left by Duffy indicated he had discovered his wife was untrue to him last December.

He had brooded over the situation until Friday afternoon when he secured two automatic revolvers to take him to the Turvey camp at Tenino. At the camp, according to the story told by Todd, Duffy laid in ambush awaiting the de-parture of the Turveys.

As they came down a trail togeth-er Duffy opened fire. Two bullets entered Turvey's head and one pierced Mrs. Turvey's neck, Whether Duffy intended to kill Mrs. Turvey cannot be aumised from the dead man's letters. At the point of a drawn revolver, Duffy ordered Todd to drive him to his home where he found his wife in their back yard with their nine-year-old son, Kendall, talking to Mrs. Gladys Curtis, a neighbor.
Duffy opened fire at his wife, three bullets striking her. He then fired three shots into his own body. Both died instantly. Mrs.
Curtis immediately notified the police, but Todd had already arrived at the station and officers were on the way.

APPEAL TAKEN BY LA FOLLETT

Briefs in support of an appeal from judgment of abatement entered by the Washington county circuit court dismissing the divorce action of Charles R. LaFollett, former legislator, against his wife. Mary LeFollett, were filed in state supreme court Saturday. The briefs maintained that LaFollett had never submitted himself to the jurisdiction of the Multnomah county court, that he protested the suit of his wife step by step, and that his legal residence was in Washington county and never had been anywhere else.
