CHERRY DEAL SWITCHED OVER TO M'MINNVILLE

A Royal Anne cherry barreling deal which was slated to open here Tuesday morning and take up a stack of at least 150 tons in unsold cherries was suddenly switched to McMinnville by Ed Biehn, local man for R. D. Bodle & Company...

The R. D. Bodle company, he states, will officially close its strawberry deal next Tuesday. This company has handled a very heavy tonnage of strawberries out of Salem and Lacomb since 1927.

Around 350 tons were taken in from around Sublimity. The company has put up over 2200 barrels of soft strawberries in large sizes out of the berry deal in this vicinity.

While the company has operated at Lacomb for a number of years with Biehn handling the deal this year it opened a delivery station at Terminal Ice and Storage company in Salem and also took on deliveries of strawberries here.

It was provided that if Gates and the city were unable to agree on a purchase price when the city desired to buy the plant each should appoint an arbitrator, and if they were unable to agree they should appoint a third arbitrator.

After the expiration of 35 years the city notified Gates that it would exercise its option. The city contended that the value was $78,000, while Gates contended it was $159,000.

Decline of 4 to 5 points were made by Westinghouse Electric Worthington Pump, Eastman Kodak and American Tobacco B. Other ranges ranging to above 3 points included General Electric, International Printing Ink, American Can and Auburn Auto.

The city is without sufficient money on hand to make the purchase, and under existing charter provisions has no authority to borrow money to make the purchase.

Gates also relied upon the principle of law that where two parties enter into a simple agreement or contract for the sale of property at a price to be fixed by arbitrators and one of the parties refuses to appoint an arbitrator...

It would work a gross injustice upon the city, says the court, "if the contract is annulled after 35 years from the date of the passage of the ordinance and after the defendant had been for that length of time receiving the substantial benefits of his contract at a nominal rental of $1 per year."

The hold up pair then escaped. Henney was a former county and city employee.

Hubbard—Mrs. Louise Goodyard, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Dreher, is visiting at the paternal home this week.

Showers Causing Gloom to Deepen Among Cherry Men

Sudden suspension of black cherry picking with possibility of the Bing deal going to pieces after a second rain which means almost a catastrophe to that end of the deal...

The main trouble with the rain of Tuesday was in wetting the cherries and causing suspension of picking. Black cherries cannot be shipped when wet as they rot and mold very quickly and the Bings are extra susceptible to this condition.

However, unless the rain should set in for a time it is likely no particular trouble will be caused for the Lumber deal by the quick shift of the weather. That wasn't due to start up any extent before the first of next week and it is believed the clouds will be turned to sunshine well before that time.

The latest rain doesn't threaten to do much cracking damage unless it sets in for a long spell as the sugar is pretty well in the cherries and in the main they are said to be ripe enough to resist the cracking danger.

Black cherry shippers are all set to handle one of the biggest deals in history and rain conditions will mean a heavy loss to them even with clearing weather for the Lambert deal as the Bing deal has been badly punctured.

Word was received from Roy Hurd that he will be here in a day or two and is shipping the equipment he used at The Dalles to Sheridan for his receiving plant there.

Young & Wells and Claude McKinney are also all set in their respective receiving plants at the Terminal Ice & Storage plant and the Massin-Khrman warehouse, and both had crews on early this week with good deliveries coming in.

DORAN RULING UPHOLDS SALE OF MALT SYRUP

While as far as known around here 15 cents is the highest legitimate price paid for hops since the downy mildew flurry bolstered up the market, 15 cent offers are reported to be rejected in a number of cases and buyers say that hops are beginning to get rather hard to buy.

T. A. Lively is in receipt of a clipping from the St. Paul Daily News, copies of which are being sent over the country, in which a brief resume is made of Prohibition Commissioner Doran's interpretation of the prohibition law in light of the supreme court decision relative to malt and malt syrup.

"Malt and malt syrup can be sold legally in St. Paul or any other city."

This is the substance of instructions recently issued in Washington by Dr. James M. Doran, commissioner of prohibition to prohibition administrators.

"Malt will only be interested with when it is definitely proved that it is sold for illegal use. The burden of proof is on the government."

"Dr. Doran made the statement to clear up misunderstandings caused by a decision of the United States supreme court in the Danovics case. Danovics was accused of supplying bootleggers with whiskey bottles, whiskey kegs, whiskey labels and forged government stamps. Malt was in no way involved."

"G. Aaron Youngquist, assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition, concurred in Dr. Doran's instructions."

It was pointed out that malt syrup has been sold in the United States for 40 years and is no more an ingredient of illegal beverages than molasses, sugar, yeast or similar food items.

LULL IN BUYING GREEN PRUNES While there are still some reports of green prunes being bought here and there for canneries at $20 a ton, the price fixed earlier in the year, buying has somewhat slowed up but is by no means at an end. Canners state that the influx of other crops with their packing season on has caused the lull and the matter of green prunes has more or less been forgotten for the time being.
