PLAYS OFFERED FOR MONMOUTH BY O.N.S. GROUP

Monmouth—The Crimson O. dramatic club, of the normal school will present two plays Monday evening at the school auditorium.

The plays to be given are "The Valiant," which opens in prison just a few hours before execution, and "Crabbed Youth and Old Age," which is a very popular comedy. In this play the three daughters are very disturbed because the mother of the home is the center of attraction.

Monmouth—The play producing class of the normal school gave two interesting plays Thursday afternoon. The first, "Joint Owners in Spain," by Alice Brown, was directed by Julia Pickett and managed by Lillian Make. The setting was in an old woman's home. It told the story of two crabby old women, who disliked each other as roommates, so they divided their room by a chalk line. However the fake partition was soon forgotten in a rush to go for a sleigh ride.

The second play was "Jazz and Minuet" by Ruth Byron, a play in three acts, directed by Dorothy Jean Cochran, and with Mabel Poole as stage manager. In this play we find modern Prudence has fished the same reaction as her old-fashioned aunt.

The class is working on two plays to be presented Tuesday. They are "The Eldest," by Edna Ferber, and "The Followers," by Harold Bridgehouse.
