First class base running won the ball game with Albany at Olinger field Sunday afternoon, 7 to 4. Although the Alcos outdid the Senators 11 to 10, the Senators made the most of their opportunities and stretched their bingles for all they were worth, on several occasions making an extra base when the hits did not seem to warrant it.

A bumpy outfield made two and three base hits possible on several occasions when in reality all the blows were legitimately worth only one and two bases.

Although the visitors doubted Peterson's offense with great gusto, his control was all that could be desired and he passed nary a man to first, nor hit a batter. Fortier held the Senators pretty much in check during the first four innings. In the fifth they connected for four hits for a total of 3 runs, and in the seventh the big moundsman retired to left field after one man had walked and two others hit safely. Strittmeyer relieved him and held the Senators in check during the last inning and a third.

Salem scored two runs in the second on a walk, a two base hit and a sacrifice. Three more were added in the fifth. Peterson hit for two bases and scored on T. Girod's three banger. T. Girod scored on Paul Girod's single who in turn came in on Gill's bingle after he had taken second when Sullivan was walked. Two more were added in the seventh.

Albany tied the score at two-all in their half of the third on hits by Jenks, Wilkinson, McReynolds and Lansing. They forged ahead in the fourth when McClain doubled and Blackwell's single. The Alcos' fourth run came in the sixth when Blackwell scored on McReynolds' three-base hit.

Fortier hit one out in the seventh which went nearly to the fence. He was thrown out on the plate when he tried to make a home run out of the cloud. Fast work on the part of T. Girod made the out a possibility. The Senators will be seen in action again this Monday evening when they play the House of David nine on Olinger field at 6 o'clock.

Tilden Decides To Play For U. S.

WRITING RULE SET ASIDE TO SOME EXTENT

Paris (AP)—Big Bill Tilden, famous American tennis star, sprained an ankle in a practice match with Karl Kozelub, Czechoslovakian professional Monday.

Tilden, who only Monday announced that he had accepted an invitation to play for the United States in the Davis cup challenge round, told the Associated Press he thought he would be kept off the courts only one day.

A masseur who attended him however, said that he was unable as yet to tell just how serious the injury was or just when Tilden would be able to play again.

Paris (AP)—William T. Tilden II told the Associated Press Monday that "against my wishes and better judgment I have accepted an invitation to play for the United States in the Davis cup challenge round."

The American tennis star explained the rule regarding syndicate writing by amateur contestants had been waived to a certain extent and he would be permitted to write tennis articles for a news syndicate for the three days ending with Wednesday, July 23, but inasmuch as amateur rules forbid players in actual competition from writing articles Tilden will not report the challenge round matches on the ensuing Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

He said that he had taken a place in the challenge round at the special request of Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the United States Davis cup committee.

The decision of the American Davis cup committee to play Tilden in the challenge round was received with satisfaction bordering on delight by French tennis officials and fans.

The French were pleased because they felt certain Cochet would beat Tilden. They argued Borotra gave Tilden such a hard battle in England he now is conceded an even chance to defeat the veteran American.

The delight of the Frenchmen came from the fact Tilden is certain to pack the Roland Garros stadium with a cheering, paying gallery.

Host of Amateur Golfers Start Qualifying Rounds In Western Championship

Chicago (AP)—An army of golfers drew its steel Monday to begin the battle of Beverly country club, scene of the western amateur championship tournament. Billy Sixty of Milwaukee and Art Sweet of Chicago were listed to head the parade of 215 aspirants over the 36 hole qualifying round, which will be finished Tuesday. The low 32 then will set out in match play duels, with the 36 hole championship final set for Saturday.

Heat Sunday bothered contenders in their final practice rounds, and Cyril Tolley, 1929 British amateur champion, said he might decide to withdraw if the weather didn't moderate. Should Tolley fail to start, T. Phillip Perkins, another former British amateur titleholder, who now resides in New York, would rank as the British hope.

Don Moe of Portland, Ore., defending champion, was on deck, but was not due to start out until late.

Johnny Goodman, who eliminated King Bobby Jones from the national amateur at Pebble Beach, Calif., last year, felt he had had too much golf and decided not to accept the issue.

Charles (Chick) Evens of Chicago, who has won the western title eight times, had the most impressive practice score, carding a 73 over the par 71 test Saturday. He was regarded as a front rank threat, as were Jack Westland, 1929 French amateur champion; Dick Martin and Johnny Lehman, a pair of former Big Ten titleholders; Keffe Carter of Oklahoma City, a former western amateur champion, and Gus Novotny of Chicago.

The game Monday evening is scheduled for 6 o'clock sharp.

Only 44,000 passenger automobiles were made in Italy last year.

MISSIONS TAKE ODD GAME TO GO INTO LEAD

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Missions Monday was the only team in the coast league which had taken more than the odd game of last week's series, and led in the standings after the first week of the second half.

The Reds were shut off by Seattle, 6 to 0, in Sunday's morning game as Lamanski hurled effectively for the Indians, but came back to take the afternoon contest, 6 to 1, with Herman Pillette on the mound, making it five out of seven games.

Winning streaks of both Hollywood and Los Angeles were punctured during the week, although the Stars squeezed out a one game margin in their week of play with Portland. The Beavers pounded Yale and Hulvey for a 13 to 1 win in the first game Sunday, with Ortman the winning pitcher.

Cause for a protest was found in the afternoon game by Manager Woodall of Portland when the contest was called in the sixth on account of a train schedule. Barbee's homer in that inning had just wood the game 6 to 3.

The Angels downed Oakland, 11 to 4, in the afternoon game, collecting a 9 to 1 lead in the first three innings off Craghead and Pearson. But the Oaks had clinched the series in the morning when Henderson, in his second league game, repeated his first performance of holding Los Angeles to three hits. The Oaks won 1 to 0.

Sacramento made it four straight over San Francisco by winning 8 to 7, in the thirteenth, Sunday afternoon at Sacramento, after having downed the Seals 7 to 4 in the morning at Stockton. Bryan and Freitas were the winning pitchers in the morning and afternoon, respectively.

Several fire stations are to be erected by Johannesburg, South Africa.
