NORBLAD WILL NOT RETURN CLIFFORD

and read all evidence taken at the hearing.

"I am passing up entirely my own personal judgment of these men as to their conduct of the office," he says, "and also, in the light of my decision, I am not passing any opinion upon the evidence."

The governor says he considers that both Clifford and Clark conducted their offices properly and ably. He mentions that Clifford "devoted himself in a very vigorous, practical manner to the restoration of Malheur lake as a wild life sanctuary," and credits him with taking the lead in the movement for a federal appropriation of a million and a half dollars for the restoration of the lake area.

He credits Clifford with sponsoring the solution of the open irrigation ditch menace and the obtaining of a federal appropriation of $25,000 for experiments in solution of the problem of the annual loss of millions of trout and salmon fry.

Further the governor says Clifford led in the game farm propagation for field and upland birds, and that he is responsible for the policy of holding trout fry and turning them into streams as legal sized fish capable of caring for themselves.

The statement declares that Clifford has turned the financial affairs of the department from a deficit into a surplus.

The governor raps the "organized minority" of the Oregon sportsmen, particularly the Multnomah Anglers and Hunters club.

"By far the greatest voice in both approval and disapproval of the commission in dismissing Clifford and Clark has come from the organized minority," he says. "Past experience has demonstrated that the majority of the troubles of the game commission has emanated from Multnomah county, and principally all from the members of the Multnomah Anglers and Hunters club. So far as I know the history of this state no game warden has ever been able to please the various factions of this club and I doubt whether one will ever be able to do so.

"I did something no governor has ever done before when, at the time Commissioner Miller's term expired, I offered to appoint one of a list of five to be suggested by the sportsmen of Multnomah county, that county being entitled to the commissionership. I soon discovered that I made a mistake because the gathering from which the list of five was named turned out to be purely a political affair. However, I kept faith and appointed one of the list of five as a member of the commission."

ADD— One and Two— NorBlad 67

The governor's complete statement follows:

"Immediately upon the announcement by the game commission of the removal of Clifford and Clark I was besieged with requests from all over the state to remove some or all of the commissioners who voted in favor of dismissal in order that Clifford and Clark might be reinstated. I also received many expressions of approval of the action of the commission. Dissent as well as approval was voiced to me orally and through the medium of letters and telegrams totalling many hundreds. Based upon my observations as a member of the legislature and as governor, it was my opinion that both of these men have properly conducted the affairs of their respective offices. For instance I did know that Mr
