

DEER HUNTERS ARE NOT CURBED BY EXECUTIVE

Unless the fire hazard in Oregon forests becomes worse than it is now Governor Norblad will not interfere with the opening of the deer hunting season on September 15, he announced in a statement issued late Tuesday. Extraordinarily dangerous weather, he said, would cause him to keep the season closed to October 1, but he said he would not close it after that date.

The governor said he had received many requests to proclaim the season closed beyond September 15, the normal opening date, as a precaution against forest fires, but also many petitions not to interfere. A ban on deer hunting until October 1, he added, would work a hardship on "fall workers, college professors, students and other persons from enjoying the season."

"If the hunting season is partly closed there will be a great number of hunters in the woods during the condensed season thereby increasing danger to life and limb," the statement said. "The deer hunters are no more careless than fishermen, hikers, berry pickers, tourists and others. The latter class of people are not prohibited by law from going into the forests during the hunting season and they far outnumber the hunters."

Another reason given is that "our Oregon season overlaps the season in some adjoining states. If the season should be closed up to October 1 many hunters would come from other states after having killed a legal quota of deer in their own states. This is unfair to the people of Oregon."

The governor states that after September 15 there is heavy dew in the mountains, reducing the danger of fire. He further says that many guides, small storekeepers and ammunition dealers depend on the hunting season for most of their year's income.

OLD TIME PICNIC AT HAMMOND PARK

Woodburn—A party gathered at the J. L. Hammond park Sunday for an old fashioned picnic. Pitching horseshoes and swimming were the diversions of the day and a picnic dinner was one of the main events. Return of German Colonies by France Would Avert War

Paris (UP)—New life would be given European peace if France should return to Germany a few of the colonies it gained under the Versailles treaty, Count Michael Karolyi, former president of Hungary and now a political exile, believes.

Internationally recognized for his knowledge of world political events, Count Karolyi gave his views on the trend of European politics after his return from his lecture tour in the United States.

"So long as the spirit of factism continues to inspire and excite the principal nations of Europe," declared Count Karolyi, "so long will dangers of war persist, but even underlying that is the old sore of economic conditions. The only nation sound economically in Europe today is France and so France does not want war. But those nations which are not sound, and Germany is in the forefront, will not remain tranquil as they are, under their present leaders.

"They will seek war. Anything will do as a pretext—revenge, necessity for expansion, anything—but the result will be the same in any case."

As an end of starting off another war in Europe, Count Karolyi suggests France should hand back a few of Germany's lost colonies, thus appeasing those Germans who preach and encourage the idea of a war of revenge.

"This would lead the way to a Franco-German alliance and would help to stabilize the present shaky situation," the Hungarian ex-president said.

"France would, to be honest with herself, lose little in handing back those colonies, which are of small value to the French. France is nominally a great colonial power, yet

TRAFFIC SQUAD DOUBLE PATROL BY HOSS ORDER

Max H. Flanery, acting chief state traffic inspector pending the appointment of a chief to succeed T. A. Rafferty, has received orders from Secretary of State Hoss to double the night patrol in all parts of the state. This move is made, Hoss explains, to cooperate more thoroughly with other law enforcement officers in the suppression of crime.

While the law confines the duties of the state squad to traffic law enforcement the fact that 90 per cent of present day crime, according to Hoss, involves the use of automobiles making it necessary for the traffic officers to take a hand in a general variety of criminal investigations. At present there is only one officer on each night patrol. As soon as the new order is in effect there will be two.

Hoss believes the state should issue side-arms to the traffic officers.

PITY THE POOR SILKWORM

THINK of the lifetime of toil a silkworm spends to give you silken lingerie and stockings. You ought to know—you have to pay plenty for it. It's only fair, to both yourself and the worm, to make your silk things last as long as possible.

White King Granulated Soap is made only from fine vegetable and nut oils—oils good enough to eat. It's the safest soap you can use in washing expensive underwear. And at the same time its purity makes it the most effective soap for greasy dishes, dust-heavy woolens.

White King Granulated Soap washes everything. And it's economical—a teaspoonful is plenty for the wash basin, a cupful ample for the washing machine, even in hard water. Put it on your list for today. Your grocer has it.

In the soft water districts of Oregon and Washington, use less.

HILLS BROS COFFEE

is as fresh as when it came from the roasters

THE REASON IS—Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum tins. Air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is completely taken out of the can and kept out. No air-tight can will keep coffee fresh. But Hills Bros. Coffee in the vacuum pack is always fresh whenever you buy it. The can is easily opened with the key.

Controlled Roasting gives Hills Bros. Coffee a flavor no other coffee has.
