

BOXER DEAD FROM FIGHT RING BLOWS

San Francisco (AP)—The death of Frankie Campbell, one of the most promising heavyweights on the Pacific coast, in a bout with Max Baer, brought in rumors Tuesday that legalized prize fighting in California might suffer as a consequence.

According to Dr. Tillman, a brain specialist who attended the fighter, Campbell's brain was knocked completely loose from his skull.

Baer, a 21 year old boxer, who has been spoken of as a possible contender for heavyweight championship honors, retired to his home in Livermore, after being released on bail of $10,000 furnished by the fight promoter, Ancil Hoffman.

Independent investigations were started Wednesday by the state athletic commission and police. They planned to question all persons connected with the fight, including Toby Irwin, referee of the match, who it was claimed had been exhorted to stop the fight before Campbell lost consciousness.

The bout scheduled for 10 rounds ended suddenly in the fifth round when Campbell sank to the floor. Up until then it was a savage fight that swept the spectators back into an earlier and more savage age.

Campbell's widow forgave Baer for the terrific blows that sent her husband into a state of unconsciousness from which he never returned when she said: "It's all right, you didn't mean to do it."

BRITISH AND YANKEES MEET SOLDIER FIELD

Chicago (AP)—Track fans from all sections of the country gathered here Wednesday for the "Little Olympics"—a dual track and field meet between the British empire and the United States—to be contested Wednesday night at Soldier field.

The meet is the first international track and field competition held in the United States since the 1906 Olympic games at St. Louis and has attracted widespread interest. The British empire-United States meet is second only to the Olympic games in athletic importance and quality of competition and a program which carried all the color and pageantry of an Olympian has been arranged for the meet.

Atlanta (AP)—Note to amateurs: R. T. Jones, Jr., still retains the magic touch which has won him three golf titles this year.

CANZONERI IS POOR CONTENDER

New York (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, lightweight contender, had little to show Wednesday for a ten round decision over Goldie Hess, California boxer, except a slight gash over his right eyelid, and perhaps a regret that he should have done better.

Canzoneri, who is scheduled to box Al Singer, lightweight champion, in November, kept the young Californian entirely at his mercy in their bout at Queensboro stadium Tuesday night, but in doing so failed to show little ability which might entitle him to serious consideration for Singer's title.

HUDKINS M'VEY FIGHT STOPPED IN 10TH ROUND

Los Angeles (AP)—Ace Hudkins, styled the "Nebraska Wildcat," and Jack McVey, a negro trial horse for 10 years or more, were in bad repudate Wednesday after a boxing match which the referee maintained was nothing more than a dancing act.

Referee Kennedy said he was amazed beyond words to hear such a thing in a prize ring. His surprise increased when McVey then accepted a tap from Hudkins and rolled over on the canvas while the naval officer counted eight. He did not stay down.

During the final frame Lieut. Kennedy watched the two fighters intently for a minute or so and then suddenly ordered them from the ring.

"No contest," he roared and then motioned a crowd of 7,000 fans into silence so he could make a speech.

These two men were talking to each other for four out of the ten rounds," Kennedy said. "In the ninth round I heard McVey say to Hudkins: 'This is your round.' Then he took a light right to the jaw and went down. From the second round on they were not trying. I let the affair go thinking they might decide to start fighting. They didn't so I threw them out."
