Tony Kirsh, of North Summer street, received a fractured wrist while cranking an automobile Wednesday evening. The fractured bone is not seriously damaged, according to Dr. George Wehrs, attending physician, who also reports that Mrs. C. Ansel Bates, of Astoria, is doing nicely at the Deaconess hospital following an operation earlier in the week.

which in former years have been allowed to grow up to tall grass and weeds, are being ploughed now. He suggests that if property owners do not care to cultivate these vacant lots they allow other persons to do so. A strenuous campaign is to be waged this summer to keep vacant lots clean of unsightly growths, the commissioner states. The cultivating of this property would go a long way toward keeping them in shape.

both state and federal governmental agencies, the firm industry is entitled to reasonable assistance at this time. "It is a situation in which we must give and take," Governor Meier said Thursday. Growers attending the Wednesday conference had indicated a willingness to accept an even greater reduction in their contract prices on 1931 crops than the $10 base price reduction already stipulated, if such a cut becomes necessary.
