

NEW MAP OF SANTIAM FOREST RESERVE ISSUED

Featuring a red overlay showing improved forest camps, primitive areas, game refuges and main motor highways, new editions of two national forest map folders have just been received at the office of the regional forester, Portland, Ore. These are the Santiam and the Malheur, both in Oregon.

The Santiam national forest covers a portion of the west slope of the Oregon Cascades, lying east of Albany and extending from the Clackamas-Santiam divide on the north to the headwaters of the McKenzie on the south.

The Malheur national forest is located in the Blue mountains, and lies largely in Grant and Harney counties.

A new feature of the maps is a red overlay showing main motor highways, game refuges, and improved forest camps.

The text on the reverse of the maps gives historical notes, a description of the forest resources and their uses, and some of the principal points of recreational interest. Descriptions of the forest fire fighting organization and suggestions for care with fire on the part of forest visitors make up an important and worthwhile part of the text, which is illustrated with a number of attractive photographs.

Single copies of these map folders may be obtained free at the forest service library, room 430 new postoffice building, Portland, Ore., or from the forest supervisor of the Santiam at Albany, Oregon, and the forest supervisor of the Malheur at John Day, Ore., respectively.

COURT TO HEAR ALASKAN'S APPEAL

San Francisco (AP)—The United States circuit court here decided Wednesday to hear the appeal of John Prehager, convicted in Fairbanks, Alaska, February 21, 1931, of the slaying of Mrs. Dig Joe, Indian woman.

Prehager previously asked District Judge Cecil Cleeg of Alaska to hear his appeal without Prehager being forced to pay legal costs.

Prehager claimed to be a pauper but Judge Cleeg held his claim to not be in good faith and refused to hear the appeal.

Tuesday's action reversed that of Judge Cleeg. Prehager is under sentence of 20 years to McNeil's island.

Butler Co-ed Busy With Her Five Jobs

Indianapolis (AP)—Students at Butler college here have such a diversity of part-time jobs that it would be almost impossible for an economic depression to hurt them, Mrs. Carie Meredith, director of the students employment bureau, said.

The most versatile of the students was Honor Gregory, Gosport, Ind., a co-ed who held five jobs and was looking for another. Mrs. Meredith said. The girl was housekeeper, secretary to one of the professors, waitress in a lunch room, taught stenography classes, and minded children. She had an hour and a half to herself in the afternoon and was looking for some odd-job to fill this.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT IN LEGISLATURE

Annapolis, Md. (AP)—Free-for-all fighting interrupted Wednesday's meeting of the Maryland house of delegates when 25 alleged communists invaded the chamber and sought to present a petition in behalf of the unemployed to Speaker Francis A. Michael.

Several other of the demonstrating party obtained a non-violent hearing in the office of Governor Albert C. Ritchie and offered their plea. Fifteen of the demonstrators were arrested, two of them painfully injured. At Ritchie's suggestion the lone demonstrator remaining after the riot was permitted to address the speaker of the house.

NEW WAR PLAY SHOWS MARCH, SOLDIER DEAD

New York (AP)—A none too happy mating of the talking pictures and the flesh and blood drama is the result of the Theater Guild's achievement with its presentation of the late Hans Chlumberg's bitterly satirical post-war drama, "Miracle at Verdun."

It is the first production in this country in which the motion picture has been used to gain effects in a serious drama. Pictures sequences have been used before in musical comedies, however.

In "Miracle at Verdun" the picture sequences are used four times. There are three screens, two average sized ones on each side of a long screen. Pictures are shown simultaneously on the three screens, on two, or on just one. The pictures are used to depict large bodies of marching troops and tremendous crowds listening to speakers.

The trouble seems to rise in the fact that what should have been the most impressive use of motion pictures in the play was the least impressive. That was the march of the dead soldiers of the great war, supposedly 12,000,000 of them—recaptured after 25 years of death.

Chlumberg's play contains a grand and weird idea. These dead soldiers return to life to see what their nations have done to forget hatreds and to prevent future wars. They are sadly disillusioned. Europe is armed as never before—Germany has not forgotten, France is militant, Great Britain, Italy and the rest are armed to the teeth.

The risen dead swarm the fields of France. There is no place for them, it is economically impossible to take care of them. They were heroes yesterday in their graves, but they are unwanted pests today, walking the earth.

The foreign officers of the great nations are thrown into an uproar. The word of the miracle spreads throughout the world. The government dignitaries meet at the Quai d'Orsay to find a solution. The dead soldiers send their delegates and they learn their nations have not kept faith. They trail their ragged garments and broken bodies back to the graves which gave them up.

The scene in the Quai d'Orsay is the best of the play. The author has spared no nation from his satirical barbs pointed at economic greed, militarism and religious cant.

The whole thing, of course, is the vision of a bitter German soldier on a visit to a French battlefield, where the Germans and French who fell at Verdun are buried in common graves. Despite the imperfections of the production (these are in the use of the motion pictures only) the play is well worth seeing, something to remember.

The cast is extremely large and individual acting feats therefore almost an impossibility. The nearest thing in this line was achieved by Claude Rains as the fire-eating Belgian Prime Minister.

England is to have a new training college for film artists.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rin' to Go

If you feel sour and sick and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of saline mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Use LITTLE LIVER PILLS. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute.

47TH DAY DROUGHT IS STILL UNBROKEN

Los Angeles (AP)—Agricultural leaders expressed concern Thursday over crop conditions in southern California as the 47th day of an unseasonable drought passed without prospects of rain.

Col. H. B. Hersey, government meteorologist, said the period was the longest dry spell at this time of year since 1878. Normally, heavy rains fall in southern California at this time, followed by a dry period extending from late spring until early fall.

Germany sent 10,000 tons of construction machinery to Russia last year.
