

FIRE ENGINE IS ELECTED BY CITY COUNCIL

The Salem city council Monday night elected a new pumper for the fire department. For the first time, perhaps, in the history of the county a fire engine was elected directly by ballot, with six candidates in the field and without regard to bids. A Mack pumper was chosen on the third ballot, receiving a majority of the votes cast by a margin of one vote.

So that it will not be necessary for the fire department committee to close the branch fire stations in east, north and south Salem the council voted to transfer $20,000 from the department special tax fund to the maintenance fund to be used for salary payments. This was done over the protest of some members who considered it illegal notwithstanding an opinion by City Attorney Trindle.

When all the bids had been opened for a new fire pumper it was found that six firms were bidding, and some of these had submitted as many as seven bids each. Alderman Dancy, chairman of the fire department committee, immediately moved that they be referred to the committee for report at a later date. Aldermen Kuhn and Patton, the other council members on the committee, realized that they would be unable to agree with Dancy and Fire Chief Hutton and that the committee would be hopelessly deadlocked, so they asked that the controversy be thrown back on the council and decided at once. Kuhn moved that the council go into recess to await the committee's report.

When the committee reported back Dancy stated that it could not agree, so he decided to throw the decision back on the council. He said that he and the fire chiefs were still in favor of the Seagraves machine as they had been two weeks previously, this being the lowest bidder for the type of pumper they desired, the bid being $11,500.

Alderman Patton said that he feared that the fire department was becoming top-heavy with equipment and that for a time the city had gone hog wild on buying fire engines. There was a pumper for every 6,000 persons in the city, he said. On all three ballots the aldermen voted for the Mack, American La France and Seagraves pumps, the Arens-Fox, Peter Pirsch and Howe machines failing to get any votes. On the first ballot the Mack got five, the American La France five and the Seagraves two votes, one member not voting. On the second ballot the result was the same. On the third the Mack got seven, the American La France three and the Seagraves three.

The price of the Mack chosen was $13,350, but by leaving out the water tank attachment it is cut $500 to $12,850. On the price of the Seagraves voted on was $11,500, and the American La France $12,500.

The result of the vote leaves the mayor and the city recorder in making the contract free to buy either a centrifugal or a rotary gear machine as the price are the same. It is understood a centrifugal type will be chosen. When Alderman Dancy's resolution for transfer of $20,000 from the fire tax fund to the maintenance fund was introduced City Attorney Trindle was prepared with an opinion as to the legality of the transfer, basing it on the state budget law. The opinion was questioned by Alderman Kowitz, and Trindle explained that the next budget would have to take care of the reimbursement, and he recommended that the charter be amended to make the tax fund applicable to maintenance.

Alderman O'Hara was of the opinion that it was unconstitutional to transfer money from a special to a general fund. However, no one voted against the resolution. Proceeding the vote Dancy declared that it would be necessary, without question, to close the outside stations if the transfer were not made.

MAYOR'S VETO NOT SUSTAINED

The city council Monday night refused to sustain Mayor Gregory's veto of the firecracker ordinance, passing the measure over his veto by a unanimous vote.

The ordinance was first drawn to prohibit the shooting of firecrackers and other noise-making devices anywhere in the city limits. But as it passed two weeks ago it applies only to fire zone No. 1, which is the downtown business district.

The mayor vetoed the measure for the reason that it was limited in its application.

One ordinance bill of more than ordinary interest was introduced. It would provide for the abatement of nuisances caused by barking dogs, bawling cows or any other noisy animals within the city limits. It will be voted on at the next meeting.

The city planning and zoning commission submitted a recommendation that a stop sign be installed on Waverly street at Court. It was referred to the police committee. The street committee sent in a recommendation that a certain amount of parking be done away with on Waverly and Tenth streets in that

GARBAGE OFFER IS MADE CITY

Umblenstock Inc., a Portland concern, Monday night submitted to the city council a proposal for operation of the city incinerator in return for an exclusive franchise to dispose of Salem's garbage. The proposal was referred to the incinerator committee. The committee reported unfavorably on a proposal from P. N. Kurth who also sought an exclusive franchise.

The Umblenstock firm, among other things, offers to operate the incinerator without cost to the city, to install a garbage dehydrating plant and pay the city $3 a ton for all feed materials manufactured by dehydrating. The plant would have an option to buy the city after a certain time, paying the company a royalty on its patents.

Maybe that's puttin' it on too thick...

We were down in the older part of town the other day seein' how quiet and peaceful things looked and buyin' us a pair of Sunday shoes just to show the boys on Main street that we still wear em'. One of the bosses just to be sociable came over to where the boy was puttin' a five dollar shoe on our best foot (we always put our best foot forward you know).

Well, as we started to say, the boss wanted to make us feel good before taxin' us a couple of extra dollars for our shoes so he said how's business down at the Market? We didn't mind that so much (notwithstandin' the fact that he's the only person in Marion and Polk counties that doesn't know that business at the Market is growing by leaps and bounds), we answered in our best behaved manner by tellin' him it was good (no not our manner, our business is good we said.) We could tell by his looks that he thought we were stretching things—you know one of those doubtin' Thomasas looks he gave us just to let us know that we wasn't kiddin' him any

And boy how we laid'er on then

And when we lay'er on we lay it on plenty—we told him that we sell more groceries at the Market than all the chain stores in town and just to be friendly with the other stores we said yes and you can pick out any three other stores and throw them in for good measure and our sales would be morin' all of 'em together. But Folks—that's the way we do things—do 'em right—that's our motto and that's a doggone good motto too—isn't it?

BUSICK'S AT THE MARKET

—NOT A CHAIN STORE—

We hear this every day from some manufacturer—why don't you advertise our goods? All-right we say, what have you to offer our customers, that's unusual in value. Here's what Sculling said: You sell a pound of our coffee for 39c and we'll give a two bit can of baking powder free with each can of coffee. Well we don't know what better value they could offer than that, do you?
