cared a lot more for my stepson than he did for me. My father hated me. Mother knew it. When Bruce and I were boys together I always did what he said. And now suddenly he let himself go in a wild frenzy: "But, I tell you, I will go to school as I had planned; I'll go in spite of Bruce Carey and all his kind. I'll never go back to that damned soda fountain, so help me God!"

EXIT

"I'll get the money I need if I have to steal it; I'll get it if I have to kill somebody!"

Ann was frightened; she had never realized that Pierre was capable of such passion. He had always been so calm and well poised.

EXIT

"Pierre," she said gently, timidly, "please, dear, don't—don't lose control of yourself like this—don't—don't—"

EXIT

Ann called wildly: "Pierre! Pierre! Everything will be all right Pierre!" The front door slammed.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

reduction of 10 percent" in expenses in keeping with depressed economic and business conditions; while censoring fellow officials for alleged excessive telephone and telegraph bills, and while demanding that all departments and executives economize through the standardization of printing and stationery Governor Meier himself has established something of a record for himself and his own office.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

His record is one of unparalleled expense in the administration of the executive office for the first six months of his term.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

During the first six months of his incumbency Governor Meier has spent $14,421.43 for operation of the executive department.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Survey of the warrants issued against executive appropriators during that time discloses. The figure includes an estimate of $1325 as the payroll for June, for which the warrants will not be drawn until July 1. Incidental expenditures not yet recorded may during the remainder of the month further increase this total.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

In the corresponding first six months of his incumbency Governor Patterson spent $9565.70, and back in 1925 when Walter Pierce was governor under a legislative year the expenses of the office were $9885.79.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Salaries and wages paid during the half year of Governor Meier's term have totalled $7291.78, as against $6518.47 for the Pierce office force back in 1925, and $6042.74 paid for salaries and wages of the executive staff under Patterson in 1927.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

These figures include expenditures of special legal advisors during legislative sessions of $900 by Meier, $925 by Patterson and $460 by Pierce.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

In the past the heaviest business of the executive office has always been handled by the governor's private secretary and one or two stenographers.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

In addition to the extra work done for him by private investigators paid out of a special fund of $20,000 appropriated by the legislature, Governor Meier maintains an office staff consisting of his private secretary at $300 a month, one stenographer at $150 a month and two stenographers at $125 a month.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

A further proper charge against the expenses of the executive offices is the salary paid to Budget Commissioner Henry Hansen who, by the governor's own admission, has no budgeting to do at this time in the biennium, and so spends most of his time and all of his efforts to advance the executives' political fortunes.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

General operating expenses of the department, since Governor Meier took office have been $1373.49. In 1925 they were $985.11 and in 1927 amounted to $705.38.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Governor Pierce managed to get by without asking the taxpayers to fund a single cent during the first six months of 1925 for capital outlays for the department, as did Governor Patterson in the first six months of his term in office. In 1929 Patterson added equipment costing $155.43.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

The capital outlay account since Meier took office shows expenditures of $2205.80, the bulk of which is accounted for by the private wash room and telephone booth installed in the executive chambers.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Those who recall the incident of the governor's chastisement of college university and other state officials uttered publicly through statements given to the press criticizing what he alleged to be exorbitant telephone and telegraph bills may find a smile in the knowledge that Governor Meier has spent more than twice as much for these items during his first six months in office than did either Pierce or Patterson.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

This total does not include the expense of the governor's private telephone wire to Portland's Own Store, which he pays for out of his own pocket.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Governor Meier's executive telephone and telegraph bill for the first six months of the year, including estimates of telephone charges of $55 and telegraph tolls of $12 for June, amounts to $694.96.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

In the corresponding period in 1925 Pierce spent $292.37 and Patterson spent $194.41 in 1927 and $271.81 in 1929.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Likewise, it is interesting to note that Governor Meier, while insisting upon cheap letterhead paper as the standard for all departments and offices, has himself expended $325 for 11,600 embossed letterheads and 12,900 embossed envelopes for his own department, an expenditure of about four or five times what it indicates should be paid by other officials for their stationery.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Governor Meier's asserted need for special agents and investigators since January has cost the state $2213.16, or nearly four times as much as Pierce spent in the prohibition enforcement crusade by special agents back in 1925.

COST OF MEIER'S OFFICES DOUBLED

Patterson paid $10 to special investigators and agents during the first six months of 1927 and during 1929 cut that amount to only $5.
