

TRUCK WRECKED AND LIVESTOCK IS LIBERATED

Turner—Considerable excitement was created when a large livestock truck from near Stayton loaded with sheep and hogs enroute to the Valley Packing Company in Salem, was partly wrecked near the Clifford O. Ensey residence north of Turner.

In making the turn the driver lost control of the truck and in swerving back onto the pavement turned over in the ditch, scattering livestock in every direction. One sheep was so severely hurt it was necessary to shoot it, but otherwise nothing was injured. It was rumored three hogs were so badly frightened that they ran for their lives and are still at random in some pasture. The truck was quite badly damaged and towed to Hall Brothers garage for necessary repairs.

J. R. Davis, prominent farmer and dairyman residing near Turner wrecked his practically new roadster when he struck loose gravel enroute home a few days ago, skidded and landed in the ditch. Davis escaped injury with exception of severe bruises, but the car is in the repair shop having new fenders, a new top and other repairs.
