SAFETY ANE VIOLATORS TO BE ARRESTED

Motorists who do not believe in signs and heed them are not going to receive a lot of free "tickets" good only for admission to the city police court if they fail to observe the traffic regulations regarding the recently established "safety lanes."

The "lanes" marked with bright orange have been laid out across all busy street intersections in the vicinity of schools and work centers. The lanes were painted during the week ending Wednesday.

"Those warnings mean just what they say," said Chief Minto. "They mean that any automobile approaching one of these lanes must proceed to a complete stop to allow for a pedestrian in the street."

The lanes were ordered by the city council as a means of protecting school children from motor traffic, and starting Thursday morning traffic officers will be cruising about the city to see that the order is observed. They will pay particular attention to the lanes during the three hours of the day when children are going to and from school.

"The driver who fails to stop will get a ticket and can tell his troubles to the police judge," said the chief.

Their mothers were traveling with the three men who robbed John Graber Sunday night and who in less than 24 hours were in the penitentiary.

The two women were seen Tuesday afternoon, not long after the court had acted, hiking southward with their packs on their backs. They expressed no great regret at losing their babies, though one insisted on having a picture of her small daughter.

HOPE FELT FOR LOST AVIATOR

London (AP)—Hope that Parker D. Cramer, American aviator, who was lost on a flight from Detroit to Copenhagen, remains alive, lingered Wednesday.

On the request of the American embassy, the British coastguard company appealed to ships in north sea waters and residents of the barren Orkney and Shetland islands to keep a sharp watch for Cramer and his radio operator, Oliver Paquette.

The radioed message said that the wreckage of Cramer's plane, recently salvaged by the British trawler Lord Trent, indicated the possibility that the men might have taken refuge on one of the uninhabited islands.

The Daily Mail pointed out that what was taken for a flying suit, was found in the cockpit of the plane by the master of the Lord Trent, demonstrating to the newspaper that the pilot might have been able to discard the suit and leave the machine before it crashed when the embassy acted on orders from Washington in response to a plea of William H. Cramer, brother of Parker, who believes that the fliers may be marooned on a remote island and will remain there unless rescued.

The state department asked the Orkneys by airplane would be feasible and what would be the cost. Cramer and Paquette left the Orkney islands on August 9 in a heavy storm and never were heard from again. They were charting an air-mal route across the Arctic for the American aviation concern. The wreckage of their plane was brought into Hammerfest, Norway, several days ago.

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands (AP)—Spurred by a broadcast appeal from London, fishing folk of the Orkney and Shetland islands started a far-flung search Wednesday for traces of Parker D. Cramer and Oliver Paquette.

Ships in northern waters also maintained a sharp lookout for the American alman, on the chance they might have been cast ashore on one of the sparsely settled islands.

LEGION VOTES BAN ON ALIEN EMPLOYMENT

Detroit (AP)—The American Legion Wednesday instructed its legislative committee to seek passage of a law to prevent an estimated 3,000,000 illegally entered aliens from working or doing business in the United States. The resolution containing this provision also put the Legion on record as favoring registration of all aliens.

Another enactment on immigration proposed stand of a law requiring a promise under oath to bear arms in the defense of the United States before any alien may be naturalized.

The organization also went on record as favoring the barring of Filipinos from continental United States except as temporary visitors.

A ban on Mexican-Indians also was urged.

Deportation of all aliens convicted of a felony, either in state or federal court, was advocated in another section of the report on immigration.

The stand on immigration was taken on recommendation of the Americanism commission, which declared that deportation laws are difficult to enforce at present and that federal officials estimate the number of illegally entered and undesirable aliens at 3,000,000.

The commission also asked and was given authority to investigate depression directly and indirectly on Wednesday to the possibility of leadership by the United States as the nation in the best and most dominant position.

Great Britain's standard in superseding the gold action has inspired economists from statesmen and demagogues for common action. They are advocating adjustments on an economic basis rather than through political formula.

It can be said that the present emergency is receiving the most serious consideration of President Hoover and other officials here. They are making no commitments, however, pending further investigation. They feel confident that Great Britain will be able to cope with her problems satisfactorily.

Much may hinge on the projected visit to the United States of Premier Laval of France, for France has become a key figure, particularly as regards further disarmament and any readjustment of the gold situation.

Officials here are considering some rather significant pronouncements which may have passed over generally in the writer of discussions in the parlors, congresses, and League of Nations committee in the last few days, but which are important in considering the war debt gold problems.

ed wildly, and blared their automobile horns.

The great 758 foot gas bag floated placidly in the air. It appeared perfectly level. There was no sway. At about 100 feet, her engines were turned on and she veered off to the southwest. The launching was made from a free balloon with the engine idle.

Ideal weather conditions prevailed after several days of waiting. The ship, skippered by Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, was headed on a two or three hour flight over a triangular course.

The route was not announced in advance.

In the first half hour aloft the dirigible circled and then turning over the city of Akron until the crew apparently felt out the ship's abilities. A steady breeze swept the clouds away from the face of the sun and transformed the ship from a gray monster to one of burnished silver.

She was maintaining an altitude of about 1,000 feet.

Washington (AP)—Appeals for international cooperation to solve the problems arising from the world depression directly and indirectly on Wednesday to the possibility of leadership by the United States as the nation in the best and most dominant position.

20 MILLIONTH FORD ON EXHIBIT

The twenty-millionth Ford which visited Salem Wednesday was viewed by hundreds of people both in a parade in which it passed through the main streets and also afterward while on display at the Valley Motor company. Alongside it was a collection of all the new Ford models which were accompanying the twenty-millionth car on its tour of the country.

The various models were driven by officials of the Ford car company.

One feature of the visit were evolutions of the various cars put through their paces by their drivers in form of drills which gave the crowd some thrills.

The twenty-millionth Ford after completing its tour of the country will be returned to Dearborn, Mich., where it will be put on permanent display along with the first Ford built in 1893.

SCHOOL BOARD REFUSES CUT IN TEACHERS' PAY

The hiring of a full time clerk at $80 a month to assist in both the city school superintendent's office and the high school principal's office at the request of Superintendent George Hug, the approval of a $510 sum inclusive of a hundred dollars balance left over from last year for equipment and supplies for the high school machine shop instead of the $900 requested, purchase of fall playground equipment for $253.48 less than last year and of band music costing $33.89 were the tangible results of a two hour session of the Salem school board Tuesday night.

Superintendent Hug made a report that parents were requesting the superintendent's office to furnish such supplies as pencils and paper in addition to free text books. A letter was read from the local school board asking the Salem school system to accept their invitation to all other school boards in fine class districts in cutting teachers' salaries five per cent. The clerk was directed to reply that the local board believed to Salem teachers were carrying a greater load here than in other places and their additional work in itself would be more than equivalent to the proposed salary reduction.

The decision on the Y. W. C. A. swimming classes for the high school students was postponed until the next board meeting.

Discussions of sex problems and of the required subjects in the high school curriculum occupied the board but no decisions were announced.
