DOOLITTLE AT MEXICO CITY

Mexico City, (AP) — Major James H. Doolittle, noted American flier, was taking a day off Wednesday after having hung up a new mark for air speedsters Tuesday by flying from Ottawa, Canada, to Mexico City, by way of Washington, D. C., in 12 hours and 36 minutes, linking three capitals.

Major Doolittle landed his swift plane, which he called his "Baby Powerhouse," at Valbuena field at 3:16 p. m., mountain standard time. He took off from Ottawa at 4:40 a. m., eastern standard time, and made stops at Washington, Birmingham, Ala., anad Corpus Christi, Tex.

He calculated his average speed for the flight at 204 miles an hour, and said he was making 235 miles an hour some of the time. The last 225 miles of the flight, from Tampico, were covered in 54 minutes.

A ground fog delayed him 40 minutes at Washington, he said. The fog kept him from landing at Bolling field, where his supplies were waiting, and he was forced to land at another field and make emergency arrangements. If it had not been for this incident, he said, his time would have been about 11½ hours.

The weather was fine, and he saw no storms. He was made a bit "groggy" he said by a leaking exhaust pipe which admitted some carbon monoxide into the cabin of the plane and this, coupled with the fact that he had not been able to sleep the night before, and had eaten nothing all day, made it a "hard trip."

A crowd of about 500, including many Americans who knew him, Mexican aviation officials and a representative of President Ortiz Rubio, welcomed him at the field.

He whipped around three times before landing, brushing the runways in the bright sunshine. Colonel Fierro, chief of the Mexican air service, who made a non-stop flight fom New York to Mexico City last year in 14½ hours, was one of the first to greet him. They spoke alternately in Spanish and English, the Major explaining to an interpreter that he understood the Spanish.

He said he planned to return to St. Louis Thursday, after a rest.

FINAL TRIBUTE TO THOMAS A. EDISON

friend and business associate, Arthur L. Walsh.

There was more of his favorite music from Bach and Beethoven, a reading of the 23rd Psalm, a tribute from Arthur J. Palmer, one of Edison's old associates in the laboratory, and a prayer.

Then his body was born away to rest under a giant oak tree in Rosedale cemetery near that of his assistant, John Ott, who died Monday of grief and shock over the passing of the inventor.

West Orange, N. J. (AP)—Thomas A. Edison's family and his friends —among whom were numbered two grey-haired citizens of the middlewest, almost as widely known as he himself in this age of mechanical wizardry—gathered Wednesday in his roomy, old-fashioned home in Llewellyn park to bid him godspeed on his last long journey.

Hid body was removed early Wednesday morning from his workroom in a little one-story building just off the main street, where it had been viewed by thousands as it lay in state Monday and Tuesday, to the seclusion of his 16-acre estate, Glenmont.

As far as possible, the brief and unostentious funeral schedule was kept private. Mounted police patrolled the borders of the estate, and admission was by card only. But even so, those who gathered there Wednesday numbered more than 400. It was said the house had been equipped with amplifiers so that all could hear.

Henry Ford and Harvey S. Firestone both had arrived from the west. President Hoover had planned to come himself, but was unable to leave Washington, and Mrs. Hoover arranged to represent him, arriving just before the funeral at 2:30 p. m. (E. S. T.).

Mr. Ford did not enter the room in which the body of the inventor day. He wanted no sight of death, he said, to cloud the memory of his last sight of his friend—there in the library a few feet away.

The Rev. Dr. Stephen J. Herden, a former Methodist minister and a friend of Mr. Edison, planned only an informal funeral service at the home. There was a prayer and the Nintieth Psalm—"The days of our years are three score and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four score years, yet is their strength labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away."

There was nationwide response to the suggestion by President Hoover, in a statement Tuesday, that all electric lights be turned off for one minute at 10 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, Wednesday night—crystallizing the attention of 120,000,000 people upon the vital part in their lives of a single Edison invention.

The honor guard maintained by Edison employes at the inventor's bier was replaced Tuesday night by details from the army, the marine corps, the national guard, and the navy. Prayers were offered three times Tuesday by the Rev. Arthur H. Brown of the Methodist church of Orange, at Mrs. Edison's request.

Washington (AP) — Mrs. Herbert Hoover left the capital Wednesday morning for West Orange, N. J., to attend the funeral of Thomas Alva Edison. The president's wife will represent the White House family at services for the inventor.

It was announced definitely at the White House late Tuesday that the chief executive would be unable to attend because of the press of public business.

Mrs. Hoover was accompanied only by Miss Alida Hernriques, of Washington, an old friend of the family, and Colonel Campbell Hodges, White House military aide.

The first lady rode on one of the regular passenger trains of the Pennsylvania railroad, due at Newark at 1:08 p.m.

Colonel Francois Pilon, military attache at the French embassy, was assigned by Marshal Petain to represent France at the funeral.

CANNED BREAD BOON TO BRIDES

Chicago (AP)—For the bride who fears she's paving the way to the divorce court with biscuits—canned biscuits!

They were exhibited at the national food exposition Wednesday as a solution to her problem.

These biscuits—southern variety—come already mixed, rolled and cut. All that is needed, so the demonstrator said, is a can-opener, a hot oven and two minutes' time.

And speaking of can-openers, there was one among the array of ultra modern kitchen conveniences, that folds down the edge of cans to eliminate cut fingers and ruined manicures.

Among the housekeeping shortcuts on display was an electric stove that will turn itself on, start cooking dinner in the late afternoon and have it ready when the housewife comes home from work or bridge. Its sponsors said it just stops short of putting the roast on the table.

There was an ironless ironing equipment that, when not on duty as such, serves as a white enamel kitchen table. When opened up this device resembles a pressing outfit in a tailors' workshop. It is operated by means of levers and dials.

Nearby stands a washing machine that washes clothes in one bin and gets them almost dry in another. The housewife's job is to supply the machine with water and soap and lift the clothes in and out.

Water in the kitchen tap is used as power for an egg, mayonnaise or whipped cream beater. The contraption is attached to the tap by means of a hose.

When a baby cries for a 2 o'clock morning feeding there is an electric milk warmer that can be kept by the mothers' bedside and save a trip to the kitchen to warm the infant's bottle. Also there is an electric egg cooker that turns out one-minute eggs with one teaspoonful of water and two-minute eggs with two teaspoonsful. It boils them hard with but little more water.

pany or the city as a means of relieving unemployment Mr. Elliott was asked when and under what conditions the water company would be prepared to proceed with its contemplated improvements.

"It will be impossible for us to make any capital expenditure of the magnitude to complete the filter plant, etc., at Salem until the question of municipal ownership of that property is definitely settled, or a satisfactory form of agreement is entered into between the city and the company," Mr. Elliott replied.

"This means that if the question of municipal ownership is submitted and defeated, the company will proceed with the completion of the work it has started, or if the contract previously worked out between the company and the city covering the matter is executed, the company will proceed."

The contract referred to by Mr. Elliott is that worked out by himself and other company officials in conference with members of the council utilities committee and the city attorney last winter, by the terms of which the company would proceed with certain specified improvements under the supervision of the city and the guarantee to reimburse the company for all such capital expenditures in the evenet the city should at a later date see fit to acquire the property for municipal operation.
