RELIEF PROGRAM CREW STARTED WEST SIDE ROAD

INDEPENDENCE—A crew of men were sent out from Independence on Thursday to work on the highway north of Monmouth, under the state emergency road program. There were seven men in the group and on account of the storm were obliged to quit and return to their homes about ten o'clock. The work is widening the shoulders of the road, beginning at the Southern Pacific tracks and running to Monmouth.

About a 100 have filed applications for this kind of work and the plan is to spread it as far as possible to relieve as many as possible. The Lewisville road connection with the highway south of Monmouth has been made a part of the state's secondary road system, according to a statement made by Judge Hawkins at a Lions meeting recently in Monmouth. At first, for some reason, this road was not included in the highway program, but later the system was revised to include it.

Just what the plans are for carrying out this work is not known, as to whether small crews will be used and changed often or large crews with shorter hours or limited days a week. It is at least affording a measure of relief to the unemployed.
