

OREGON VOTERS TO CAST BALLOT ON BIG TICKET

Oregon voters this year, in addition to naming their choice for president and vice president, will be called upon to elect one United States senator and three representatives in congress on the national schedule, while in the state three of the six elective offices are to be filled.

However, the state ballots will not be confined to these alone, there are also two justices of the supreme court to elect, 15 state senators and the entire membership of the house of representatives, or 60. Also included in the state election will be circuit judges and district attorneys in many counties and districts. The 36 counties will likewise name many county officials this year while citizens have their quota of officers to elect.

Senator Frederick Stelzer's term expires next March, and one of the most contested elections will be for his seat. The three congressmen, W. C. Hawley from the first district, Robert B. Butler from the second and Charles H. Martin from the third, must appeal to the electorate to retain their seats.

Oregon this year will not vote on a governor, as Julius L. Meier's term does not expire until 1935. The other two members of the state board of control, state treasurer and state secretary, are to be elected. Both incumbents, Rufus C. Holman and Hal E. Hoss respectively, are expected to run for the same positions. The attorney-general position, now held by I. H. Van Winkle, is the third elective state official to be named.

Two positions on the supreme court, those now held by Chief Justice Henry J. Bean, and Justice George M. Brown, are to be filled by the voters. The remaining five justices are hold-over members.

Oregon election laws this year provide for three ballots at the primary election on May 20. In addition to the ballots for the two major parties, republican and democratic, a non-partisan ballot will be drawn to nominate candidates, two each, for all judicial positions.

Oregon at the primary election will name its preference for presidential candidates of both parties. This will be done by the election at that time of delegates to the nominating conventions to be held in Chicago in June. Thirteen republican delegates, seven from the state at large and two from each congressional district, will be elected, while 10 democratic delegates, four of which are named from the state at large, will be chosen.

At the November 8 general election Oregon will vote on the president and vice-president, which carries with it the election of five presidential electors.

Half of the state senate is elected each election year, in addition to others necessary to fill vacancies caused either by death or resignation. Fifteen state senators are sure to be elected. These include senators from Douglas, Josephine, Coos and Curry; Washington; five from Multnomah county; Hood river and Wasco; one from the combined counties of Crook, Deschutes, Jefferson, Klamath and Lake; from Gilliam, Sherman and Wheeler; Union and Wallowa; Grant, Harney and Malheur; and

SCOTS TO RALLY AT M'GILCHRIST HOME

Salem Scots, who have celebrated "Bobby" Burns' birthday anniversary annually for a number of years here, will rally at the William McGilchrist, Sr. home on South Commercial street next Monday night for an informal and impromptu program of speeches and vocal and instrumental music.

In former years, local Scots have observed the birthday of their poet with elaborate banquets and programs but this year the president, William McGilchrist Sr., said everybody was hard-up and that while there would be lots of fun and merrymaking and the appearance of the Kilty band, and other features associated with former programs given by the group, there would be nothing costly and that "Scotch" refreshments would be served.

"Lots of noise and song, but no money spent," said McGilchrist, who is hard at work planning a celebration that would delight Bobby Burns' heart if he could attend.

White Swan, Wash. (UP)—When Fish Merchant J. Jensen saw a car plowing through the mud on a road near here, he sighed in relief.

His own car was stuck. But the strangers merely robbed him of $30 and drove on.
