WOODBURN CITY FINANCES SOUND

Woodburn—An investigation of the financial condition of the city of Woodburn recently made by the United States national bank of Portland discloses that this city is in a better condition financially than most other cities in Oregon. Statistics were sent in by Keith Powell, president of the Bank of Woodburn, at the request of the Portland bank and a letter received by Powell in reply says in part: "Woodburn is the first city to report an over payment for the year 1931. So far the average yearly delinquency of Woodburn is very much less than any other reporting municipality, whether it be city, school district or county. The total net debt of your city amounting to only two years and two months tax receipts, is also among the very lowest."

The tax levy in Woodburn for 1931 was $13,029 for municipal government purposes. A total of $13,049.89 was collected. The additional amount was due to delinquent taxes of previous years being paid up. The present net bonded indebtedness of the city is $28,868.57, which represents about three per cent of the property on the city's tax list. There are no outstanding warrants. The figures given were obtained from Paul Mills, city treasurer.

CHIEF IS STUMPED BY TRICK FLYING

Silverton—Green Rowe swore out a warrant against Ralph Staggs, accusing Staggs of hitting him as a result of an altercation. Staggs peacefully accepted a minimum fine from the Silverton police court at the trial Monday morning.

Many complaints came to the attention of the city law enforcers concerning airplanes doing stunt flying, trick turns and tail flips, or other fancy stunts that the dodging citizens didn't know just how to classify verbally, and these citizens asked the city police to please have the aviators fly a little higher over the houses on East and West hills for they feared a collision between their homes and the whirling ships.

Arthur Dahl, Silverton's chief-of-police, rather doubtfully suggested an airplane parked along side of his prowl car, and he'd promise to go right up after them. In other words, that was one situation that even the chief of police did not know just how to take immediate action upon.

The court agreed that the people were justified in entering these complaints and they will take the question of flying too low over portions of the city, up with the proper authorities of control.
