Two Cougar Cubs Present Problem To Present Owner

Albany—H. C. Keeney of Philomath was in Albany Wednesday afternoon displaying two cougar cubs which he found in the foothills of the Cascade mountains near Cascadia, when he was visiting his brother at Posters.

Keeney had gone into the foothills with his two dogs and discovered the cubs' mother, stalking the fringe of the heavy timber. The dogs were off after the cougar, which lead them past the den where the cubs had been left for safe keeping. One of the dogs was lured on into the mountains by the cougar while the other bayed the two little ones. Keeney killed the mother and salvaged the offspring.

Keeney was at a loss to know what to do with the animals. He can collect $100 bounty for each of their pelts from the state and county or sell them to some individual. The striped felines attracted no little attention as they reposed in their box in Keeney's car.

PARADISE FARM WORK STARTED

Sheridan—Work was started last week on the construction of the large, new main building of the Jesuit novitiate on the hill just west of Sheridan, formerly known as "Paradise Farm."

A temporary school building and dormitory for the forty-five boys now receiving instruction was dedicated last August. The new building will provide quarters and classrooms for one hundred and twenty-five. It is planned to have the new building ready for occupancy in October. The territory which will supply these young men stretches over the entire Pacific northwest, and the school when completed will be one of the best of its kind to be found anywhere in the country.

Contract for the construction of the principal part of the main building has been let to Dugan and Reverman, Inc., of Portland, the architects who drew the plans and designed the building. This part of the building will be 377 feet in length with a width of 60 feet, and four stories high. It will front directly toward the highway in the valley, which it overlooks from an elevation of approximately 500 feet.

The procuring of sufficient water for the school has been a disturbing factor from the very start and has not been definitely settled, although a number of feasible plans are under consideration and will be determined as soon as the need for a greater supply is found necessary. Local help will be used in as large a measure as possible and local materials have been contracted and will be bought locally in every instance where it is possible. Mr. Reverman has stated. Concrete and steel will compose the main building, which at a later date will be covered with brick veneer.
