The 36 members of the local American Legion junior band who played for a variety of events at the beach Saturday evening and Sunday made a very creditable showing, according to Tom Hill, one of the group of citizens who planned and carried through the excursion. The party left here Saturday afternoon and drove to Nelscott where the night was spent with Mr. and Mrs. Cushing putting their camp kitchen at the disposal of the group in addition to furnishing a number of beds. The band provided music at Nelscott and Taft Saturday evening and at Taft Sunday during the highway celebration. A turkey dinner was provided the musicians Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Art Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brazeau and Tom Hill. Salem firms and individuals who helped make the trip a success included the Cherry City Baking company, Valley Cakes company, Eighty-Way, Smith and Watkins, Capitol Dairies, Willamette Grocery company, W. T. Stoltz, Midget market, Jim St. Clair and K. Smith.

MISHAPS CAUSE ELEVEN DEATHS

(By the United Press) Airplane and automobile accidents and drowning cost 11 lives in the Pacific northwest over a warm week-end which sent city dwellers scurrying for shade and amusement at all resorts.

Pilot Roy Johnson and two passengers, Jock Simpson, 22, and Alie Simpson, 19, brothers, were killed at Wenatchee when Johnson's airplane crashed.

Automobiles also took three lives. Cecil Matany, 19, of Monmouth, Ore., was instantly killed early Sunday 12 miles south of Madras when his car plunged over an embankment. Earl Poulsen, 20, of Portland, was taken to a Portland hospital in critical condition with a fractured spine sustained in the same accident.

Hayes Coleman, 35, of Orofino, Idaho, was drowned in Clearwater river near that town when his car plunged into the stream. The body was not recovered. Elwood Zypf, 18, of Othello, Wash., was killed when a car driven by Fred Moore of Mesa struck a viaduct. Moore was held for questioning.

Five deaths were accountable to drownings. Barbara Ineson, 17, Tacoma, Wash., drowned in a heroic but unsuccessful attempt to save the life of Shirley Peterson, 6, Tacoma. They were swimming in Blac lake near Olympia. Both bodies were recovered.

Cramps were believed to have caused the drowning of Earl E. Wood, 19, of Chehalis, while swimming in the Chehalis river. His body was found.

Thomas Rotlow, 7, waded beyond his depth in a water-filled rock quarry at Tenino, Wash., and was drowned. The body was recovered.

PETE JENSEN
Monmouth, Ore.—Pete Jensen, 66, formerly of Salem, died here Sunday, after a short illness. The family returned Saturday from a visit in Kansas, their former home. He was the father of C. J. (Bud) Jensen, former Salem aviator, now of Portland, who also had charge of the Beaverton airport.

Jensen was born in Skodsborg, Denmark, May 10, 1865 and came to the United States when 21, locating at Fresno, Calif. He later engaged in the wholesale produce business in Emporia, Kans., returning to California eight years ago when he moved to Salem. He located in Monmouth about a year ago. He was married to Mary Louise Perrier in 1888 and besides his widow is survived by three daughters, Mrs. O. C. Christensen and Miss Frances Christensen, both of Monmouth; Mrs. E. C. Wilson, Visalia, Calif., one son, C. J. Jensen, Portland; a sister, Mrs. Marie Christensen, in Denmark and two brothers, T. Jensen, Emporia, Kans., and C. Jensen, Redlands, Calif., and four grand children. The funeral is in charge of the Keeney funeral home at Independence and will be forwarded to Kansas Tuesday for interment.

DRUNK DRIVERS PLEAD GUILTY HELD IN JAIL

E. H. Craig, 1785 South Capitol street, and S. M. Bush, fair grounds, both charged with driving automobiles while intoxicated and both having been involved in traffic collisions over the week-end, were before Justice Judge Mark Poulsen this afternoon. Both pleaded guilty and the cases were continued until tomorrow. Both are held in the city jail in lieu of bail of $500 fixed by the court in each case.

Craig was arrested Sunday night after a collision at the junction point between Liberty and Broadway in which he is said to have crashed into a car driven by C. R. Cutsinger of Brooks. Miss Albina Hahn, sister-in-law of Cutsinger was severely bruised about the head and body, necessitating her being sent to a hospital.

Police records show that Craig was arrested December 8, 1928, for drunkenness and unlawful possession of liquor, and also on February 2, 1931, for drunken driving. He was fined $50 each time.

Bush is said by the police officers to have collided Saturday night with another automobile on High street, not far from police headquarters, the other car being driven by Jack Croner of Salem.

Both Craig and Bush are said to have allowed their cars to swerve from the right side to the wrong side of the street prior to the collisions.

Other motor vehicle accidents reported during the week-end were: Leroy E. Grote, route 1, car overturned in ditch three miles out on river road, a second car not being involved. R. W. Skopli, 1715 North Church, and Chester Heckman, 445 Water, at Liberty and Marion. Rev. A. E. Page, route 6, and an unidentified driver, on 12th street. Lawrence Anderson, 129 North 24th street, and Mrs. J. E. Wright, route 3, on Commercial between Oak and Leslie. Phil Helm, Stayton, on Salem-Sublimity highway, no other cars being involved.

LABOR DEFENSE LEAGUE GRILLED

Endorsement of the International Labor Defense movement by several Salem men was severely criticized by R. P. Bonham, district director of the U. S. immigration service, in an address before the chamber of commerce Monday noon. The movement has been placed definitely to the communist party and has interested ministers, professors and one former governor of Oregon, under the guise of "free speech," Bonham said, adding that he had more respect for a person identified with one of Al Capone's sympathetic campaigns than with one associated with an organization that has as its purpose the overthrow of government by violence. The International Labor Defense league is the "fighting arm" of the communist, he declared.

"Few persons realize that when a communist named Foster ran for president of the United States in 1923 the platform upon which he stood was sedition," Bonham continued. Among the planks were the abolition of the supreme court, franchise regardless of citizenship, repeal of all immigration laws, social as well as political equality with intermarriage of blacks and whites and the promise of a negro form of government in the south. Because of their efforts to create strife, the "bonus army" situation in Washington, D. C. is critical and a source of great joy to the communists, he said.

There have been no federal states since 1919 and Oregon is protected alone by its criminal syndicalism law.

Importance of the immigration service to the U. S. was also stressed by the speaker. "The immigrants of today—or his children—is the citizen of tomorrow and quality is of the utmost importance," Bonham said. "Had the United States adopted a wise immigration policy 20 years ago there would not have been the unemployment of today. With out restriction America would soon lose its identity." The speaker, in connection with Hawaii, said that there are more Japanese children born there than whites and that should the island be admitted to statehood, the Japanese, which predominate, would be in full control of the state.

Report on Incomes Ordered By Senate

Washington, June 13 (AP)—The senate today ordered the commerce department to prepare a report on the total national income for the years 1929, 1930 and 1931.

A resolution introduced by Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, asking for the information was adopted without debate. It called for a report on the total national income for each of the three years and the distributing of the income.

Cloudburst Feared In Southern Idaho

Pocatello, Idaho, June 13 (AP)—Southeastern Idaho gazed skyward apprehensively today with the memory of a Sunday cloudburst fresh in their minds.

A sudden terrific downpour on East mountain, 15 miles south of Pocatello, precipitated a flow of mud that virtually tied up traffic on the Yellowstone highway. Highway crews were clearing away a half mile of debris.

The Portneuf river went on a rampage shortly after the cloudburst and threatened to overflow its banks inside the city limits of Pocatello.

TAKES 30 MEN TO DO WORK OF STEAM SHOVEL

The $150 a day to be paid for hand labor on state highway work to help meet the unemployment emergency is figured out on a basis of how men can compete against machinery, State Highway Engineer Baldock told members of the Marion county court Saturday.

Baldock told members of the court that it takes 30 men to do the work of one of the big shovels. Six teams are required to haul away the product of a big shovel and the 30 men split up in gangs of 10 men each. The ten men to two teams will handle the dirt that the shovel will dig out and deposit in wagons for the same six teams to carry away. The shovel operates on a cost basis of $45 a day which gives the men a wage of $1.50 a day in competing against the shovel.

County Commissioner Smith and Roadmaster Johnson were up on the Victor Point road work Saturday found a case in point. They stated that 40 teams are now working for the county on that market road. The big shovel is on the job as well as a big 60-horse caterpillar. Billy McIlwain also has a good sized force of men at work there. The county pays $4 a day straight for men and teams.

"That's a great sight up on that market road with the 40 teams at work," said Commissioner Smith. "They are as fine a looking bunch of teams as you will find anywhere, good enough for a showing at a state fair parade. The teams all come from this county going in from as far away as Haze Green and the Howell Prairie country and also coming from the vicinity of where the road work is being done."

"We have heard some complaints about the proposal of a $1.50 pay for men's work on state highways but it can be figured out as Engineer Baldock stated that men can deliver as much work as shovels when put on that basis. The new plan will also allow men to be employed steadily. Under the old emergency work scale at $3 a day or $4 a day, according to where men are employed, they were worked one week in four or five and as a result they were during periods of enforced idleness and it took them about the week they worked to get back in physical condition to handle this heavy work. By getting straight time under the new work the men keep in physical condition to handle it and get as much or more money in the long run although they have to work longer periods for it."

ENGLAND AND FRANCE AGREE

Paris, June 13 (AP)—France and England faced the coming Lausanne conference on war debts and reparations today agreed on "the basis of a common viewpoint" looking toward a solution of the international problems.

This announcement was made following conferences yesterday between Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Edouard Herriot of France.

As a first step toward re-establishment of world confidence, it was expected, all nations represented at the conference, which opens Thursday, would be asked to promise to keep the peace. The two premiers left here at 11:18 o'clock last night for Geneva.

Perlinax, political writer of L'Echo de Paris, said MacDonald abandoned the notion of asking Germany for a declaration of peaceful intentions regarding Poland, believing it would be refused, and that the general peaceful declaration of all the powers was probably what would be asked instead. In this, he said, the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war would be recalled.

Premier Herriot would be inclined to accept a 5 to 10 percent reduction of national defense budgets, he added.

"The determination of both the French and ourselves," Prime Minister MacDonald said, "is to make the Lausanne conference effective and we are determined to do everything to remove the many economic troubles and dislocations and to get the economic machine working properly."

Bomb In Bonus Camp Proves To Be Dud

Washington, June 13 (AP)—Investigation disclosed today that a "bomb" found near a billet of the bonus army was an old Mills hand grenade from which the powder and cap had been removed.

Police said they thought it was a war relic brought along out of sentiment by one of the 12,000 who have come to Washington to demand payment of the bonus.

Norblad Again Head Of Highway Group

Taft, Ore., June 13 (AP)—Ex-governor A. W. Norblad was re-elected president of the Oregon Coast Highway association at its annual meeting here yesterday.

Other officers are: G. E. Krieger, Marshfield, vice-president; John Schroeder, Tillamook, secretary; Joe F. Williams, Marshfield, treasurer.

Plans were outlined for an annual Oregon coast pageant, to be held about June 1 when Scotch broom, rhododendron, azaleas and other native flowers are in bloom.

SWAP NEWSPAPERS
Oregon City, Ore., June 13 (AP)—Edward Pierson, publisher of the Oregon Review for the past two years, has traded the paper for the Garibaldi-Rockaway News, published by A. M. and W. A. Bryant.

The Bryant's took charge of the Review last week and Pierson left Sunday to take over the News.

3000 TROOPS TO ENTRAIN FOR CAMP CLATSOP

The movement of more than 3000 guardsmen from 21 counties in Oregon for Camp Clatsop and Fort Stevens will be started tonight, the troops to spend the next two weeks in annual encampment. The National Guard headquarters here announced that all of the men will arrive at camp tomorrow afternoon.

Major-General George A. White and most of the staff here will leave during today for camp, while Colonel General Thomas E. Riley will go with the first train leaving Portland in the morning. All elements of the guard are recruited to full strength of 3,085. The cost of the camp, about $200,000 is being paid by the federal government.

The complete movement will require nine passenger trains and two special freight trains. Actual field training will begin upon arrival of the trains.

Visitors' day, scheduled for Saturday, June 25, will be on a much larger scale than ever before, General White said. The big feature of the day will be the annual review of the Oregon National Guard which will be tendered to Governor Julius L. Packard in the afternoon immediately by the combat demonstration. Arrangements will be made to handle 40,000 visitors on this day. The annual review and combat demonstration is credited with having grown into an occasion for the largest annual assemblage of people in the Pacific northwest and is going in popularity every year.

General White, commander of the National Guard of the northwest, will establish his field headquarters at Camp Clatsop. In addition to the camps in Clatsop county, other elements of his command which will be in training at the same time will be located at Fort Lewis, B. H. Brack, and Fort William H. Harrison.

Brigadier General Thomas E. Riley, commander of the 82nd brigade, will be in command at Camp Clatsop. Lieutenant Colonel Clifford M. Irwin in command of the 249th coast artillery at Fort Stevens, and Lieutenant Colonel William D. Wacker in command of the 218th field artillery, also at Fort Stevens.

Salem is sending approximately 150 officers and men to Camp Clatsop and Fort Stevens. Under command of Captain H. G. (Pod) Maitson, Co. B, 162nd Infantry, will leave Salem at 8:05 o'clock Tuesday morning for Camp Clatsop, reaching Portland at 11 o'clock and the destination at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon. Headquarters detachment, 248th coast artillery, commanded by Captain Arthur Bates, and the medical detachment under command of Captain J. H. Garnjobst will leave Salem at 8:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, Portland at 11:15 o'clock and arrive at Fort Stevens at the mouth of the Columbia at 3:10 o'clock.

AGENTS HUNTING BOOZE BURGLARS

San Francisco, June 13 (AP)—Federal prohibition authorities were today seeking "higher ups" responsible for a frustrated attempt to loot a government bonded warehouse here of high grade liquors worth $100,000.

A slender string stretched across the floor of the plant set off a burglar alarm just as the burglars prepared to load trucks with the valuable cases of liquor. Squads of police reached the scene in time to confiscate two trucks the hijackers abandoned in their hasty escape.

Otis R. Kelm and Edward N. Godat, in whose names the trucks were licensed, were arrested and held for questioning. Both men said they had left their trucks for repairs at a paint shop owned by Henry Nordhausen. Nordhausen also was held.

LEGLESS YOUTH TO LEARN DANCING

El Paso, Texas (AP)—Nicho Lara, who has mastered the art of riding a bicycle and driving an automobile despite the handicap of two artificial legs, now is determined to learn to dance.

The 17 year old boy lost both legs, just below the hips, several years ago when he was run over by a train near Old Ft. Bliss. He continued his school work, propelling himself to classes on a small platform built on skates.

Then he acquired the artificial limbs, and can walk now, providing he uses a crutch. Soon he will have to use the crutch.

"I don't want pity, but comradeship," Nicho said. "I like crowds and people."

Senators Arrives By Plane For Address

Gettysburg, Pa. (AP)—U. S. Senator James J. Davis used modern transportation methods to good advantage when he confuted the towns of Oxford and New Oxford in filling a speaking engagement.

Davis appeared at Oxford, Chester county, for a speech he expected to make at a bi-centennial celebration. He found no celebration there. On learning of his mistake, he chartered an automobile for a fast trip to the nearest airport at Lancaster and boarded an airplane there to reach New Oxford, Adams county, where the celebration was being held.

GRAE BROUGHT PLANT

Frederichshafen, Germany (AP)—Transportation of rare tropical plants for transplanting in German botanical gardens, formerly impossible due to the long steamer trip, now is possible to the Graf Zeppelin's three-day schedule to Brazil.

Among the plants now being grown for the first time in Germany, are two unusual varieties of mayacaca, and a species of gentiana, insectivorous plants.

Grange Committee Hears Arguments On University Removal

Main arguments for and against the proposed initiative measure for the consolidation of the state's higher institution of learning in the hearing before the committee of the state grange today were made by Hector Macpherson of Albany and William Tugman, Eugene. The committee will report to the state grange convention in Silverton which opens tomorrow.

The committee presiding at the hearing was appointed by the grange to consider financing the state unified educational system, but since that time the consolidation measure was proposed and the group was asked to report its findings on the matter. Mrs. Walter Pierce is chairman of the committee, with Ray Gill and Loyal Graham.

Macpherson claimed the proposed consolidation of schools as outlined in the bill not only would raise the standard of education but would be more economical. He said the state board of higher education now claims to be saving a million dollars a year in its unified plan, but that it had not touched the bigger items of saving.

He pleaded for one big university, which he said could be effected by moving the Eugene school to Corvallis. "We have neither a university nor a college worthy of the name now," he declared. "We have two halves, which the proposed bill would put together, eliminate competitive programs, and have a well-rounded center of culture."

The proponents of the initiative measure have long been active in educational matters and is a member of the Oregon legislature. In his argument he said, "I doubt whether there is one man on either faculty who will come up to the first rate educators." He further charged that the director of elementary teachers training (J. A. Churchill) was not the proper man for that position as "he had not done on honest day's work in his life."

Macpherson attacked the matter of public relations of the schools, charging that rivalry was best demonstrated by the school of journalism at Eugene. The department of journalism at the state college and the "corralled state editorial association," all used to disseminate propaganda for one or the other schools. The physical consolidation would eliminate this "bad political influence and fight for control of the press," he added.

William Tugman, managing editor of the Eugene Guard, in his argument against the initiative, said the bill misrepresents the economies the state is seeking in higher education. He declared the consolidation would decrease the property valuation of Eugene by $3,500,000 and would wipe out $1,100,000 in fraternity and sorority property.

He further stated such a plan would play havoc with the tax structure of the state, would cause a heavy financial loss to Monmouth and that the change could not be made without a heavy building program at Corvallis.

Tugman stated the question came down to whether the state should permit the board of higher education's unified system a fair trial, or to scrap the result of three years' work and attempt a new idea at once. He declared the federal survey recommended against such a plan as proposed by the initiative as a "physical consolidation was out of the question."

In his argument Tugman pointed out the housing difficulties at Corvallis, the need for additional expenditure at the outset in transferring 2500 students from Eugene to Corvallis, and the creation of an expenditure rather than a saving in the educational system.

The hearing continued through the noon hour. Senator H. C. Wheeler of Lane county also represented the opponents to the proposed initiative, while Henry Zorn, president of the Marion County Tax Conservation and Equalization league, originators of the bill, spoke in its favor.

The bill as proposed would transfer the university at Eugene to Corvallis, create a four-year teachers' college at Eugene, establish junior colleges at Ashland and La Grande and move the law school from Eugene to Salem. The Monmouth Normal school campus would be vacated entirely under the proposal.

The Oregon supreme court tomorrow will hear arguments on the appeal from the ballot title of the measure filed by Justice Ross, Salem attorney. The appeal was filed on the grounds that the title furnished by the attorney general was unfair.

PLAN TO OBSERVE BUILD SALEM DAY

Further plans for the "Build Salem Day" proposal sponsored by the Salem chapter of the Oregon Building Congress will be formulated at a meeting of the chapter to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the chamber of commerce.

Among the features planned for the day is a parade on the morning of June 25 depicting through the use of floats the various steps and processes of building operations and demonstrating by various means the marked reduction made in the cost of building materials during the past three years and pointing out the economy of building at this time.

Floats for the parade will be prepared by the different manufacturers and building material dealers, and the line-up will be augmented by the appearance of two bands and the American Legion drum corps. Other features are to be discussed at tonight's meeting.

Doctor Who Treated Lincoln Passes On

New York, June 13 (AP)—Dr. Charles A. Leale, the first surgeon to reach the side of President Lincoln after he was shot, and who remained at the president's side until his death, died today at his home, in Madison avenue. He was 90 years old.

The physician was executive officer of the U. S. Army General Hospital in Washington at the time of Lincoln's assassination. He was placed in charge of the wounded president by Mrs. Lincoln. He also was consulting physician in the last illness of President Garfield, also the victim of an assassin.
