CUBE BUTTER ADVANCES ONE CENT POUND

Portland, Ore., July 21 (UP)—Advance of one cent a pound in the price of cube butter on the produce exchange here was not at all unexpected in view of the scramble recently for top score offerings generally along the coast. The advance to 18c for extras was therefore due. However, the rise of a similar amount in underscores was more of a sympathetic movement rather than any special need for such a rise. The shortage of extras and standards, however, have a somewhat better undertone to the entire trade and forcer the movement of under grades into consuming channels.

For several days there has been rather keen strength in the California market owing to the great decreases in the churning there and along the coast. Much northwest stock has been moved in that direction as a result of the higher prices which naturally forced the upward swing here.

Butterfat made the costumary advance of one cent a pound which is now effective.

Generally firm tone is suggested in the market for eggs here with strength displayed at most leading points along the Pacific slope. Receipts continue to dwindle

Cut of 1c lb. in the buying price of lightweight hens to 7-9c lb. is shown for the day, confirming last week's late forecasts of this desire on the part of killers in spite of the decreased supply.

Months ahead of the normal, new crop young tom turkeys are being offered to the local trade by Willamette valley growers but none appear anxious to start the movement inasmuch as there is still considerable old stuff coming and the storage plants are loaded.

Warmer weather has quickly affected sentiment in the market for country killed meats. Receipts are not liberal but demand appears a trifle slow except for lambs and mutton, which are fully maintained.

Shippers at The Dalles are lifting the price of apricots and some dissatisfaction exists in the trade. Sales are still liberal but mostly at old prices. Attempts to secure the advances are not yet general.

Prices continue off in the market for tomatoes here, the result of furthre increase of marketing by Columbia river points as well as liberal hangover from the California season. Hothouse are in nominal offering but prices are shaded along with outdoor to move.

Market for celery is somewhat depressed at practically all points, several carloads have recently been rolled from the Lahish section but no sales are confirmed. Locally the market is overloaded.

Lemons are up another 75c case.

Peach market is extremely slow for all offerings.

Cucumber market continued sick, principally 25-30c box.

First peas out of the Marshland section were priced at a nickel.

Apple trading was of nominal characted with scarcely sufficient business to establish prices.

SEEK PEGGING OF WHEAT TO DOLLAR

Denver, Colo., July 21 (UP)—Cooperation of the federal farm board in pegging the price of this year's crop of wheat at $1 a bushel, was sought by Lieut. Gov. Edwin C. Johnson today.

Johnson, head of the grain men's cooperative organization at Craig, wired Chairman Stone of the farm board that the short crop this year justified the farmers in a selling strike until the objective is obtained.

Johnson asked the board to cooperate, and said he anticipated a prompt reply.

WALNUT CROP TO BE ABOVE AVERAGE

The crop of English walnuts in the valley will be well above the average, in the opinion of S. H. Van Trump, county horticultural inspector, who, during his tours of the country has had occasion to glance over several plantings. The crop in the higher elevations will not be as heavy as has been the case in some other years, but nevertheless the set is quite well distributed. The lower elevations seem to have been favored by weather conditions during the spring months and as a result the trees are quite heavily loaded. VanTrump says his orchard has a fine crop this year. Little blight has put in an appearance.

DEMONSTRATION ON TREATING BULBS

A demonstration in the hot water method of treating bulbs for nematode and greater fly infectation will be held at the Chapin bulb farm in South Bottom, 10 miles north of Salem, beginning at 10 a. m. Tuesday, July 26, S. H. Van Trump, horticultural inspector for Marion county, states. The demonstration was originally scheduled for next Monday but owing to the fact that one or two officials could not be present, it was set over a day.

Officials who will be present during the demonstration, in addition to Van Trump, are Dr. Stillinger, representing the U. S. department of agriculture; Dr. F. P. McWhorter of Oregon State college, and John Wieman and J. E. Stausberg, representing the Oregon state department of agriculture.

Bulb growers from Marion, Polk, Linn and other valley counties are invited to attend and bring their problems and questions for discussion.

The high waters of last winter caused a spread of the bulb worm to sections of the lower valley which has been cleared of the infestion, Van Trump states.

LACK OF SALES DEMAND SENDS WHEAT LOWER

Chicago, July 21 (AP)—Wheat values sagged late today, owing largely to absence of sustained buying force.

Export demand for United States wheat was lacking, although 1,000,000 bushels of Canadian was taken today and an equal amount yesterday. Price declines were in the face of the fact predictions of rain had been unfulfilled.

After reacting to below yesterday's finish all around, wheat closed irregular at ¼ decline to ¼ advance, corn ⅛-⅜ down, oats ⅝-½ off, and provisions at a rise of 12 to 17 cents.

Despite lower temperatures northwest, grain prices averaged higher early today. Crop reports said the northwest no longer expected bumper yields, but that a better than average crop was indicated. Opening unchanged to ¼ up, wheat afterward advanced. Corn started ⅛-¼ higher and continued firm.

Portland, July 21 (AP)—Bears continue in control of the Portland wheat market as they are also in charge of the leading markets of the North American zone. While there was no change in wheat futures here for the day and no trading, and despite the receipt of export business, cash wheat lost ½ to 1½ cents bushel on the merchants exchange. It was the most complete expressions of bearish control this market has seen.

FARM ILLS DUE TO FARM BOARD

Kansas City, July 21 (AP)—The federal farm board and various reclamation projects were described as enemies of the farmers at the congressional hearing here into governmental competition with private business.

John B. Gage, a lawyer, a representative of the livestock interests, yesterday assailed the National Livestock Marketing association, a farm board agency, by declaring that "any organization that receives at least 98 per cent of its working capital from the government truly can be said to represent the government in business."

The depression in livestock prices, he declared, has developed since the agency had built up a credit structure of $20,000,000 by the use of government money. He charged that "the inability to obtain credit through normal channels had caused many private producers to become slaves of this farm board agency."

Gage testified that irrigation projects in Idaho were largely responsible for the present condition of the potato market. He pointed out that the large volume produced with government water had glutted the market, and added that other projects underway would add to the burdens of the farmer.

Representatives of envelope manufacturers were called upon for their testimony at the resumption of the hearing this morning.

Continuation of— DICTATORSHIP

the remaining Prussian ministers their choice of methods by which the federal government will remove them from office.

As a result of the obstinacy of Karl Severing in refusing to relinquish his post as Prussian minister of the interior until threatened with arrest, the entire Prussian cabinet is to be deposed and the federal government will appoint officeholders in their places.

Formal proceedings were begun today against Albert Grzesinski, socialist head of the Prussian police, and his two chief assistants, Bernard Weiss and Albert Heimansberg, who were arrested yesterday after refusing to submit to a federal order displacing them. They are charged with resisting military authority.

Meantime the sentiment of the rest of the country was lined up. Bavaria has joined Prussia's appeal to the supreme court against the dictatorship. Saxony declined to join. In the Essen municipal council the social democratic bloc refused to sanction leave of absence for Herr Bracht, who is lord mayor of Essen, on the grounds that he is indispensible to the city and cannot be spared to serve as dictator for Prussia.

The supreme court announced that a hearing on the appeal had been set for Saturday.

Despite martial law, however, two men were killed and a number were injured in political riots last night. In southeastern Berlin police fired on a communist group, killing one and wounding several. In Saxony another communist was killed when police broke up a riot between communists and national socialists.

This afternoon General Gerd Von Rumdstedt, in charge of the execution of martial law, issued a warning that imprisonment awaited those suspected of any crime committed with lethal weapons, carrying arms without a permit, or concealing arms when being searched. The order forbade a number of communist meetings scheduled for today and tomorrow.

And So She Named Her Baby Caroline

Chicago, July 21 (AP)—The daughter of Mrs. Sarah Johnson, 25, negro, rode into the world in a street car last night.

Conductor M. W. Stenmeier shooed his passengers out and called a doctor.

At a hospital where the mother and babe were taken, Mrs. Johnson said the circumstances also had provided a name for the child.

"We'll call her Caroline," she said.

State Troops Ordered Out To Indiana Mines To Supress Rioting

Dugger, Ind., July 21 (AP)—Three companies of Indiana national guardsmen were ordered today to the vicinity of the Hoosier coal mine, which 20 non-union workmen have refused to leave until assured protection from more than a thousand union sympathizers maintaining a picket around the shaft.

Sheriff Wesley Williams of Sullivan county was notified of the order this morning by Governor Harry G. Leslie, who said he would accompany the troops when they assemble at Shakamak state park, about 10 miles from the mine. Companies from Indianapolis, Attica and Ladoga were called.

Officials explained the move was precautionary, pointing out the men in the mine have made no attempt to come out and that the attiude of the picketers should they attempt to do so was problematical. Thus far the picketers have been orderly, according to Sheriff Williams, who said they numbered about 1,200, including miners and their wives.

Both Governor Leslie and Sheriff Williams indicated their major interest was to remove the miners who have been in the shaft more than 20 hours without food. They said the workmen were armed and expressed fear they might become desperate if they remained in the pit much longer.

The Hoosier mine is one of several in the southern Indiana field which have been operated on a cooperative basis. The Indiana Coal Operator's association and district 11, United Mine Workers of America, failed to renew their contract when it expired March 31.

Sheriff Williams said he planned no arrests as long as the picketers remained orderly.

What part the troops would play was not made clear. Governor Leslie said he thought it advisable to have them in the vicinity in event an emergency should arise.

Sheriff Wiliams was hampered in his attempts to handle the crowd, he said, because factional beliefs on the organized labor question in Sullivan county made selection of impartial deputies difficult.

Continuation of— PETITION HOAX

mitted, allegedly, that he was in the office shortly before the petitions were removed from the safe. Langley said Brownell explained his visit to the office was for the purpose of storing a jug of mineral water in the safe.

Brownell had no official connection with the petition circulation, it is said.

He and Slocum, who had charge of the circulation of the petitions, were formerly business partners and continued to occupy the same offices after their partnership was dissolved.

Brownell was defeated in the May primary election as a candidate for republican nomination as United States congressman from the third district.

George Mowry, chief criminal deputy district attorney, said conviction on the charge of larceny carries a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison.

In announcing that the complaint had been issued, Langley made the following statement:

"With the idea in mind of filing the present larceny charge, this office has been for more than a week in close conference with Mr. Hector MacPherson and his associates who sponsored the consolidation measure.

"The crime of larceny, as every lawyer knows, includes several vital elements, besides the mere taking of property, and Mr. MacPherson and his office have at all times endeavored to proceed carefully in this matter, having in mind that it is a serious thing to file a criminal charge of this character against a man of Mr. Brownell's standing in this community.

"A careful examination of the evidence available convinces us that there is sufficient probable cause for the issuance of this warrant, and we intend to continue the investigation and prosecution as speedily and vigorously as possible."

The district attorney said further: "We can assure the public that the efforts of the police department and of this office will be unsparing to bring to light and prosecute any persons who may have operated invisibly and behind the scenes in this matter, and all others criminally implicated."

The complaint charges that on July 4 Brownell "did unlawfully and feloniously take, steal and carry away 200 sets of printed and signed initiative petitions for a bill moving university, normal and law schools of the state of Oregon, and establishing junior colleges * * which petitions were then * * * of an aggregate value of more than 25 cents each, and * * * of more than $35, all of which sets of petitions were the personal property of Henry Zorn, Willard H. Stevens and numerous other persons" composing the taxpayers' equalization league.

PEAS HARVESTED

Unionvale—Cutting the 12 acres of Australian peas grown for seed on the E. M. Alderman farm here is in progress. A tractor is used for power pulling the mower and as soon as they are sufficiently dry will be gathered up with a combine thresher. The crop is heavy and free of aphis.

BERRY PICKING ENDS

Scotts Mills—Logan berry picking on the L. W. Magee farm came to close Tuesday after about three weeks picking. Mr. Magee had nice berries for the first year of bearing and from all indications from the new runners and everything favorable he will have a bumper crop next year.

head of the delegation from the United Kingdom, then spoke, outlining the general purposes of the gathering.

The real importance of the conference, he said, lies in the fact that it marks a point where two roads diverge, "one leading to the development of purely national interests, the other to closer imperial unity and the recognition of advantages in mutual trade cooperation."

If at the end of the conference the delegates can say that they have taken the lat
