IRATE FATHER KILLS MASHER

Portland, Oct. 21 (AP)—A youth, identified by police as Elbert Guy Harrington, about 19, was shot to death about midnight by an irate father of a young woman he had followed from a bus stop to her home. The father, Murray E. Soth, 57, was held for questioning by the district attorney.

Paper in the dead youth's pockets included a high school student body card issued at Mountain View, Cal. Soth's daughter, Eleanor, 21, identified the body as that of a youth who had whistled at her as she followed her home and who had stopped only five feet from the front door. When she got inside he threw the rays of a flashlight on her window. She said she did not know his name.

Informed by his daughter of what happened, Soth got his revolver and walked to where the youth was standing by a tree. The boy turned and Soth commanded him to halt. When he ran Soth fired. The shot was fatal.

Harrington lived with his mother, Mrs. Thomas Gray, and was on his way home from the army when he was shot. He came here three weeks ago from Mountain View where his father, Abra Harrington, lives.

Mrs. Gray said the lad was quiet and unassuming and had been looking for work. He went to the army last night to enlist in the national guard in order to get some small income. "I can't understand why he was shot," his mother said, "he was quiet and never annoyed anyone."

LINCOLN COUNTY GAINS DEMOCRATS

Lincoln county registration, filed today with the secretary of state reported an increase of 182 in voters. There were 16 less republicans, but the democrats added 251. There were also 53 less recorded for other parties.

Lincoln county's total shows 3,804 republicans, 1,670 democrats and 136 from other parties for a total of 5,610.

With four counties remaining to file the registration to date in Oregon is 479,829, of which 309,688 are republicans, 149,313 democrats and 11,828 from other parties.

Poland has two new broadcasting stations.

PRINCIPALS OF STATE MEETING

Recommendations that physical education be given a place in every secondary school curriculum in the state equal to that of any other subject, and reorganization of physical education to attain better results constituted the main theme of the opening of the fourth annual high school principals' conference held here today.

The two day session of Oregon educators was inaugurated by Charles A. Howard, superintendent of schools, R. E. McCormack of Pendleton presented the report on physical education over which considerable discussion was held.

McCormack's report urged that every student devote daily a regular recitation period to physical education, and that credit toward graduation be given for this work. Other recommendations made included employment of health specialists for every school, and that a standard program be provided for physical education.

John C. Johnson of Lapine, presided over the conference as president. During the afternoon James M. Burgess of the state superintendent's office will discuss a state organization of honor societies, another controversial question. The session will close tomorrow noon.

BANDITS TARGET OF NEW DRIVE

Newchang, Manchuria, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Japanese army was reported to have begun a new drive against Chinese bandits in this area today, starting from Talian, their hands freed by the release of Mrs. Kenneth Pawley and Charles Corkan, British subjects, who reached here yesterday after having been held captive for a month and a half.

It was expected here that Chief Pet Patten, head of the band which held Mrs. Pawley and Corkan, with his 100 followers, would probably be captured by the Japanese.

A dramatic scene occurred when the armored train carrying the two captives back to safety reached Yinkow last night. Kenneth Pawley met the train, leaped into the coach, hugged his wife, whom he married only a short time before she was captured, crying: "Tinko, let me look at you!"

He lifted her from the coach and then handed her to her Japanese rescuer, Captain Kawahito, for formal presentation to the British consul.

The bandits handed Mrs. Pawley and Corkan over to their rescuers at Panshan, about 40 miles from here. Her terrible hardships had left their mark on Mrs. Pawley, who was taken immediately to a hospital operated by her father, Dr. Phillips, a missionary, to rest two or three weeks. She said it was partly because of their fears that she would die that the bandits released her. She was fatigued and feverish from a cold, she said.

The ransom price for the two captives was about $12,000, a sum much less than originally demanded.

MISSING MAN MAY BE FUGITIVE

Redondo Beach, Calif., Oct. 21 (AP)—A school gardener's statement that he had seen Elliot B. Thomas, 33, missing city school superintendent, packing an automobile five hours before Thomas dropped from sight Monday yesterday that Thomas had created a dual personality to pave the way for his escape.

J. R. Dent, the gardener, told authorities Thomas, who police said threw his office into wild disorder to make it appear he had been kidnaped by robbers, that the missing man was transferring from a large sedan to a small coupe a quantity of articles. Police learned the coupe was sold a month ago to an "E. T. Sherwood," a name authorities said Thomas assumed.

The gardener said he met Thomas on the school grounds later and that the superintendent, appearing nervous, told him he had been helping a woman motorist whose automobile had stalled. The sedan was found near Thomas' office after his disappearance.

Norris Stensland, sheriff's force captain, issued orders to arrest Thomas on a charge of making false statements to authorities. He said the order for arrest was based on Thomas' recent report to police that his clothing and two firearms had

BAKER ANSWERS HOOVER THRUST

Cleveland, Oct. 21 (AP)—Newton D. Baker, stepping into the presidential campaign for the first time last night with an address supporting Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, denounced the republican policies of the last 12 years.

"I want a change," the former secretary of war said. "And I don't think it is possible for any republican administration to make the changes necessary before this country gets started right again."

Baker's general theme was that the United States' present economic situation was a direct result of a republican policy of American isolation from world affairs.

"The president of the United States, when he was here Saturday, indulged in some sarcasm," Baker said. "He said the democrats had not learned there was a World War in which 40,000,000 people died directly or indirectly and 300 billions of property were destroyed. If I had been present, I could have told him of one democrat who was aware of those facts. As a matter of fact, the figures he used were out of a book I caused to be written."

"But if there is anyone who failed to appreciate that the World War was a world disaster, or who had forgotten the lesson which that war taught us, then President Hoover's party is responsible for his so forgetting."

Witnesses, making their statements in narrative form, must swear to the depositions before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the criminal court.

George Self, chief clerk of the court, must be present. He must administer the oath and certify that the proceedings were done before the judge. Judge Prystalski must certify that self is a duly elected official.

All the documents then are sent to the secretary of state at Washington. He passes them to the attorney general, for inspection. When everything is found in legal form, the papers go to the president who then may issue the presidential warrant requesting the foreign government to make the arrests.

GEHLHAR'S CURE FOR DUMPING

Portland, Oct. 21 (AP)—Registration and licensing of all growers as provided by law, and forcing dealers to operate under bond, is held out by Max Gehlhar, state agricultural director, as "the solution to the problem of dumping by irresponsible itinerant peddler competing with responsible growers in the state."

Gehlhar made this statement here last night at a meeting of members of the Oregon Potato Growers' association. Standardization of crops, effective marketing and the licensing of potato and other produce growers in Oregon were listed as necessary steps in the development of the state's potato industry.

The rapid growth of the Klamath Falls potato industry was described by F. L. Ballard, county agent leader at Oregon State college, who spoke also of the work of development elsewhere in the state. Arthur J. Farmer, manager of the maritime commerce department of the Portland chamber of commerce, told of the foreign markets for Oregon potatoes, particularly in the Orient.

REDUCED FEE FOR AUTOS SUPPORTED

A majority of the members of the next legislature who are hold-overs or are sure of election have pledged themselves to support a $5 license fee for passenger automobiles in Oregon. State Senator Joe E. Dunne said here today.

Dunne declared he had the personal pledges of 32 members of the lower house and 25 members of the state senate, more than enough to assure passage of such a measure to reduce present license fees.

Dunne further said he would go to court to enjoin construction of the Wolf Creek highway from Portland to the sea, the route recently agreed upon by the state highway commission, should any contracts on this project be let. He did not divulge what his argument would be, but he believed he could halt construction of the highway over that particular route.

Organization of the next state senate is already tentatively under way, with Fred E. Kiddle of La Grande as president, Dunne commented. He indicated several committee chairmen have already been selected.

MOVE TO BRING INSULL HOME

Chicago, Oct. 21 (AP)—A complicated procedure was under way today in an effort to extradite Samuel Insull from his temporary haven in Athens, Greece, and Martin Insull from Orillia, Ont.

The first step has been taken—preparation of new depositions, reciting the evidence on which the brothers Insull were indicted. The remaining steps, as described by Assistant State's Attorney John Hampton, include:

Witnesses, making their statements in narrative form, must swear to the depositions before Chief Justice John Prystalski of the criminal court.

George Self, chief clerk of the court, must be present. He must administer the oath and certify that the proceedings were done before the judge. Judge Prystalski must certify that self is a duly elected official.

All the documents then are sent to the secretary of state at Washington. He passes them to the attorney general, for inspection. When everything is found in legal form, the papers go to the president who then may issue the presidential warrant requesting the foreign government to make the arrests.

SILVER PARLEY PLEASES BORAH

Rexburg, Idaho, Oct. 21 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah, outlining what he described as his independent campaign for "republicanism," told an audience here last night he was "delighted that both presidents now are for a silver conference."

The Idaho senator prefaced his statement by saying:

"I see by today's dispatches President Hoover comes out for a silver conference."

He also called attention to what he said was an announcement from Henry Ford in favor of currency expansion. The senator has frequently advocated such expansion in his recent talks.

"If anybody knows anything about currency, Henry Ford ought to," he declared.

Asked by a member of the audience if the soldiers' bonus could not be paid from expanded currency, Senator Borah declared that if so

NAVAL HOLIDAY PLAN FAVORED

(Overnight, 1932, by United Press)

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—The state department is preparing to accept the disarmament conference's proposal to extend the international naval holiday until next March.

America will send a note to Geneva signifying its acceptance before October 31, the date when all replies must be there.

Extension of the holiday, which expires November 1, is not expected to curtail the navy's destroyer building program. It will, however, prevent laying the keel of a 10,000-ton cruiser authorized by congress until after March 1.

The holiday is being prolonged in the hope that by next March 1 progress will have been made toward a general disarmament agreement.

CHENOWETH JAILED FOR ALBANY CRIME

Albany, Ore., Oct. 21 (AP)—Carl Chenoweth, Salem, is willing to plead guilty to any crime and would like a 30-year penitentiary sentence, he said last night to State Police Officer Walter Winters, who arrested the Salem man on a statutory charge. Chenoweth is said to be wanted at Salem on similar charges.

Salem police stated today that a Joe Chenoweth is wanted here on a warrant charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, but had been unable to check yet as to whether this is the same man as is under arrest at Albany. They have no record of wanting a Carl Chenoweth on any charge here.
