

Capital Journal Salem, Oregon Established March 1, 1888 An Independent Newspaper Published Every Afternoon Except Sunday at 136 S. Commercial Street. Telephone 4601. News 4862. GEORGE PUTNAM, Editor and Publisher. SUBSCRIPTION RATES: By carrier—10 cents a week; 45 cents a month; $5.00 a year in advance.

INTRIGUE FILM AND BIG NAMED STARS COMING Stephen Roberts, director of "The Night of June 13," a story of intrigue in a large-city suburb which comes to the Warner Bros. Elsinore theater Wednesday and Thursday, points out that most of Hollywood's present-day personnel has made good in the film capital as the result of an invitation.

Continuation of—MEIER TALKS TAXES (from page one) difficulties, offers the only means of providing sufficient revenue to permit the cancellation of the state levy on property.

LEGION HOST TO SPANISH WAR VETS JAN'RY 15 Spanish War Veterans of Salem will be guests for a specially arranged meeting and entertainment to be given by Capital Post No. 9, American Legion, on January 15 with members of the other veteran organizations of the city invited to attend.

$15,051 SPENT 1932 ON PAVING STREETS OF CITY For two reasons street paving in Salem was at a lower ebb during 1932 than for some years. One reason was economic, and the other the fact that Salem is one of the best-paved cities in the west and not much new street improvement was needed.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) ators were present—Costigan and Wheeler, (D., Mont.). In his opening statement, Costigan declared "the most startling development in this nation-wide tragedy" has been the failure of many of the nation's leaders in economic and other lines to "combat and conquer the problem" of unemployment.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) worse than at any time in the last four years. As a precaution, Mission street where it crosses Mill creek, was blocked to traffic as the water which swept across the pavement had materially weakened the railings of the bridge and until it subsides a check cannot be made as to the condition of the structure.

The Tax Problem Although Governor Meier presents no specific tax program for the special session to solve financial and relief problems, he suggests that a general sales tax is unavoidable to raise revenue for state purposes to relieve the state property tax and to provide unemployment relief.

Continuation of—MEIER TALKS TAXES (from page one) On the second purpose for which he called the special session, the governor recommended that not less than $500,000 should be made available for relief purposes during the special session.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) Approximately 12,000,000 persons normally employed, he said, are now out of work and many others are on part time.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) The Chinese seaport about 10 miles southwest of Shanhai-kwan. Meanwhile Japanese forces have taken the city and sea attack on Shanhai-kwan aimed at "elimination" of Chinese troops in that area.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) He proposed that existing laws be amended in the regular session to remove the threat of defeating emergency legislation at a special election after the first half of the regular session.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) Another slide on the Abiqua, however, did cause that road, or part of it, to be closed until repairs can be made. This slide is about a quarter of a mile up the creek from the Coleman bridge.

COURT DISMISSES INACTIVE CASES Today was housecleaning day in Judge Lowell's court in more ways than one. In the first instance it was the day to have up some 127 cases for consideration on which no action has been taken for the past year.

The National Whirligig News Behind the News By Paul Mallon Washington—That taboo topic—Inflation—is getting serious consideration in the privacy of congressional cloakrooms. Conservatives are beginning to play with the idea. You would be surprised at the names of reactionary statesmen who are trying to find a practical way of promoting more and easier money.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) He expressed the hope that the hearings would tend to make public opinion "articulate" in a demand for federal aid.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) The general immediately conferred with Dr. T. V. Soong, finance minister, concerning Shanhai-kwan developments, declining, however, to reveal the nature of the conversation except indicating he was returning to Nanking immediately.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) The Japanese believed the action was likely to result in permanent occupation of the Chinese city of Shanhai-kwan, but present hostilities were expected to be localized without moving farther southward or into Jehol province, between China proper and Manchuria.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Japan Seizing Jehol Japan has resumed its forcible annexation of China by attempting seizure of Shanhai-kwan, at the junction of the great wall and the Gulf of Liaotung. North of the wall is Manchuria, south is China proper. The southern province of Jehol is Jehol, which Japan already claims on its official maps, and the latest attack is to complete the conquest of Jehol the gateway to North China.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

What Europe Hopes In an article in yesterday's Capital Journal by a leading European statesman, under the nom de plume of "John Statesman" it is said that liberal leaders abroad look to America for the signal for world recovery, expecting Roosevelt to put into effect a five point plan.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Endorsed by Wall Street The Wall Street Journal, organ of high finance, has endorsed the proposed allotment plan for farm relief, holding that it offers a practical way out for raw material producers, including the farmers. It is held that it would expand the rural purchasing power by over half a billion dollars a year and thus start recovery. It declares:

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

REARMER ESCAPES BUT IS RECAPTURED Dallas—Late Sunday afternoon during the absence of Sheriff Hook, Er. L. H. Reamer of Independence, who was arrested on December 29 by state police on a charge of rape, made his escape through a narrow window of the county jail. The window, which is in the exercise room, is about 8 inches wide and 18 inches to two feet long. From the window the prisoner apparently dropped backward some 20 feet to the ground.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—RELIEF BILL (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

Continuation of—FLOOD DANGER OVER (from page one) There were persistent reports that both Fred Kiddle, president of the senate, and Earl Snell, speaker of the house, would appoint all of their standing committees for the regular session within the next day or two to permit them to start consideration of problems they know they will have to consider.

HOW SHARP? Gillette has developed a secret device that definitely measures the sharpness of a shaving edge. This ingenious photo-electric tester positively proves that the "BLUE BLADE" is the sharpest we have ever produced.

GOOD NEWS for California travelers Since we introduced these Tourist fares in 1928, we have consistently pursued the policy of fitting them to the requirements of our passengers. First they were good in coaches only. Then they were honored in tourist sleeping cars. Drastic reductions were made in the roundtrips. And now, with further reductions in the fares, longer limits, stopover privileges and the inclusion of many more California destinations, we know you will agree that these fares are today's outstanding travel value.

FARE CHANGES ANNOUNCED "Tourist" Tickets to California. Effective January 1 the Southern Pacific railroad has announced that it has reduced its "tourist" fares to Los Angeles and San Francisco by 10 to 25 percent on the round trip. Return limit on roundtrips 21 days. 100 pounds free baggage allowance. Similar Tourist fares to many other California destinations.

