Six countries were represented. The final act was a combat between spring and winter, the forces led by Marie Fall, queen of spring, and Enid Paulson, queen of winter. Groups taunted each other in song, and then readily battled by pelting each other with snowballs and flowers. The forces of spring finally put winter to rout. In her haste, queen winter lost her cap which was quickly buried under a mound of colorful flowers and garlands around gracefully by the spring spirit.

Miss Hardie's home room represented Ireland; Miss Klev and Miss Lawrence, Germany; Miss Eberhard, Serbia; Miss Clower, Czechoslovakia; Miss DeGure, Japan, and Miss Wharton and Miss Spenser the final conflict between spring and winter.

The stage settings were beautifully appointed, depicting an outdoor scene with a background of lattice work and vines, a well, trees, and a bright moon shedding a silver light. The costumes were of old world suggestions.

Scores of children took part in the songs, dialogues and dances, and the entire program was a genuine success reflecting credit to the producer.

THEFTS CHARGED AGAINST THREE WHO ARE JAILED

Albany—George Carman and Frank Hughes are in the Lun county jail and Alton O'Dell is in the Benton county jail following their arrest by state police officers in Corvallis Monday. It is believed their arrests have brought to an end a train of thievery which has been active in Marion, Lun and Benton counties the past few weeks.

Crimes in which the trio are alleged to have participated are the robbery of the Santiam garage and Hills Bros. pool hall at Mill City and the attempted robbery of the Philippi store at Melrose. One of the gang is also wanted for passing an $11 forged check on Jerry Walter, proprietor of the Santiam garage.

Officers say they have definitely connected two of the men, O'Dell and Hughes, with the Mill City robbery and believe proof of Carman's guilt will also be established. All three men have penitentiary records.

The trio was arrested in a Corvallis residence where they had been living with Mrs. A. Burr, who left her home with Hughes several weeks ago. Secreting themselves
