He states it was error when Judge Lewelling went to his home in Albany when the jury was out and was not present when the jury came in and asked for special instructions. FIRE DISRUPTS TRAFFIC ON BAY
Oakland, Calif., Jan. 22 (AP)—Traffic between Oakland and San Francisco was disrupted today by fire which burned 150 feet of the train trestle leading to the Oakland terminus of the Key route ferries. The Key route suspended operations, diverting traffic to the Southern Pacific ferries, but hoped to resume before the day was over. The fire was discovered shortly after the 5:40 train, carrying the first commuters from the east bay towards San Francisco, had passed over. It was extinguished after the flames for about two hours. Three fire trucks of San Francisco and Oakland fought the flames. Other fire fighting equipment was brought to the scene on flat cars over rails which are the only means of approach by land. All traffic over the lines was tied up and commuters were forced to crowd facilities of other routes. The fire was discovered about 6 o'clock this morning, and apparently had been smoldering for some time before that. 18

NATIVES IRKED BY LION HUNT
Wolf Island, Mo., Jan. 21 (AP)—Denver M. Wright and his party of "African" hunters today shot and killed two full-grown lions which they had brought to Hog Island near here for a hunt. Wright shot at one of the lions and wounded it and his 14-year-old son, Charles, killed the beast with shot. Wright and his son and two other members of the party fired at the other lion and killed it a few seconds later, thus ending the "home made" lion hunt in which a score of men participated. The killing of the lions climaxed an anxious night spent on the island by the men in a barbed wire barricade while the lions roamed about the island. 18

Wol Island, Mo., Jan. 21 (AP)—Huddled miserably under leaky canvas while Denver M. Wright's liberated lions roared and muttered just outside the barbed wire barrier, members of the "African Hunt" party crawled out of their cot today with the fervent hope that Wright would kill the beasts and do it quickly. There was little cheer this morning on the island eight miles south of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, where Wright had selected as the place to gratify his fondest ambition—a hunt to the death with two full grown lions as the quarry. Some of the party, whose shins were bruised when they took to the trees during the release of the lions from their cages yesterday, professed to see little humor in their situation. 18

Elliott, was also to have been sentenced to life imprisonment today but sentence was postponed a week. 18

RUTH CONFESSES REPACKING OF TRUNK VICTIMS
Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP)—Counsel for John J. Halloran, who is charged as "accessory to the crime of murder" to reopen the proceedings on grounds of new evidence "impairing" Winnie Ruth Judd's story. Mrs. Judd, who has been the state's chief accusing witness against Halloran, is sentenced to be hanged February 17 for the murder of Agnes Anne Lerol October 16, 1931. Halloran is charged with aiding her in disposing of Mrs. Lerol's body and advising her to conceal the slaying and to escape to Los Angeles. Frank O. Smith, of Halloran counsel, told the court "we are prepared to prove that on October 25th, 26th and 27th, 1931, Winnie Ruth Judd published in the Los Angeles Times of Los Angeles, California, her confession," and that the confession so published "is a complete refutation of all charges against John J. Halloran." Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 21 (AP)—Disregarding his order that he wished only to hear state's evidence that there was murder committed by Winnie Ruth Judd, Judge J. G. Niles, conducting the preliminary hearing of J. J. Halloran, accused as an accessory after murder, permitted the defense today to make an attempt to impeach Mrs. Judd's testimony. Mrs. Judd, the state's most important witness against Halloran, claimed the wealthy lumberman aided her in disposing of the body of Mrs. Agnes Lerol after Mrs. Lerol and Miss Hedwig Samuelson were shot to death. Mrs. Judd claimed she shot in self defense. As in her past appearances on the stand, Mrs. Judd immediately precipitated a turmoil. "Did you write the following statement," Smith said and then read the newspaper article about her having no accomplice. "Why during that time—" she started to answer. "Answer 'yes' or 'no'," Smith demanded heatedly. "Please answer 'yes' or 'no'," Judge Niles pleaded. "Mrs. Judd looked from Smith to Judge Niles and then replied: "I can't say, because at that time I was delirious." "We are not going to stand for this," Smith stated. "The question has been answered," the court ruled with exasperation, "she says she doesn't know." An attempt to have her identify her own signature brought similar evasive answers and no definite result. The most she would say was that "it looks similar to my handwriting." 18

Carbon Mountain Sheds Snow Blanket
Durango, Colo., Jan. 21 (AP)—Carbon mountain, the frisky peak south of here, which shakes and shivers, threw off a heavy mantle of snow today. The mountain which has puzzled geologists by its faulting movements in the past few weeks, churned its surface to such an extent that snow was shaken into the soil and crevices of rocks, leaving the peak bare, while the rest of the country was buried under the white covering. 18

Continuation of OREGON BLOCK FIRE
(from page one) building. The fire started in the film rooms of the Kennell & Ellis photo studio, occupying a large suite of rooms in the northwest section of the fourth floor. Some occupants of the building said there was considerable delay in getting an alarm to the fire department and that the flames had reached considerable proportions before the fire trucks arrived. An explosion that shot a flame above the top of the building was said to have started the fire. The studio's loss was said to be heavy. The fire department brought into service the big ladder truck and thrust a ladder from the truck into one of the fourth story windows at the center of the fire. At first an attempt was made to quench the fire by use of the chemical equipment alone, but this was unavailing, and soon four or five pumps were in service. The flames were at no time visible from the street. Smoke, however, was issuing densely from all windows on the fourth floor. The smoke, coming from the photo materials, was of a particularly sickening odor, was coal black in color and particularly hard for the firemen to combat, some of them being nearly overcome by the gaseous fumes. It was one of the most spectacular fires in Salem in some years. Thousands of spectators were attracted to the vicinity of the fire and city and state police were kept busy to keep the spectators out of the way. Soon after the firemen arrived a big fire hose broke, deluging the street with water and causing many spectators to scurry to shelter. Tenants of the building, practically all of whom were damaged to some extent, are: Fourth floor—Bankers Reserve Life, Ben Hur Life association, Bert Fanning, fruit salesman; B. A. Harris, Kennell & Ellis; Studios; Jesse E. Klein, Dr. Henry Lewis, I. H. McCarty, Oregon Fruit Selling company, Oregon Beauty Shop, Prudential Insurance company, Dr. G. A. Sternberg. Third floor—Dr. E. D. Baylor, Eamons & Eamons, lawyers; Victor H. Griggs, lawyer; Herman E. Laffy, lawyer; Dr. John L. Lynch, Dr. L. C. Marshall, Personal Service Bureau, collectors; Dr. Edith B. Witzel. Second floor—F. N. Derby, W. C. Dyer, insurance; Hawkins & Roberts, Charles A. Evans, realtor; Walter Fuhrer, lawyer; Harold C. Glover, lawyer; August Huckslein, insurance; Moynihan & Thompson, lawyers; E. V. McMechan, insurance and investments; New York Life, Oregon Electric, office manager, S. G. Robinson, real estate; State Loan company; C. L. Smith, architect; Frank H. Spears, H. C. Shields, realtor. On the first floor are located the Peter Pan confectionery and restaurant, the Oregon Electric ticket offices and freight rooms and an empty department store place. The first floor tenants were only slightly damaged by water. The Johnson women's wear store, next door on State street, suffered some smoke damage and closed this afternoon. Tenants of the building on all floors were frantically removing from offices and suites of rooms whatever of their belongings could be carried. This operation appeared to be orderly in the main and not much property was damaged in being transferred to the street. 18

NOTED WRITER PASSES AWAY
London, Jan. 21 (AP)—George Moore, famous British novelist, died early today. He would have been 81 years old next month. Despite his advanced years and impaired health, Moore was in the literary field close to the end. He left an uncompleted task in that he was greatly engrossed—the editing and supervising of a complete edition of his works. Moore also left an unfinished "Modernist" which was more than half of which he had written. George Moore is best known for his philosophical novel, "Confessions of a young man." He was born at Moore Hall in County Mayo, Ireland, February 24, 1852. His father was a member of parliament. In 1870, after the death of his father, George Moore entered the art schools at Paris. He studied painting, which experience left its imprint upon his writings. He also attempted poetry. "Parasol Poems" appearing in 1882, was probably his first work drawing wide attention. His avowed purpose when he returned to England was to free that country from the "Victorian shackles." "A Hummer's Wife" was his first challenge to the contemporary novel. George Moore's "A Story Teller's Holiday" published in 1918 was banned in the United States as "obscene." The ban finally was lifted by the secretary of treasury, it was disclosed only two weeks ago. Moore's "The Land and Sea" is a book of "established literary merit." 18

SACRAMENTO BANK CLOSES
Sacramento, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP)—The California National bank, Sacramento, failed to open today. Federal and state banks and officials of the institution, one of the largest in the valley, promised to issue a statement later. A large crowd of depositors had gathered at the bank's doors shortly after the hour the place was supposed to open for business. City police barred the entrance and would answer no questions. Clearing houses officials issued a statement saying they would handle all bills of the bank. All Sacramento banking institutions except the California National published statements of condition the first of this year. State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson announced the state has approximately $1,100,000 deposited in the California National bank, representing general and special funds. He said this money is secured by bonds 10 per cent in excess of the deposits. These are federal state, county and city bonds, he said, which can be sold to cover any loss to the state. Fred W. Links, superintendent of accounts of the department of finance, said a bank officer told him over the telephone, examiners were working on the bank's books and the closing may be only temporary. This officer told Links the bank may be reopened Monday. A statement issued by the bank showing its condition as of December 31, 1932, showed combined resources totalling $39,607,890.81, including $17,161,665.48 in loans and accounts, $10,484,642 in bonds other than federal, and $5,493,151.31 in cash and sight exchange. Hillard E. Welch, president of the Sacramento clearing house association issued a statement giving assurance that other local banks have sufficient cash for all requirements. The California National bank, which consolidated with the old National bank of D. O. Mills and Company in 1927, is the oldest banking institution in California. The Mills bank was organized in 1849 and the California National in 1882. 18

COUNTY HEALTH BUDGET SLASHED $5665 FOR YEAR
A budget of $18,640, or a reduction of $5665 from that of last year, was adopted Friday night during the annual session of the executive board of the county health department. Curtailment of the department's activities, if that is found necessary, will be in effect during the summer months. Dr. O. A. Olson, who was re-elected president for a second term, as chairman of the board, declared the health unit would get the utmost from the money expended. The matter of reemploying Dr. C. D. Bauer, who is on leave of absence while taking a post graduate course in the east, will depend upon the department's financial condition when the time comes, Olson said. The staff which has worked under Dr. Vernon A. Douglas during the past year will be retained. Budget contributions include city of Salem $4800; Salem school district, $5000; Marion city, $4800; Silverton school district, $1280; city of Silverton, $160; Mill City school district, $450; Marion county public health association, $1275, and Gates school district, $225. 4 OUT OF 159 BILLS ACTED ON BY LEGISLATURE
By CLAYTON V. BEERNHARD Peering through the haze of personal animosities and state financial arguments between Governor Julius L. Meier and State Treasurer Rufus C. Holman which completely overshadowed legislative activities during the past week, it was revealed that only four of the 159 introduced bills have been completely disposed of by both houses. On the other hand it was seen that committees are beginning to function regularly and that in starting the third week the Oregon legislature will get down to long sessions where many bills will be considered. The bills surveyed do not refer to resolutions or memorials of which there have been scores introduced and many adopted. Only one of the four bills was passed, that providing for expenses of the session. It was also signed by the governor. The house killed another bill which would impose tax on foreclosures. One bill each was withdrawn from the house and senate, both were the first introduced in both houses. One would have repealed the veterans' indigent fund and the other providing for a moratorium of two years against mortgage foreclosures. 18

FEDERAL LAND BANK ATTACKED
Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Citing criticisms of the federal land banks on the ground they have been unduly high in their treatment of farm borrowers, Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, told the senate today that "obviously this merits the attention of congress." Senator Walsh made the statement as he placed in the congressional record a letter from a lawyer farm constituent complaining of the Spokane land bank, and asking a congressional investigation of the federal land banks. The Montana senator commented there have been other complaints of the same character. "The letter was from H. Leonard De Kalb, attorney of Lewiston, Mont. "Our federal land bank has woefully fallen down as an aid to our farmers and has indeed become a considerable factor in their destruction," it said. "Many foreclosures in fact, most of them, could have been avoided." De Kalb added that it was the policy of the bank in foreclosing to obtain "deficiency judgment" and added that he had been informed "it has been viciously stated by responsible men in the bank that this is done for the purpose of making an example of the farmer." "Their field agents are particularly vicious," the letter said. 18

A good crowd attended the game and the dance which was held in the Masonic hall as a benefit to raise funds for uniforms for the club team. The amount raised was less than a dollar short of enough to buy the uniforms. H. R. Peltz as manager, had charge of arrangements. FEDERAL LAND BANK ATTACKED
Washington, Jan. 21 (AP)—Citing criticisms of the federal land banks on the ground they have been unduly high in their treatment of farm borrowers, Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, told the senate today that "obviously this merits the attention of congress." Senator Walsh made the statement as he placed in the congressional record a letter from a lawyer farm constituent complaining of the Spokane land bank, and asking a congressional investigation of the federal land banks. The Montana senator commented there have been other complaints of the same character. "The letter was from H. Leonard De Kalb, attorney of Lewiston, Mont. "Our federal land bank has woefully fallen down as an aid to our farmers and has indeed become a considerable factor in their destruction," it said. "Many foreclosures in fact, most of them, could have been avoided." De Kalb added that it was the policy of the bank in foreclosing to obtain "deficiency judgment" and added that he had been informed "it has been viciously stated by responsible men in the bank that this is done for the purpose of making an example of the farmer." "Their field agents are particularly vicious," the letter said. 18
