

NEEDY PEOPLE TO GET BEEF; POST IS BUSY

Silverton—The members of the American Legion and auxiliary are to pay for the 400 pound beef that they bought on faith last week, as the result of the basket social and cake auction Monday night.

The two groups met jointly for the program, which included selections by "The Four Norsemen," two Alouquists and two Thorklidsens, in vocal songs without accompaniment; old time instrumental music by the Silverton Strangers and a banjo solo group by Oliver Carpenter.

Frank Powell auctioned the baskets which brought the sum of a little over $13 and it cost the crowd just $4 to decide if Kenneth Hanson, Arthur Dahl or George Manolla was the ugliest man present. Hanson won. Roy Davenport butchered the beef and placed it at the disposal of the city's goodwill work.

The men prepared the lunch and the women bought the baskets and made coffee. The Davenport orchestra volunteered the dance music.

During the business session, Commander C. J. Thoms appointed George Manolla, Fred Cavender and Kenneth Hanson to act with the auxiliary committee to arrange for the entertainment of the representatives of the Marion county council which meets in April.

BELATED TROPHY REACHES HUBBARD

Hubbard—The fact that Hubbard and the community likes the band was again demonstrated St. Patrick's day when a good crowd greeted the group as the curtain went up on the opening number. According to A. Barnett, prime minister of Rosaria several years ago, Portland also likes the band and hopes it will again play and march in the Rose Festival parade. Barnett presented the Green trophy cup won by the band at the festival last summer. By Everding and party of friends of Portland added to the festivity of the evening.

After the concert which consisted of operatic, concert and popular selections by both the band, orchestra and brass quartet, the Hi Jinks opened and continued until late in the evening. The refreshment booth with Mrs. Louise Griggs and Mrs. Minnie Knight in charge sold out completely and all other booths reported splendid patronage.

The program proper was under the direction of Dr. A. F. de Lespinasse. Guest players for the evening included Miss Margery Wunder of Salem in violin selections, Gus Klempe, Morgan Gallaher and Elenus Verhaagen, band and orchestra players, all of Salem.

The following evening Dr. and Mrs. de Lespinasse entertained the players at their home.

Incubators Busy

General Howell—Central Howell has another business enterprise in the making, in the form of a hatchery. Mrs. Maud Tweed is working into the business, having a battery of eight 550 egg incubators, which keeps her busy. Her first baby chicks were off Sunday. She also has three brooders which with her own flock of layers is quite an undertaking. She specializes in White Leghorns. Mrs. A. H. Mager is also doing some commercial hatching. She has four incubators and her specialty is in Barred Rocks.

Services Stopped

Lyons—Services at the Lyons church were discontinued Sunday night and the congregation went to Stayton to attend services at the Christian church. Baptismal services followed the regular service at which eight from Lyons were baptized.

GIVE SPECIAL MUSIC

Independence—Claude Aschenbrenner of Portland visited here over Sunday with his brother, Rev. E. G. Aschenbrenner and family. He attended the church services in the evening and gave several numbers on the piano. Mr. Bartholmer of Portland was another Sunday visitor here, being the guest of his daughter and family, Mrs. W. L. Taylor.

Washington Auto Owner Is Stopped

Independence—William H. McCrady of Cle Elum, Wash., who has been visiting his cousin, Hugh Hanna and others in this vicinity for the past several days, was stopped on the highway by a state traffic police Sunday afternoon and cited to appear before the justice court for driving a car with more than three persons over the age of 12 years in the driver's seat. McCrady had just turned off the main highway into the Bush lane when the traffic officer came up.

McCrady appeared before Judge McIntosh Monday and entered a plea of guilty. He was operating under a Washington license and stated that the officers in Washington were not so particular in this regard as they are in Oregon. He also purchased a visitor's permit and expects to remain here for about 30 days.

CLASS HAS PARTY

Scotts Mills—A Sunday school party for old and young alike was held Friday evening in the Gro-abong hall by members of the Christian Bible school. A short program was given, various games played and refreshments served.

Hazel Green—Mrs. John Lehrman

Hazel Green—Mrs. John Lehrman is recuperating at the Deaconess hospital following a major operation performed last week.

Lamb Is Victim Of Vandal Bird; Eyesight Lost

Gates—Mrs. Glen Henness reports a queer coincidence befalling one of her baby lambs lately.

She said that she noticed a raven flying around the lambs in the field a little way from the house.

Suddenly the bird darted down and the lamb jumped. Upon investigation it was found that the raven had picked out the lamb's eye.

This is the first time that any such thing has been reported around here for years.

COMMUNITY GARDEN PROJECT PROGRESSES

Dallas—The community garden project for the unemployed, sponsored by the American Legion, took another step forward Sunday when a committee of six looked over a number of tracts which were considered to be of a suitable nature for the enterprise. The choice has fallen on the old Weasle place where a piece of ground ten acres in area is available. Present plans call for its subdivision into small plots which will be allotted to anyone who cares to make use of them. The Legionals on the job Sunday were John Cerry, Earle Richardson, Fred Thomas, George Cooper and Frank Wilson.

ALBANY TAKES SMITH HUGHES COMPETITION

Albany—Albany high school walked away with high scoring honors in the annual Smith-Hughes agricultural course competition of the Willamette valley area Saturday here, when nine schools entered 98 contestants in the various events. The contests were held in the Burkhardt school. This was Albany's second year of competition.

Albany's contestants garnered 34 points, with Amity second with 32, Lebanon had 23 and Corvallis 19. Corvallis won the competition last year with Albany second.

Other schools finished as follows: Independence 11, Silverton 10, Newberg 7, and McMinnville and Dayton one point each.

Reduces Prices as much as $145 to invite immediate buying

We believe this is the time to make things happen.

That is why we have kept our employees at work, our factories running on their regular production and shipment schedule.

That is why—at the very beginning of the Spring Season—we reduced prices to the lowest point in our history.

When these prices were reduced, prices of raw materials were at rock-bottom.

We urge you to ask yourself whether action now—with a buying opportunity before you which may never come again—would not profit you more than a few days or weeks of delay.

You can trade in your old car today and drive away in a new Hudson Car or Essex Terraplane without a cent of cash-payment if the value of your old car equals the down-payment on your new one.
