

STAYTON HIGH MAKING PLANS FOR MAY FETE

Stayton—By the work that is being shown by the local alumni members who are officers of the Associated Alumni of the Stayton high school, without a doubt the 1933 annual homecoming of the alumni will prove one of the best in the history of the Stayton high. Secretary Marjorie Baker, has been working for the past week getting correspondence out to over 200 alumni members scattered to all parts of the country, inviting them to attend the homecoming.

The date has been permanently set for Saturday, May 13, which will be in connection with the annual May Day exercises of the Stayton high school. It is planned that personal calls will be made to those alumni members within this community during the next week or so. All former teachers of Stayton high are invited to attend the homecoming.

A banquet will be served from 5:30 to 7:15 o'clock on that evening by the Stayton grange, the cost of plate being 25c each. A committee is now working on an elaborate program for the occasion. It is expected that upwards of 125 members with their wives and families will be present.

After five years the alumni has again revived with renewed vigor and promises to be in the future one of the leading active organizations of Stayton. The officers of the alumni elected this spring are: President, Fernando Smith; vice-president, Felix Wright; secretary, Marjorie Baker; treasurer, Walter H. Bell, and directors, Edward J. Bell, Eugene Spaniol and Gladys Weddie.

Various committees appointed are: Homecoming committee, with Felix Wright as general chairman; correspondence committee, Marjorie Baker, chairman and Edward J. Bell, chairman; Chris Nettling, Adeline Thoma and Sylvia Stupka; baseball committee, Angus Ware, chairman and Harold Pendleton; reception committee, Walter H. Bell, chairman, Albert Dozier, Burdine Yeoman, Don Goode, Jean Ficklin, Margaret Miller and Val Gardner.

One of the big features of the May Day homecoming program will be the Alumni-Stayton high school baseball game in the afternoon beginning at around 2:30 o'clock. This should bring out a large bunch of boosters for both sides in the game.

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 21 (AP)—Wesley Ramey has won his chance at the lightweight boxing title—his goal in the 74 fights of his professional career, of which he has won 70.

Tony Canzoneri, the title holder, promised him the title last night after taking a decisive beating at the hands of the 23-year-old Grand Rapids contender in a 10-round bout.

At the end of the fight, Canzoneri took a bow and announced that he considered Ramey ready for a shot at the title.

Ramey weighed 136, one pound over the limit. Canzoneri scaled 133.

The Associated Press score card gave Ramey all but the first and third rounds, due to a fast left-hand sniping attack that reddened the champion's face from cuts over both eyes.

In the sixth, after Ramey had stung Canzoneri with a short left that opened an old cut, the champion rushed him and the weight of his body bore the Grand Rapids lad to the floor. That was the closest to a knockdown, but Ramey bounced up without a count.

Chicago, April 21 (AP)—Apparently unharmed, Jerome Factor, 19 year old Northwestern university student, held captive by kidnapers for $50,000 ransom was freed today by his abductors and returned to his mother's apartment in the Rogers Park district. He professed not to know where he had been held prisoner since his abduction a week ago last Wednesday night.

Some of the police were inclined to believe that at least part of the $50,000 ransom demanded was paid, but John Factor, international speculator and father of the boy, denied this. "I never paid them a cent," he said, "and I'll see this thing through." Captain Daniel Gilbert, head of the state's attorneys police also said no ransom was paid.

Throughout the long investigation of the boy's abduction Factor expressed a desire to deal with the kidnapers himself, rather than have the police attempt to solve the case. He left his suite in the Morrison hotel early last night on a secret trip during which gave rise to the belief he made arrangements for the youth's release. It was not until about 2 a. m. however that young Factor, appeared at the apartment of his mother, Mrs. Leonard Marcus, Factor's former wife.

Captain Gilbert broke off his conference with the boy to tell newspapermen that Jerome had been unable to recall any details of his abduction or release except to say that he was treated well by his captors.

A relative who had seen the boy said that apparently all he was in need of was a shave. However, Captain Gilbert said he appeared somewhat dazed as he attempted to recall details of his disappearance that had resulted in both police and underworld agents working for his release.

A few hours before Jerome's return Mrs. Marcus was reported by Factor to be in a state of collapse and under a physician's care as result of the strain and worry brought on by the kidnaping.

Neighbors in the apartment building said they heard her scream, as if in nervous joy, a few minutes before they learned the boy was home.

Meanwhile, the three suspects arrested several days ago after police had found their pictures in possession of alleged gangland agents working on the case continued to be held by police. A habeas corpus hearing for their release was scheduled for today.

RANGE THIEF HAS HANDICAP IN STATE LAW

With 89 convictions in the last year, the day of the "gasoline cowboy" is on the wane in Oregon. "That is the opinion of Dr. W. H. Lytle, chief of the division of animal industry of the state department of agriculture.

Modern trucks and hard-surfaced roads gave the "gasoline cowboy" great advantage over his cattle-rustling predecessor of horseback days. Cattle or other livestock could be loaded and moved hundreds of miles away within a day or two but such activities are being curbed by laws in effect in Oregon in the last two years.

These laws require bill of sale for all livestock being transported on public roads be available, and that each slaughtered animal be tagged with a permit from the sheriff's office. Slaughter house and wholesale and retail meat dealers must be licensed. State police are instructed to check closely all transportation of livestock or of carcasses.

Lytle reported the arrest of one "gas cowboy" who had operated for a number of years with a truck disguised as a bread van. His truck was fitted inside with a block and tackle for hoisting, a drainage floor, and all the conveniences of a small killing plant. His arrest came when he could produce no bill of sale for a cow in his truck. The man confessed stealing more than 40 cows in the state of Washington as well as many more in Oregon.

Another man operated with a large touring car, with the rear worked over to conceal dressed carcasses which were stolen from small slaughter houses. The largest single theft in recent years in the northwest was the transportation of 2,000 head of sheep from Central Oregon to Winnemucca, Nevada, from where they were shipped to Chicago.

WOMAN KEPT LIGHT 51 YEARS

Paimpol, Brittany (AP)—The world's first and only "professor of lighthouse keeping" has just died at 89, after 51 years of service in the Pacon lighthouse on the Ile de Brehat, off the Breton coast.

She is Mme. Marie Perrine Durand, acclaimed throughout Brittany as the "Breton Vestal." No Frenchwoman ever had been named keeper of a lighthouse before Madame Durand was appointed. She remained in active service until her death.

Every year several "apprentice" lighthouse keepers were sent to her for instruction. She was named "professor of lighthouse keeping" by the French merchant marine ministry. During her 51 years' service Madame Durand trained more than 50 expert keepers, two of this number her own daughters, Mme. Pierre Taldu, in charge of the Port-le-Chain, Pleubian lighthouse, and Mme. Alme Durand, who will succeed her mother.

Despite the heavy and constant duties that fell upon Madame Durand, she was able to rear and educate five children, being mother, schoolteacher and keeper of her lighthouse at the same time.

Hen Loses Chicks Adopts Five Pups

Marshallville, Ga., April 21 (AP)—A hen deprived of her brood is mothering a litter of five fox terrier puppies at the home of Henry A. Lee.

The chicks were hatched about the same time the puppies were born. Lee took the chicks from the hen and only the pups responded when she clucked to get them back.

So the hen adopted the dogs and apparently intends to keep them. She warms them under her wings and refuses to let anyone approach. When she leaves the nest, the real mother of the pups takes charge but she's driven away again when the hen returns.

Mummies X-Rayed To Determine Sex

Boston (AP)—Two thousand-year-old mummies in the museum of fine arts here are being X-rayed by members of the staff of Massachusetts General hospital to determine their sex and the diseases from which they died.

It was found that lips of metal, probably gold, covered the mouth of the mummy, and artificial eyes had been given to another.
