WATER PROJECT BEFORE COUNCIL

There was a possibility this afternoon that the city of Salem might increase its offer for the Oregon-Washington Water Service company's plant made a few days ago at $705,000, which the water company has rejected. The talk today was that Alderman S. A. Hughes, chairman of the utilities committee of the city council, would move at tonight's council meeting for a reconsideration of the resolution adopted last Monday night, the purpose of the resolution being to increase the offer.

The company asks $1,000,000 for the plant. The city arrived at its $705,000 offer by making an average of all the suggested offers made by 10 members of the council in a ballot last week. The company has until 4 o'clock this afternoon to reject or accept that offer formally, but it is already known that the offer has been rejected.

Alderman O. A. Olson has a code of fire hazard elimination that probably will come up for this reading at tonight's meeting. Included in this is a fire prevention bureau within the Salem fire department. The ordinance is a lengthy one, and members of the council were to familiarize themselves with it during the last two weeks.

Today there was talk of an ordinance for first reading tonight prohibiting the use of radio loudspeakers on the Salem streets where they are a favorite medium of advertising. This has been attempted in Salem before, but the council has so far not succeeded in getting rid of the noisy speakers.

HOLLYWOOD STRIKE STUDIED BY BOARD

Washington, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—The Hollywood motion picture strike will be one of the labor disturbances studied by the national board of mediation created Saturday, Dr. Leo Wolman, chairman of the N.R.A. labor advisory board said today.

Wolman said the movie strike and the hosiery strikes were the most pressing problems in this field and that the arbitration board would consider both cases.

Labor spokesmen said the Pennsylvania coal strike siutation probably would be settled tomorrow. The reluctance of Fayette county miners to go back to work was traced to appearances in the 1922 strike when some factions among the strikers were not included in the settlement. The strikers will return to their work, it was believed, as soon as they realize that no discrimination will be allowed against any particular groups.

MILK TRADE CODE ORDER DEFERRED

Chicago, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—A motion for an inunction to restrain the enforcement of the milk trade code was continued indefinitely today by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The complainant milk dealers, independents, charged the code discriminating against them, forcing them to charge the same price for milk called for as that asked by distributors who deliver milk from door to door on a credit basis.

Attorneys for the complainants told the court they were satisfied the case should be tried in Washington instead of here.

He was tried twice, the first jury disagreeing, and the second acquiting him of a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon. The letter demanded $30,000 be telegraphed to Nebraska City in return for the kidnaped Lindbergh baby "within 48 hours."

SANBORN MURDER PROBED BY POLICE

New York, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Blondes and a brewery appeared today to be the centers of police interest in the investigation of the murder of Henry F. Sanborn, railroad official, and an attorney for the slain man's family predicted that "this murder will be solved."

Herbert McKennis, the attorney, denied, however, that either the missing fiancee of Sanborn or other women with who he had been associated could offer any clues

Sanborn's body was found Saturday night buried near a heavily traveled highway on Long Island.

Unusual mystery surrounded the police investigation. It was known that a detective had been posted at the Brooklyn home of Miss Magnhild Almskaar, 27, his financee, who was expected back today from a week-end trip, and French and Italian police were asked to find Bancroft Mitchell, a friend of Sanborn, associated with him in a brewery deal.

Mitchell is a son of former United States Attorney General William D. Mitchell. Aside from these actions little of the investigation came to light and it appeared that detectives were proceeding with great secrecy in their work.

Lloyd W. Bryan, assistant U. S. attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania, said pamphlets have been circulated among the miners asserting that officers of the United Mine Workers and President Roosevelt were "betraying" the workers' case.

Bryan declared the circulars bear the name of the National Miners' Union, which he said, has been decreed by the courts to be a communistic organization, affiliated with the trade union unity league.

Scattered mines re-opened, but throughout the southwestern Pennsylvania field many collieries remained closed.

The H. C. Frick Coke company postponed re-opening of workings at the request of Governor Pinchot who said he feared trouble if work resumed today.

SHORTER HOURS IS UNDER BAN

Washington, Aug. 7 (A.P.)—The official N. R. A. attitude is that shorter business hours conflict with the president's blanket code.

A. D. Whiteside, deputy administrator, has wired the Indiana Retail Grocers association urging it to "give serious consideration to the fact that in several local communities retailers are making joint agreements to shorten store hours."

"This is not in keeping," he stated, "with either the spirit or the act as expressed in the president's re-employment agreement or in the president's statements regarding re-employment of which the essence is to effect an increase both in reemployment and in wages to those employed.

"The proposal to shorten store hours is in violation of section 8 of the president's re-employment agreement. Reconsideration of the provision of the retail codes and possible withdrawal of insignia will be necessary immediately if community or concerted action to shorten store operating hours is taken."

foot out of water to grab off the delicacies.

As for local matters Senator McNary was asked to comment on the possibility of Salem's getting a loan from the public works administration for the establishment of a municipal water system, particularly since it is now proposed to seek the loan to establish a system in competition with the plant of the Oregon-Washington Water Service corporation.

Relative to that controversial matter Senator McNary declined to comment. But he did say this:

"The government looks carefully into every project for which a loan is asked. If any project indicates that there is going to be a duplication of service of course the government looks into it very carefully.

"Any project that brings a loan must be practicable, and it must be self-liquidating. The administration is not in the business of building monuments just to give jobs to a few men."

Neither Salem nor any community need worry about priority of application, Senator McNary believes.

"It is not so much a question of priority as it is a question of practicability," he said. "Secretary Ickes told me that he believed applications were received for 10 unworthy projects to every one that is really practicable and worthy. And of course the unworthy ones are rejected. There will be plenty of money to go round for all the worthy enterprises, no doubt about that."

During the recess of congress Senator McNary expects to knock about over the state a bit, visiting projects here and there, but he says he will spend as much time as possible at the farm. As a starter he will spend the first two or three weeks there.

Senator McNary says that his position as minority leader in the senate has added tremendously to his work at Washington. But, at that he looks fit as can be—less worn than after some previous sessions of the congress. He was accompanied home by Mrs. McNary, and various relatives and friends called during the day.

Portland, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Senator Charles L. McNary and Mrs. McNary arrived here today enroute from Washington to Salem.

The senator was highly optimistic over the general business situation, the recovery act, and the prospects for the construction of the Bonneville dam

"I have an abiding faith in the statement of President Roosevelt that he will cause to be constructed a dam in the Columbia river, at a site to be recommended by the chief of the army engineers," McNary said.

"The site will probably be near Bonneville, the dam to be used for development of electric power, flood control, prevention of erosion, and, above all, in promotion of deep water navigation of the Columbia river.

He said the approval might be expected in a few weeks but that the magnitude of the project would prevent start of actual construction for several months.

"Our country is on the upgrade," he said in speaking of general business conditions. "Industries of every kind are feeling the impulse of better times. The program of President Roosevelt supported by the congress has inspired confidence and courage, and doubt has given way to doing."

"For the present," he said, "politics is in a state of coma. Every few days a good citizen believes President Roosevelt should have a fair and full opportunity to administer the laws and exercise the authority which congress gave unto him. During the last session of the congress I cooperated with the president in the preparation and achievement of his program, as I believe in putting public welfare before any other consideration. To oppose the president now in a purely partisan spirit would be rocking the boat at a particularly unfortunate time."

ANOTHER DIES IN MEDFORD FEUD

Medford, Ore., Aug. 7 (A.P.)—Charles W. Davis, 52, was being held in the county jail on an open charge here today and Joseph Baron Johnson, 62, was dead as the result of a new chapter in Medfords political situation.

Frank Perl, county coroner, said Sunday that Johnson had died Saturday night as the result of a fractured skull, sustained when his head struck the pavement as he fell from what police said Davis admitted was a blow from his fist.

Davis, police said, came to the police station after a street fight Saturday night in front of a Medford hotel, and announced that he had been in a fight. He was informed that Johnson had died as the result of his fall. Sunday, Davis admitted striking Johnson twice, the officers reported.

Davis was to have been sentenced tomorrow by Circuit Court Judge George F. Skipworth for complicity in the ballot theft conspiracy here, having pleaded guilty to the charge and having taken the stand as a state witness. The altercation grew out of an argument regarding the ballot theft, police said they were told by witnesses.

Johnson, survived by a wife and three children here, was an employe of the telephone company while Davis is an appointee of County Judge Earl H. Fehl, having received his appointment as foreman of the county machine shops, January 1.

County Judge Fehl was scheduled to be sentenced today in the Klamath Circuit court for complicity in the ballot theft case. He was convicted Friday. Tom C. Brecheen of Ashland pleaded guilty in the Klamath court late Saturday to a complicity charge, and he, too, was to be sentenced today.

Circuit Judge G. F. Skipworth of Lane county, who presided in Medford over several trials growing out of the theft and destruction of 10,000 ballots case in the November election, planned to sentence Fehl and Brecheen, then come to Medford to pass sentence of Schermerhorn. From Medford he will go to Eugene to sentence Llewellyn A. Banks, former publisher and orchardist ,who was convicted of second degree murder for the slaying of a constable who attempted to serve him with a warrant on the ballot theft case.

Insurance adjusters and steamboat inspectors were enroute from Vancouver to determine the full extent of the damage.

ARIZONA VOTES ON DRY REPEAL

Phoenix, Ariz., Aug. 7 (U.P.)—Arizona voters tomorrow will ballot on prohibition repeal and nominate a democrat to succeed Lewis Douglas who vacated the state's lone congressional seat when he became director of the federal budget.

The nation's youngest state which recently celebrated its 21st birthday probably will become the 21st state in the union to ratify repeal of the 18th amendment because of the absence of dry convention delegates on the ballot. Prohibition forces who were unsuccessful in obtaining enough signers to place their candidates on the ballot have attacked the constitutionality of the election by a lawsuit.

The election will be unique in that most officials have volunteered their services gratis.

Mrs. Isabella Greenway, national democratic committeewoman and personal friend of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, is one of three candidates seeking the democratic congressional nomination The victor is assured of election at the general election.

Washington, Aug. 7 (U.P.)—The government moved to disarm the underworld today, negotiating an agreement with the Thompson Machine Gun company to prevent sales of machine guns to other than governmental units.

The action was announced by Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general.

The move was the first in the new government drive against crime, and was announced a few hours after Assistant Secretary of State Moley opened his office in the justice department, from whence he plans to study crime conditions.

Keenan, who heads the department's anti-racketeering unit said that a similar machine gun sale agreement was under consideration by the Colt company. The two companies are the major American manufacturers of such equipment.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS TO VOTE ON BUSES

A few school districts of the county will vote in the near future upon the question of providing mass transportation for high school students, it was stated at the office of the local school today. Upon the results of these election which are being called for the purpose of accepting or rejecting additional tax levies to defray the cost of transportation, will depend to a large extent the number of rural students who will return to the Salem schools September 18 when the fall term gets under way.

The county as a whole rejected bus transportation last spring, but this action does not prevent separate districts from voting a ax. The McClean Transportation company which has handled the bulk of rural students attending Salem schools has been active in recent weeks in stirring up interest among the voters.
