

HAROLD CLARK OF WALDO HILLS GORED BY BULL

Silverton—Harold Clark of the Waldo Hills community owes his life to the clear-headed action of his two brothers.

Late Friday afternoon Harold's father told him to lead a Jersey bull from a corral into the barn. The animal had never shown signs of viciousness and the boy took hold of the ring in its nose which seemed to anger the bull, and he attacked the boy, knocking him down and goring him from the back, stamping on him, injuring him critically, breaking a number of ribs and, it is feared, inflicting fatal injuries.

The two brothers, who were outside the corral, saw their brother's predicament and one jumped astride the bull's back, threw his arms around its head, blinding it, and as he backed away from his victim, the other brothers pulled the unconscious boy through the gate. Neither one of the brothers was hurt. The injured boy is reported recovering.

At first it had been thought to get help from the federal public works bureau, but a recent talk with the state agent for the corporation made it plain such an enterprise is not being encouraged at present.

The mayor thinks the water mains are about ready for the discard. They have been in for 20 years. It is taking the wood pipe to be left for has been suggested that instead of irrigation. The municipal lighting proposition is about to be shelved for something which government agents look upon with more favor.

SECOND FIRE IS DISASTROUS TO ROY J. PHILLIPS

Mehama—The store owned by Roy J. Phillips was completely destroyed about 10 o'clock Friday night by fire, the cause of which is not known.

John Moe, leaving his home to go to the Silver Falls Logging camp, saw a reddish cloud of smoke. He immediately ran to the scene but the building was already ablaze. Others were there at once but it was impossible to save anything except the gas pumps and some oil. Sparks flew westward bringing the rest of the town into danger but residents poured water on their roofs, preventing other buildings from burning.

Few people were present at first to do anything, as so many were out of town, including the Phillips family. Two truck loads of C.C.C. men and many people from Stayton came but were too late to save anything, but they helped prevent a blaze anywhere else. This is Mr. Phillips' second loss by fire, the first being the dance hall which burned early last Sunday morning. The cause of that fire was also unknown.

In addition, several student-teachers have fulfilled the reading circle requirements under plan 2 by submitting credit earned to their respective county superintendents, and should the recent movement toward increasing teacher requirements in Oregon be put into effect, those attending summer school will find themselves at a decided advantage.
