A bitterly contested divorce case started before Judge Lewelling today, the case being that of Max Engstrom against Anna Engstrom. From pleadings and a sheet of affidavits filed, one of the principal points of contention seems to be the custody of a minor child which each party is seeking. The case nearly came to a continuance when the court was ready to start and it developed that under an order that the plaintiff pay $25 suit money and $25 attorney's fees, that only the suit money had been paid. The plaintiff said the other was not available right now. It was finally decided to go ahead and take testimony as witnesses were present and the court had made a special trip to hear the case. Each party is claiming cruel and inhuman treatment against the other.

Formerly each exhibitor has taken his or her own exhibits to the fair. This year he will assign places in various towns to which exhibits may be taken and he will collect them and see that they are entered. This will avoid necessity of exhibitors of their parents making trips to the fair and also avoid confusion in making the entries. He states he will send out a letter soon to prospective exhibitors advising the places where exhibits may be left for collection in the various communities.

He shared hitting honors with Johnny Oravec, who also connected safely three times, two of them being doubles. ## WILSON RIVER BLAZE REVIVES

Forest Grove, Ore., Aug. 21 (AP)—Blown into new life by a strong easterly wind, a forest fire which last week swept through timber holdings in the Wilson river district, was being battled by a crew of 600 men today.

Rains and heavy fog on the coast checked the fire materially Thursday and Friday, and forestry officials said it was definitely under control. Late yesterday, however, a strong wind blew up and fanned a tangent of the Wilson river fire into new fury. The flames turned north from Reelwood and entered Scroggins valley, burning in Bloodgett company timber holdings.

The Gales creek fire in the same general area was definitely controlled and most of the mill-hands in that district were back at work today, although a small force of civilian conservation camp members continued to patrol the lines. Several hundred C.C.C. men are on the Wilson river fire lines.

RAPID PROGRESS ON SANTIAM ROAD

J. F. Bewley, road patrolman in the Detroit district who was in the city today, stated that the contractors on the graveling of the first 10 miles of the North Santiam highway have been putting a four inch cushion of rock on the grade of the highway and is now rolling it. The road is in splendid condition for travel on that section. On the contract for grading the next section of the highway he states he understands the grading will be finished early in September.

Bewley says that on the narrow roads into Detroit where two-foot cuts were made of jutting corners this year traffic accidents on the narrow highway have been reduced to a minimum and as far as he has heard there have been no accidents on that roadway this summer as now and then a bent or broken fence. He says the same is true on the Breitenbush road and that the cutbacks made in corners in his opinion principally responsible for the improved condition.

JUNIOR CLUB TOPEKA BOUND

Pocatello, Idaho, Aug. 21 (AP)—A jubilant group of Oregon American Legion Junior baseball players from Woodburn—every one with a fighting heart as large as a watermelon—were preparing today for their trip to Topeka, Kan., where they will play for the western inter-sectional championship Aug. 25-27.

Champions of Oregon, the Woodburn boys scored two runs in the ninth inning of the northwest titular game against the Pocatello American Legion nine Saturday to tie the count, and in a spectacular exhibition of baseball went on to score another tally in the 15th frame to win 4 to 3 and capture the Pacific northwest title. In the semi-finals they had won from Walla Walla, 8 to 2.

Pete Bevans, Woodburn hurler, took a large share of the credit by pitching the entire game and fanning 23 Pocatello batters while Battleson hit a terrific drive for a home run to score a runner ahead in the ninth and then singled in the winning counter. Nicholson turned in a sensational running, one-handed catch in the 11th to end a three-inning Pocatello rally and pull Bevans out of a bad hole.

Portland, Aug. 21 (AP)—Arthur Blanchard, missing employe of the Mountain States Power company at Albany, was in Vancouver, Wash., Sunday, his wife told police today. Mrs. Blanchard said she was driving through a park when she saw a man whom she believed was her husband. When she called to him, he fled, she said.

Later, she told police, she saw the same man walking along a street, but when she got out of her car to talk to him, he disappeared in a heavily wooded field.

Police said they had received three separate reports from friends of the missing man that Blanchard, a stamp collector, had called them by telephone and tried to sell them foreign stamps. He also sent a telegram to a sister in Albany, police said, asking her where he could find Mrs. Blanchard.

Police said they believed Blanchard was suffering from some mental disorder.
