Demanding that she be awarded compensation under the state workmen's compensation act, Mrs. Edith B. Cochran, widow of the late Elmer Cochran, has filed suit in the circuit court against the state industrial accident commission. It is stated that Cochran, while in the employ of an oil company, was traveling on a motorcycle along the Pacific highway eight miles south of Salem when the cycle collided with a bread truck, causing his death. Her claim was rejected by the state commission on grounds that it could not be proved that Cochran was about his duties as an employee at the time. The accident happened November 8, 1932.

BANDIT ADMITS KILLING PAL ON GAMBLING SHIP

Long Beach, Cal., Sept. 21 (AP)—James Walsh, 32, alias Norman Lorraine, ex-convict, was arrested today and made a full confession, police said, to the killing of Buell Dawson, 25, aboard the gambling ship Johanna Smith, last night.

Police quoted Walsh as saying Dawson and he were once cellmates at Leavenworth federal penitentiary.

Through a bizarre coincidence, Walsh, for 12 hours had been believed the victim, instead of the killer, and was arrested within a few feet of a freedom that was made secure by the confusion of identities.

The two ex-convicts boarded the ship with the intention of "sticking up" the croupiers, police said Walsh confessed. They quoted him as saying he killed Dawson in a drunken quarrel "because Dawson was a yellow rat who was afraid to shoot anyone."

There was a partial plea of self-defense in the story, police said. He and Dawson discussed the holdup, Walsh was quoted as saying, and Dawson told him he would "go into it, but wouldn't stand for shooting anyone, unless maybe a cop."

"I told him I'd shoot anyone," Walsh was said to have confessed. "I said 'I'd even shoot you; you're nothing but a yellow rat anyway.'"

"With that he reached for his gun, and I shot him in the chest. He doubled over like he was in pain, and I shot him three more times to put him out of his misery."

SPENCER TRACY CUFFED BY COPS

Los Angeles, Sept. 21 (AP)—In an attempt to turn an automobile owned by Skeets Gallagher, screen actor, a man who gave his name as Spencer Tracy backed the car into the ditch, and was arrested on a charge of intoxication today.

Tracy was identified as a prominent motion picture actor by sheriff's deputies who arrested him. Deputy Sheriffs C. E. Epps and J. Berger, who arrested the man, said he was disorderly and that they had to put handcuffs on him to take him to the county jail where he was released on $30 bail.

Gallagher and his wife reclaimed the automobile at the Fairfax substation a short time later.

STAR PENNANT HOPES FADING

By Associated Press
Hollywood pennant hopes are fading rapidly before the slants and fast balls of the Los Angeles pitching force. The Stars trailed the Coast League leaders by six full games today with only six more remaining to be played this week and seven next before the season's close.

Fay Thomas, one-time University of Southern California athlete, did the job last night, limiting the movie land boys to 8 divided hits as Los Angeles won 5-3. He struck out 12 Stars during the evening. The Seraph home run king, Gene Lillard, hit his 43rd of the season in driving Dick Schultz to the showers in the eighth. Jim Ogleby, Angel first sacker, also hit for the circuit that night.

Back in April Curt Davis, ace of the 1932 San Francisco hurling staff, dropped his first six games. The bleacher coaches admitted Davis was through. Yesterday Curt stopped the Missions 5-2 for his 20th victory this year. He demonstrated he had "come back" by scattering the 8 Red bobs through 8 innings. To top off the day's work Davis clouted a four-bagger after hitting a double earlier in the game.

Rain forced postponement of the Sacramento-Portland and Oakland-Sacramento games.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 21 (AP)—Two squads of national guardsmen were ordered out this afternoon to enforce Governor W. H. Murray's latest executive military order after a group of oil field roustabouts refused to heed commands of Adjutant General Charles F. Barrett.

The troops were directed to mobilize by Barrett after workmen at the Frank Russell Petroleum company well site, near the capitol and executive mansion, refused to pay any attention to the governor's order against drilling.

A further chapter in the recent suit instituted to determine the management of the Salem Linen Mills was read into court records today when attorneys for L. C. McCleod, defendant, filed a demurrer against the action of F. G. Gilbrath, plaintiff. The demurrer sets forth that the original complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute cause of suit; that there is a defect of parties plaintiff in that the Salem Linen Mills, a corporation, mentioned in the complaint is not herein named as a party plaintiff or defendant, and that plaintiff has no legal capacity to sue.

In an order issued today in circuit court concerning the recent divorce decree of Eva Simpson against J. C. COLEMAN TELLS OF DANGERS OF COMMUNISM

Dangers and advantages of the communistic system of government as it is being operated in Russia were outlined by President Norman F. Coleman at Reed college, Portland, before members of the Salem Lions club Thursday noon. The ruthless exercise of power being experienced by a small group of men is probably the greatest danger of the Russian government as it exists today, the speaker said. Another drawback to communism, Dr. Coleman declared, was the bureaucratic inefficiency and buck passing. Nobody cares to be responsible for making a decision.

Education is being looked to as a means of placing the country upon a par with other world powers. However, no one wants to venture an opinion as to how many years this will take.

Russians are living on the barest of necessities, Dr. Coleman said, and as a result there is some grumbling going on. However, the government's system of employment and taxation places virtually all on an equal basis in the final analysis. He said that the unemployed of the United States were living better than those employed in Russia.

Everything considered the speaker said that Russia's experiment was well worth watching and while he believed the communists would have a disturbing influence upon the balance of the world, at the same time it was apt to be enlightening.

Dr. Coleman in prefacing his remarks, said that no one could give a true picture of conditions in Russia without making an extensive study. He visited Russia during a European trip during the summer.

COAST LASHED BY HEAVY GALE

Portland, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—The coast of Oregon and Washington was being lashed by a gale today and storm warnings were posted at all stations north of Cape Blanco.

The sandalwood pyre at today's service was lighted by Bishop C. W. Leadbeater, who was named by Dr. Besant a year ago to succeed her as the head of her school.

Jury Finds Against Pugh in Dog Case

A justice court jury Wednesday returned a verdict for $50 damages against D. W. Pugh for the alleged killing of a dog owned by W. M. Reid, who sued for $100. Pugh denied in court that he killed the dog. Most of the evidence against him was furnished by Henry George who said that, from a distance of four blocks, he saw Pugh with a shotgun, heard the report of a gun and the cries of a dog. Pugh replied to this by saying there is a good deal of shooting in the Morningdale district where he and Reid live.

Springfield Pays Honors To Doctor

Eugene, Sept. 21 (AP)—Business houses at Springfield were closed this afternoon in tribute to Dr. William Carlton Rebban, widely known physician, who was buried here today. He died Tuesday at his home from a heart attack.

Dr. Rebban had practiced medicine in Springfield for 22 years and was considered an authority on mental cases. He testified as an alienist for the state in the recent murder trial here of Llewellyn A. Banks of Medford.

He was an ardent sportsman and with three companions made the first row-boat trip the length of the Rogue river two years ago. He received his medical degree from Willamette university and took surgery courses in San Francisco.

Klamath Falls, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—A jury this afternoon received the case of George Wolfe, 47, accused of participation in the Bonanza bank robbery of 1931. Wolfe was convicted and sentenced to prison along with Robert Bradley and Horace Nordstrom more than a year ago.

A retrial was ordered when the supreme court found evidence of error in the first trial.

City Awaits Details Of Federal Loan for Water Plant; Many Points Vague

No further information had been received from Washington today by Salem city officials concerning approval to the extent of $1,500,000 of Salem's application for funds with which to acquire a municipal water system. In the absence of additional information the city was marking time as to procedure until official details are received. This is expected by airmail before the close of this week.

City Attorney Chris J. Kowitz expects that one of the strings attached to the approval will be a requirement that the city accept the loan within 30 days or lose it entirely. Although disappointment has been expressed by Alderman S. A. Hughes, chairman of the utilities committee of the city council, and some other persons that the entire $2,000,000 was not approved, Kowitz' attitude is that the city should, without hesitation, grasp the opportunity now offered. He thinks such an opportunity to acquire a municipal plant will never be available again. Senator Charles L. McNary will attempt to get the approval increased to $2,000,000, but apparently there is no great hope here that he will succeed in this.

Kowitz was pleased that $400,000 of the $1,500,000 was offered as an outright grant from the government, relieving the city of that amount for repayment and interest payment. A far smaller grant was expected.

MONTANA WARS ON GAS PRICE

Helena, Mont., Sept. 21 (AP)—While telegrams and telephone calls poured into the Montana executive offices today with messages of commendation on Governor Frank H. Cooney's gasoline price reduction ultimatum, the fuel distributors of the state had not as yet reacted to his decree that unless gasoline prices come down he will take official action to force them lower.

Unless gasoline prices are "very materially reduced," the governor stated, Montana will go into the refining and retail business with $100,000 set aside for that purpose by the last legislature.

"And I meant just exactly what I said," he asserted today, adding that he had not heard from any of the 16 or more companies to whom his ultimatum was directed, and that "he would give them a reasonable time in which to take action or ask for a hearing."

"Everyone has a right to a hearing and they'll be granted one if they ask for it," Cooney said. Word of encouragement in his stand, he added, had come and was still coming from every section of the state.

SEAMAN HELD FOR DAWSON MURDER

Long Beach, Cal., Sept. 21 (AP)—Norman Lorraine, 32, former Baltimore, Md., seaman, was arrested today in connection with the murder aboard the gambling ship Johanna Smith, of Buell Dawson, 25, at first identified as Lorraine.

Police said Lorraine confessed, saying he and Buell were cellmates at Leavenworth federal penitentiary and that he chose the bizarre means in an attempt to destroy his identity.

Lorraine was arrested within a few feet of freedom.

A short boat bearing him and 35 other passengers, all of whom were aboard the ship last night when the killing occurred, was nearing the Long Beach dock when officers aboard the ship discovered a revolver in the men's washroom.

PLAN TO FORCE RECOGNITION OF F.R. BY TAMMANY

New York, Sept. 21 (AP)—A revolt to force a "new deal" in Tammany hall and end its hostility to President Roosevelt threatened Boss John F. Curry's reign today. Long smouldering opposition gained headway from Tuesday's primary in which leaders in four of the five city boroughs suffered reverses.

Standing out in sharp contrast was the position of Edward J. Flynn, Bronx leader and only democratic city chieftain associated with the Roosevelt administration. There were no signs of disension in Flynn's borough.

In the other four boroughs the voters' rebuke against the organized leadership was unmistakable. John H. McCooey's Brooklyn borough, voted down his hand-picked candidate for comptroller in favor of Frank J. Priol.

John Theofil, Queens leader, fared only slightly better. Priol carried that borough and Charles S. Colden, organization candidate for borough president, won only by a slight margin.

In Richmond county, David S. Rendt suffered a crushing defeat by the nomination of Charles F. Palaster for borough president. Rendt's organization backed William S. Hart.

POWER CUT OFF BY LIGHTNING

Resulting from a bolt of lightning that struck the high power line of the Portland Electric Power company near Monitor yesterday afternoon the current was off for about 20 minutes in several communities of Marion county. Places affected were Jewettown, Mt. Angel, Woodburn, Gervais, Monitor and surrounding territory.

The bolt struck about 3:15 o'clock during a heavy downpour of rain. Before relief could be furnished the places where the current was out it was necessary for the power company to dispatch a man to open a switch east of Mt. Angel which enabled the company to cut the current in from Salem. Following this temporary arrangement repairs were made and today the lines were operating normally.

The Secret Love-Affair of a Multi-millionaire

"I Loved a Woman"

In a soft caressing voice, she explained her visit. "I have a voice, a singing voice. You have money and great power—everything that I lack to succeed, you possess. All I can offer you in return for your help is friendship. Together, we would go far."

Here is adventure! Here is romance! True, I am married, but that makes little difference. I have always felt as if my wife had tricked me. Before our marriage she was so fawn, so desirable. And now so frigid. So distant. Just a social climber.

The new strange-mannered girl who had freely offered me her friendship was more to my liking. She spoke again, "Come to my apartment this evening and hear me sing. We won't be disturbed."

I gladly accepted her invitation. At the appointed time I arrived at her apartment. Little shivers of excitement and anticipation raced up and down my spine. I shall never forget how she looked. She was dressed in a low-cut gown of soft clinging material that seemed to accentuate the loveliness and sweetness of her shoulders. She was a thousand times more lovely than she had seemed before. I at once knew that with her I was entering a renewed and glorious part of my life. (More Tomorrow.)
