

$1,000,000 IN BIDS COMING ON OCTOBER 5

Klamath county highway projects totalling more than 48 miles will be contracted by the state highway commission in Portland October 5 as a part of approximately $1,000,000 contracts to be awarded.

All construction will be paid for under the national recovery act of the federal government, the state highway commission announced. The following projects were listed:

Clatsop county—Two bridges over Humburg creek on Humburg mountain-ranger station section of the Wolf creek highway.

Grant county—Bridge over the middle fork of John Day river and four frame trestles over Granite creek on Middle Fork-forest boundary section of the Pendleton-John Day highway.

Jackson county—Little Butte creek section of Crater lake highway, three miles bituminous macadam wearing surface and 13.5 miles oil mat surface treatment.

Klamath county—Klamath Falls-forest boundary section of the Klamath Falls-Lakeview highway, 26 miles bituminous macadam wearing surface and 16.1 miles oil mat surface treatment.

Merrill-Mallin section of The Dalles-California highway, four mile bituminous macadam wearing surface, and one mile oil mat surface treatment.

Malheur county—Three bridges and six culverts on the Drinkwater pass-Chimney creek section of the central Oregon highway.

Multnomah county—Paving of Sheridan street-Portland city limits section of West Side Pacific Highway on Fourth street.

Umatilla county—Emigrant Springs-Summit section of Old Oregon trail, 6.05 miles crushed rock surfacing and 7.1 miles bituminous macadam wearing surface.

Washington county—Beaverton section of Tualatin valley highway, 8.97 miles asphaltic concrete pavement, and bridge over Tualatin river on Farmington secondary highway near Hillsboro including construction of approaches.

43 STUDENT GAIN AT WILLAMETTE U.

An increase in 43 students as compared with last year is shown by figures compiled in the office of the registrar, Willamette university, Thursday forenoon. The registrar, during the morning had reached the 456 mark. This compared with 413 during the similar period a year ago. Although there is no definite way of determining, it is expected registration will top 475 by the first of next week. The freshman class is the largest in recent years. Registration for work in the law school had exceeded the 31 mark. There has been no lowering of the standards of the school, Dean Erickson stated. Several additional students could have been enrolled but the dean felt those rejected could not meet the scholastic requirements of the institution.

With registration virtually completed, students and faculty members were rapidly settling down to the year's grind. The first issue of the Collegian, student body publication, was placed in the hands of the students following chapel Thursday noon.

Continuation of— Newspapers Protest

In regular newspapers. "It is no more proper to designate as newspapers the sheets printed and distributed by the sponsors of this code than it would be to call a piece of ordinary southern pine Georgia mahogany," Hanson said.

While the NRA was continuing its study of the more than 20 codes intended to cover various portions of the printing and newspaper industry, the American Newspaper Publishers' association held last minute conferences on the charter it will present tomorrow for daily newspapers.

Participating in today's meeting, among others, were members of the A.N.P.A. board of directors; John D. Long and Harry S. Webster, representing California publishers; William N. Hardy, Pennsylvania publishers; William H. Reed, New England Publishers' association; Cranston Williams and J. G. Stahlman, Southern Newspaper Publishers' association; C. R. Butler, Inland Daily Press association; W. F. Metten, Del-Mar-Va association; Hanson, by proxy, Pacific and Northwest Publishers' association; Eugene Meyer, owner of the Washington Post; Hopewell Rogers, for Hearst publications and William Hawkins for the Scripps-Howard group.

"We have no charges of particular consequence in our code to suggest tomorrow," Hanson told newspapermen. "We are just organizing our case."

Fire Chief's Son at Hood River Killed

Hood River, Ore., Sept. 21 (AP)—The death in a hunting accident of Edward Volstroff, 29, son of fire Chief J. F. Volstroff of Hood River, was reported in a telephone message today from the Long creek district in the John Day valley. Details of the accident were meagre but it was believed Volstroff discharged his rifle when he stumbled over a log. He was accompanied on the hunting trip by his brother, Russell, and Harold Pemberton and Rudy Salquist.

Western Japan Gets Shaking by Temblor

Kanazawa, Japan, Sept. 21 (AP)—An earthquake shook western Japan today and it was feared heavy damage resulted, although a break in communications prevented reports of only meager details.

The shock was most severe in Ishikawa and Toyama prefectures on Noto peninsula. One was known to be killed at Nanao, and two seriously hurt.

In this city on the north coast of the main island the tremors were easily perceptible for three minutes.

Hartong Transferred

Woodburn—Rev. Glenn S. Hartong, formerly pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church here and who went from Woodburn to the Woodstock church at Portland recently, has been transferred to Toledo Iowa, and left for his new field Wednesday. The pastor of the Toledo church will be sent to Woodstock, Rev. Hartong had just returned from a three weeks' visit in Amesville.

Amesville—Ernest Keith spent the week-end at home with his family. He is employed on highway work at Detroit.

Continuation of— Grills Intolerance

wald Mosley is leader of the British fascists. "About one thing I feel safe—in the long run books will win. The clumsy lout will be brought to heel. We shall have Hitler weighed accurately to his last yawp. "We shall know the truth about Goering and Goebbels and about the foul murder of Matteotti and the issues between the administration of incapacity and sabotage in Russia." (Wilhelm Goering and Dr. Joseph Goebbels are German cabinet members. Senator Matteotti, a wealthy Italian, was killed several years ago.)

CHANGE IN LOAN METHOD ASKED

A change in the making of loans and their collections by the state land board will be presented to the special session of the state legislature at Madras, C. J. Holman, state treasurer and member of the land board, he announced here today.

Holman said the plan of amortization of loans, rather than a straight interest charge would not benefit creditors and make repayment less difficult, but it would result in more return to the land board on money advanced to land owners, even through the period of payment were extended.

Holman declared that he was making a study of the subject of interest which he said was one of the great causes of present financial difficulties. The land board system of making loans will be one of the changes he will suggest.

ROUND WORLD PILOT CRASHES

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 21 (AP)—Wiley Post, around the world flyer, was severely injured when his plane, The Winnie Mae, crashed today at the Quincy airport as he was taking off for Davenport, Iowa.

Post was rushed to a hospital, where Dr. E. L. Caddick said his injuries were severe but not critical. The Winnie Mae, in which Post flew around the world in seven days, 18 hours and 50 seconds, will have to be rebuilt. Post is now on a speaking tour.

Dr. Caddick said that the flier suffered an extensive V-shaped cut on his forehead from the hair to each eyebrow. His shoulder also was injured, but apparently there were no fractures.

Post was able to crawl unassisted from the plane and to survey the damage of his first serious accident.

82ND ANNIVERSARY LODGE CELEBRATED

Woodburn—Home Rebekah lodge celebrated the 82nd anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship following the regular meeting at the I.O.O.F. hall Tuesday night. The program was in charge of Mrs. Addie Doud, Mrs. Myrtle Hall and Miss Pauline Livesay the principal feature of which was a radio broadcast over station W.B.C. The Wranglers, with Robert Jackson announcing, assisted by Robert Hall, Billy Baldwin, Ernest Livesay, sang a group of cowboy songs with Pauline Livesay at the piano. Miss Freda Hall and Miss Mary Allen gave readings and Miss Livesay gave a brief history of the founding of Odd Fellowship. The program closed with selections on a Hawaiian guitar by Miss Mabel Livesay. A feature of the program was the presentation of a wedding gift to Mrs. Pearl Hopkins, past noble grand and a recent bride.

Refreshments were served in the dining room by Mrs. Gertrude Beach, Mrs. Nora Broyles, Mrs. Bertha Brady, Mrs. Nellie Engle and Mrs. Myrtle Hall.

Ravensdale, Calif., Swept by Flames

Ravensdale (Lassen County) Cal., Sept. 21 (AP)—Fire swept through Ravensdale last night and destroyed most of the buildings in this town as volunteer fighters attempted to check it.

Buildings destroyed included the Gothard general merchandise store, an 85-year-old landmark, several dwellings adjoining it and the county garage in which considerable state highway machinery was stored. The Ravensdale hotel and a few small buildings escaped. Damage was estimated by town officials at between $50,000 and $100,000.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

BEAVERS PLAY BEARCATS AND SONS SATURDAY

Oregon State College, Corvallis, Sept. 21—Southern Oregon Normal and Willamette university will furnish the opposition for Oregon State football players in a non-conference double-header here Saturday afternoon. The first game, with Southern Oregon Normal as the opponent will start at 1:30 o'clock.

The Orangemen have been spending a great deal of their time this week on offensive drill, especially in passing. This department appears none too strong as Keith Davis, who did the losing last year, was lost by the three year rule. John Blanton, Ed McIntosh, Norman Franklin, Ed Makela, Arnold Heikinen and Russ Acheson have been showing the most promise so far and all more than likely will get a chance to throw passes Saturday.

Although Davis did most of the kicking last year, Coach Stiner apparently is not much worried about punting as he has four men who have been getting away long aprisals in practice. McIntosh, Acheson, Franklin and Ed Makela show great promise with McIntosh having a slight edge on distance and speed of kick.

Coach Stiner said his probable starting lineup for the first game Saturday on showing of players in spring practice and during the last week probably would be Woody Joslin and Vic Curtin, ends; Tar Schwackles and Harry Field, tackles; Stan McClurg and Bill Tomshack, guards; Clyde Devine, center; Hal Pangle, quarter; John Blanton and Ferre Bowman, halves, and Hal Joslin, full.

Free admission for women to the double-header has been announced by Carl Lodell, graduate manager. General admission is 75 cents and high school students 25 cents.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

28 SCOUTS GET HONOR AWARDS

During the September court of honor of Cascade area council, Boy Scouts of America, held in the courthouse last night, 28 youngsters received 33 awards. J. P. Campbell, supreme court justice, presided and gave a talk on leadership. W. L. Phillips, scout commissioner, also gave a talk. T. C. Roake acted as clerk.

Harvey Griffen of Troop 15 received a life award during last night's ceremonies. Other awards were given to:

Star awards—Alvin Richardson, 5, Earl Maynard, 15 and Harvey Finn, 5.

First class merit badges—Oliver Glenn, 3; Dudley and Ralph Wainock, 4; Harvey Finn, 5; Robert Redfern, 6; Perry Thrapp and Kirk Bell, 12; Alvin Richardson, Earl Maynard and Harvey Griffen 15; Bill Foster and Harold Duncan, 12; Frank Merrill and Tom Bibb, 10; Henry Morrison, Blair Warner Homer and Victor Greening 21.

First class badge—Jack Pollock, 4; Billy Benton, 5; Henry Morrison, 21.

Second class merit badges—Clyde Buckholtz, 21; Jack Pollock, 4; Robert Brown, 12; Billy Benton, 5.

Second class badge—Daryl Colwell, 12; Robert Prange, 6; Harrell Kanzier, 12; Wilson Maynard, 15.

CLEARING SKIES FOR ROUND-UP

Pendleton, Sept. 21 (AP)—Clearing skies after a night of dreaching rain greeted visitors to the opening of the 1933 Pendleton Round-up today.

Early indications were for a better crowd than for several years past. Today veterans from the Walla Walla hospital, inmates of the state hospital here and Pendleton school children were featured guests of the Round-up.

Contestants for the Sam Jackson trophy included Bob Crosby, permanent winner of the Roosevelt trophy. Jake McClure, Norman Cowan, Clay Carr, Ike Rude and Everett Bowman.

Two thousand Indians, headed by Pook, and their tents pitched in the Indian village by the Umatilla river.

Threats Sent

The red gang of Harvey J. Bailey, on trial at Oklahoma City in the Urshel case, and Wilbur Underhill, the "Iri-state terror," were named by Landon as instigators of the kidnap plot in which the intended victims were either 16-year old Peggy Ann, pretty high school student, or 13-months old Nance Lee.

Bailey and Underhill were the leaders of the ill-fated Memorial day break of 11 convicts from the Kansas penitentiary. Subsequently, they were accused in the massacre of four officers and an outlaw at the Union station plaza at Kansas City.

The information about the Landon threat came from an Oklahoma peace officer, the governor said, and the strategy was to hold one of the members of his family until six inmates at the Lansing prison were granted secret 10-day paroles.

Authorities speculated as to whether such liberation of convicts was to reinforce the gang which Kelly in a letter to Urshel swore would destroy the oil man's family and mansion with "machine guns, bombs and airplanes at their disposal."

Attorney General Cummings at Washington announced today preliminary examination of thumbprints affixed to the letter signed by Kelly to Urshel were genuine.

"You are living on borrowed time now," Kelly told Urshel. "I am spending your money to have you and your family killed—nice—eh?"

Letters from Kelly threatening the families of U. S. Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan, directing the war against racketeers, and U. S. District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde, vigorous prosecutor of the accused Urshel kidnapers, have been received. Guards were thrown around the two prosecutors as well as U. S. District Judge Edgar S. Vaughn, presiding at the Urshel trial. Hyde said he thought Kelly was in Oklahoma.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Regional Ministers Guest Burke Home

Dallas—Officers of the Portland regional ministers' meeting of the Christian churches met Monday at the home of Rev. K. E. Burke to arrange the fall and winter schedule of meetings. Officers present were Rev. Guy L. Drill, president; Rev. Hugh McCallum, secretary, and Rev. Burke, vice-president. Joe Turner of McMinnville also met with the committee.

RURAL SCHOOLS RESUME STUDIES

Solo—Rural schools in the neighborhood of Solo when opened Monday, include the following, with the names of teachers. All are for 8 1/2 months except Bergen Hollow, which is announced as 8 1/2 months.

Arnold, Helen Kihls; Bergen Hollow, Anna B. Dolezal; Cole, Freda Elder; DeVaney, Blanche Albright; Lyons, Louis A. High, Grace Ellingsen; Mt. Pleasant, Myrtle Young; Mt. Prospect, Irene Quimby; Munkers, Norma Wells; Richardson Gap, Gertrude Tarr; Shelburn, Dorris Cochran.

Franklin Butte school opened September 11 for 8 1/2 months, with Lauretta Holt as teacher. Riverview will open next Monday with Edna Geer, former county superintendent, as teacher. Duration of the term had not been announced a few days ago. Oakview also will open September 25, with R. H. McDonald as teacher. This is to be for 8 1/2 months. Mr. McDonald taught the Riverview school for 13 years, and declined further employment there. The Solo schools will open September 25.

H. S. Beal, who taught two years in the Solo high school, is one of five teachers in Stayton high, which opened September 18, with conditional contracts in several cases. The school year is to be nine months with these exceptions, which also may be for the full year, depending on finances and enrollment. H. E. Tobie, principal of the Solo high school some years ago, is retained at Stayton, having been employed there for a number of years. There are five teachers in the high school and five in the grades. Salaries are said to have been greatly reduced.

TO CLOSE EASTERN OREGON 3C CAMPS

All CCC camps in eastern Oregon will be closed this winter because of cold weather, State Forester Lynn Cronmiller said today. The closure was ordered by the federal administration.

Some of the men re-enlisting will be transferred to western Oregon, Cronmiller said. Others will be sent to California or other warmer states for the winter.

The state will receive 10 winter camps on state and private lands in addition to eight existing camps. Cronmiller said. There were 65 camps operating in Oregon during the summer, with population of about 13,000. It is expected about 10,000 boys will be stationed at 50 camps during the coming winter.

PHILHARMONIC TO START REHEARSALS

The first rehearsal of musicians who will perform in three concerts during the 1933-34 Philharmonic orchestra season will take place at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening. Jacques Gerszkovitch who conducted the symphony last season will again direct the organization.

The junior orchestra which was started last year as a feeder project for the main group, will hold its rehearsals the afternoon preceding the practice sessions of the senior musicians, thus enabling Mr. Gerszkovitch to be present at both performances.

Interest in the Philharmonic orchestra is said to be unusually high this fall and it is expected several experienced musicians will be added to the group.

Members of the board of directors will meet Friday evening of this week at which time the financial campaign will be inaugurated. To make the season a success, $1500 must be raised in subscription. The plan adopted last year whereby persons who give $3 or more are entitled to admission to all concerts will again be placed in operation. Last year $1200 was the amount raised. The board will start fall operations with a clean slate, all obligations having been met.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Regional Ministers Guest Burke Home

Dallas—Officers of the Portland regional ministers' meeting of the Christian churches met Monday at the home of Rev. K. E. Burke to arrange the fall and winter schedule of meetings. Officers present were Rev. Guy L. Drill, president; Rev. Hugh McCallum, secretary, and Rev. Burke, vice-president. Joe Turner of McMinnville also met with the committee.

RURAL SCHOOLS RESUME STUDIES

Solo—Rural schools in the neighborhood of Solo when opened Monday, include the following, with the names of teachers. All are for 8 1/2 months except Bergen Hollow, which is announced as 8 1/2 months.

Arnold, Helen Kihls; Bergen Hollow, Anna B. Dolezal; Cole, Freda Elder; DeVaney, Blanche Albright; Lyons, Louis A. High, Grace Ellingsen; Mt. Pleasant, Myrtle Young; Mt. Prospect, Irene Quimby; Munkers, Norma Wells; Richardson Gap, Gertrude Tarr; Shelburn, Dorris Cochran.

Franklin Butte school opened September 11 for 8 1/2 months, with Lauretta Holt as teacher. Riverview will open next Monday with Edna Geer, former county superintendent, as teacher. Duration of the term had not been announced a few days ago. Oakview also will open September 25, with R. H. McDonald as teacher. This is to be for 8 1/2 months. Mr. McDonald taught the Riverview school for 13 years, and declined further employment there. The Solo schools will open September 25.

H. S. Beal, who taught two years in the Solo high school, is one of five teachers in Stayton high, which opened September 18, with conditional contracts in several cases. The school year is to be nine months with these exceptions, which also may be for the full year, depending on finances and enrollment. H. E. Tobie, principal of the Solo high school some years ago, is retained at Stayton, having been employed there for a number of years. There are five teachers in the high school and five in the grades. Salaries are said to have been greatly reduced.

TO CLOSE EASTERN OREGON 3C CAMPS

All CCC camps in eastern Oregon will be closed this winter because of cold weather, State Forester Lynn Cronmiller said today. The closure was ordered by the federal administration.

Some of the men re-enlisting will be transferred to western Oregon, Cronmiller said. Others will be sent to California or other warmer states for the winter.

The state will receive 10 winter camps on state and private lands in addition to eight existing camps. Cronmiller said. There were 65 camps operating in Oregon during the summer, with population of about 13,000. It is expected about 10,000 boys will be stationed at 50 camps during the coming winter.

PHILHARMONIC TO START REHEARSALS

The first rehearsal of musicians who will perform in three concerts during the 1933-34 Philharmonic orchestra season will take place at the Y. M. C. A. next Tuesday evening. Jacques Gerszkovitch who conducted the symphony last season will again direct the organization.

The junior orchestra which was started last year as a feeder project for the main group, will hold its rehearsals the afternoon preceding the practice sessions of the senior musicians, thus enabling Mr. Gerszkovitch to be present at both performances.

Interest in the Philharmonic orchestra is said to be unusually high this fall and it is expected several experienced musicians will be added to the group.

Members of the board of directors will meet Friday evening of this week at which time the financial campaign will be inaugurated. To make the season a success, $1500 must be raised in subscription. The plan adopted last year whereby persons who give $3 or more are entitled to admission to all concerts will again be placed in operation. Last year $1200 was the amount raised. The board will start fall operations with a clean slate, all obligations having been met.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet recognition, therefore, has waited. Preliminary conversations have not yet been held between the president and either Boris Shrivinsky, the unofficial "Soviet ambassador" in Washington, or Peter A. Bogdanov, head of Amtorg, the Russian official trading corporation in America and financial representative of the Kremlin in New York.

Both of these officials, however, have been in frequent conference with Jesse Jones, chairman of the reconstruction finance corporation, in reference to federal government loans and trade credit extensions to the Soviet government. Members of the "brain trust" and subordinate government bureaus dealing directly with the questions of American-Soviet trade expansion also have conferred with the Russian representatives.

Reports on all of these conversations have gone to the White House and into the president's personal portfolio.

EVANGELIST TO HOLD MEETINGS

A. Ted Goodwin, the Hiways and Hedges evangelist, will begin a weeks series of meetings at the Court St. Church of Christ next Tuesday evening at 7:30 p. m., and each night until Sunday October.

Mr. Goodwin came to the Salem church, then known as the Bungalow Christian Church with Ralph Putnam as pastor. He was then a student in college at Eugene. He held four meetings in two years, '21 and '22, at the Bungalow. Associated with him at the time as leader of song was Hugh N. McCallum, the present pastor of the Court Street church.

The music will be in the hands of Pastor McCallum during the series of meetings. Along with the special solos and quartets the Silver String orchestra of the church under Mrs. Prescilla Meisinger will give numbers.

Rally and Promotion Day will be observed on Sunday at the Church when the program of the morning will be carried out by the children. Mrs. Bessie Rust has been directing the program for Rally Day.

THREE KILLED IN ALASKAN CRASH

Anchorage, Alaska, Sept. 21 (AP)—Crashing from a height of about 200 feet over the airport at Livengood, a small mining camp, Pilot G. E. (Ed) Young, noted Alaskan flier and two of his passengers were dead today, in Alaska's first commercial passenger air fatalities.

Young, who was divisional engineer of the Pacific Alaska Airways, apparently was caught in a bad air current, witnesses said.

The other victims were Eric Nelson and Aldwyn D. Roberts.

The plane was bound for Livengood from Fairbanks, and the crash occurred about noon yesterday.

Young, who was about 40 and had served in the American air force in France, had probably flown more hours than any other Alaskan flier. His widow, who is visiting in Seattle, and three small children survive.

Continuation of— Recognize Russia

rehabilitation has forced him to consider only the most imperatively pressing matters of foreign concern. The problem of Soviet